
GRABOVOI GRIGORI PETROVICH

INSTRUMENTATION OF ETERNAL LIFE

METHODS OF USING THE DEVICE DEVELOPING
CONCENTRATIONS BY GRIGORI GRABOVOI
PRK-1U THREE-MODE

Volume 1

GRIGORII GRABOVOI
PR KONSALTING TECHNOLOGIES OF ETERNAL DEVELOPMENT

2020

GRABOVOI GRIGORI PETROVICH

INSTRUMENTATION OF ETERNAL LIFE
METHODS OF USING THE DEVICE DEVELOPING
CONCENTRATIONS BY GRIGORI GRABOVOI
PRK-1U THREE-MODE

Volume 1

A collection of webinars, video lectures, and reports created by Grigori Grabovoi

March 30, 2016, October 17, 2016

October 28, 2016, December 24, 2016

March 2, 2017, December 20, 2017

January 27, 2018, February 10, 2018

August 24, 2018, October 7, 2018

February 28, 2020, March 19, 2020

2020

Grabovoi G.P.

Instrumentation of eternal life. Methods of using the device developing concentrations by Grigori Grabovoi PRK-1U three-mode. Volume 1.
– Serbia: Grigorii Grabovoi PR KONSALTING TECHNOLOGIES OF ETERNAL DEVELOPMENT., 2020. – 163 C.

The text of this work was first created by Grigori Petrovich Grabovoi during webinars on March 30, 2016,

October 17, 2016, October 28, 2016, December 24, 2016, and March 2, 2017; video lectures on December 20, 2017, January 27, 2018, and February 10, 2018; and reports on August 24, 2018, October 7, 2018, February 28, 2020, and March 19, 2020.

The method of eternal development with precise forecasting of future events was used in the creation of each webinar, video lecture, and report. One hundred percent confirmation of Grabovoi's predictions is demonstrated by the protocols and testimonies published in the three-volume work " The Practice of Control. The Way of Salvation."

When creating the text for the webinar, video lecture, and report, Grabovoi G.P. first obtained an accurate forecast of future events and then created a text teaching eternal development, taking into account specific future events affecting each individual and the entire world.

All rights reserved.

No part of the book may be reproduced in any form without the prior written consent of copyright owner.

GRIGORI GRABOVOI®
GRABOVOI®

© Грабовой Г.П., 2016-2020

The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God.
Instrumentation of eternal life. Methods of use of the device of development of concentrations of Grigori Grabovoi PRK-1U.

March 30, 2016

Hello. The theme of today's webinar is my “Teachings about God. Instrumentation of eternal life. Methods of use of the device of development of concentrations of Grigori Grabovoi PRK-1U”.

In this topic, I will consider first and foremost the instrumentation in terms of organization of eternal processes. When God the Creator of the entire world considered the iteration that man creates equipment, He, naturally, considered the principles of instrumentation for eternal life. And certain aftereffect is incorporated in this technology i.e., after the creation of man and the entire world.

When the Creator worked to create devices in the future time, naturally, He considered all the subtleties of instrumentation taking into account the future time. Therefore, the logical conclusion follows that the instrumentation of eternal life should take into account the availability of features of the future time in the device functions. And these functions, they can be distributed as the action of the future time into any current event, since any current event with a high instantaneous speed passes into the future, into the next event.

It is important to note that these devices must operate by functions eternal time. For example, the number of times of use of device PRK-1U is not limited: each time the next control increases and the next level of abilities develops. And this element of such unrestricted use is instantaneous transition from the current to the future time. Considering this principle of instantaneousness, we can find another source of energy for such devices, for such equipment.

If you think how an event in the world shifts into the future in terms of the law of conservation of energy, it is possible to imagine that the energy is modulated for the next event, for the next moment of events by Consciousness of God, for example. Similarly, in these devices of eternal development of eternal life, some element of participation of Consciousness of the living should be present in the work of the device. Then we can be confident that if conventional energy sources, such as power supply, will not work, nevertheless the device ensuring eternal life will complete its function, that is, it will complete the control in each case of control.

Thus, an important function of instrumentation of eternal life is the use of multiple power sources and source selection according to the situation. For example, in the absence of power supply from several sources, the device can find the energy from the previous optical impulse. At the same time, of course, the fact that the power supply before was normal will matter, but nevertheless, the device always brings the control to the level of realization of eternal life for all. And the practice of applying, for example, device PRK-1U indicates that these functions are activated regularly when the need arises.

An important characteristic of such devices is the systematic action of the device. According to the current practice of using PRK-1U, in each case we received proofs of functionality during the testing, that is, it shows that the device is adapted to human Consciousness. And when God the Creator of the world laid such a reality that instrumentation is developing, of course, He laid the functions of the devices that ensure exactly eternal life, moreover these are the functions that interact not only with Consciousness of God, but with Consciousness of people and with the form of reaction similar to Consciousness. And in this regard, the functions of these devices have to implement such a thing as the controllability of the device through controlling clairvoyance, through human consciousness. That is, this is exactly the adaptation of the device to Consciousness that makes it possible to implement complete control over the device what creates the safety of this type of equipment.

And when God created that reality that the device implements some actions which have a reflection in reality in the form of the consequences of work of the devices, He naturally provided that these effects realize eternal life to all. Therefore, the instrumentation of eternal life has an incorporated function of the control over the following events, which are associated with the device in terms of ensuring eternal life.

It is important to note in this case a certain order of such a two-level realization of the action of the device: the first level acts directly at the target of control, and the second level is the control of the realization exactly in the direction of eternal life. And this direction makes it possible to determine, in the action of the device, a certain level corresponding to the matter of eternal life. Here, as soon as this matter, this field construction interacts with the structure of the device, the device at the level of material systems, at the level of field systems, becomes the system of order, that is, the same system as other systems in eternal life.

Man, any living creatures have a certain contacability with the structure of eternal life. In someone, these structures are highly open, then the person is the one living forever; someone is just starting to develop them, it is necessary to help him in this case. The device while working with this matter of eternal life actually makes it visualized.

Man through spiritual action, through the action of Consciousness begins to see the contact with this matter, which is generated in the device. According to the practice of use of device PRK-1U various sensations appear at the level of perception: the future systems of events. The fact that the future events occur, and it is possible to normalize them at the same time is natural, because the matter of eternal life contains the structure of the future.

And it turns out that a person who sees it, is opening his own, which have already been in him, which have been previously in him, capabilities to realize the matter of eternal life, but with the device he is doing it faster. And when the mechanism of such contact is known, the man will be able not to forget it, because the concentrations of eternal life are eternal. And, accordingly, he can use, even starting from the first concentrations, this system of eternal life in some of his particular affairs aimed exactly at eternal development, at eternal life. From the point of view of logic namely of eternal life, eternal development, if we consider such a thing as a rejuvenation, for God, for example, He, in order to show the dynamics of time that He, i.e. God created, He is able, for example, to rejuvenate Himself, then again increase the age and rejuvenate, that is, to do periodic movements. And then a certain periodicity of the action occurs for the matter of eternal life.

Therefore, the functions of such devices of eternal life, of eternal development include a certain periodicity, related to the necessity to rejuvenate the organism. For example, if we look at the matter of eternal life (and many who practice the use of device PRK-1U see this matter) the age boundary in this matter is not clearly defined, because the matter is infinite. Accordingly, when a person sees this information and begins to work with it, he has turned in him the mechanisms of indeterminate some static eternal age level, that is, the chosen age, for example. Therefore, according to the practice of use of device PRK-1U, for example, which includes more than a hundred applications, there are evidences that the rejuvenation impulse lasts then permanently, with all the characteristic features, such as the signs that correspond to rejuvenation based on skin, on the internal state of the organism and so on. And based on the events as well.

This is due to the fact, that exactly in common conceptual understanding, the structure of the body of undying person must meet certain properties of matter of eternity, so it turns out that this action is preserved permanently in some of the control goals, which was determined with the help of the device. In terms of the functionality of the device as a means of assistance in the development of concentrations, it is possible to consider such an option, that is, exactly the option of explanation of this functionality. For example, God who created the world enabled the world and all living to develop freely, and therefore, to build some artificial systems of development, instrumental systems of development.

The same way this device, for example, PRK-1U increases the capabilities of concentration, capabilities of control in the common creative sense and direction. And in the primary sense of creation of man, such a device is the most natural equipment, the most adapted to humans and generally to living technical devices, since it develops natural capabilities that are available already in humans, for example. And in this regard, the functions of device PRK-1U, for example, include both the function of the concentration on eternal life for rejuvenation and the function of concentration of eternal life for any event, for controlling clairvoyance, and for controlling forecasting. This is a natural, given from birth to every human being, level of realization in the external and internal world, and the development of such capabilities realizes more each personality.

It is important to note that the functions of the device for development of the concentrations of eternal life for controlling forecasting includes such a predictive characteristic that people eventually will be able to learn to do everything the same what they can do with the help of the device. Here it is necessary to take into account that each person needs certain time to learn to do it himself, for example, without using the device. So at present there is a certain defined period when the use of the device can be the most active. And in this case it is necessary to take into account that after this period will have been passed, the device will still continue to develop concentrations the same way, because these are exactly the functions of the device, that actually develop the concentrations from the existing current level of development of such capabilities. So it turns out that even with adequate development of such capabilities, it will be possible to continue to use the device further. All depends on the current tasks and if a help is required in specific situations.

Thus, in this case, we can see another property of instrumentation of eternal life, that the equipment, when it is applied next time, at any time will be triggered again. And now it is possible, on the basis of the above, and summarizing this situation, to determine the methods of application of the device of development of concentrations PRK-1U.

The first method is based on the fact that any equipment should operate eternally exactly in the instrumentation of eternal life. Therefore, when you work according to the functions of the device, such as the development of concentrations of eternal life for any event, it is necessary to provide a control, referring to the fact that in the future you will be able either to use the device directly, or when it is not present physically near you, it will be possible just to remember it at that moment, (at that moment when you were working with it) and re-enable the operation of the device.

The current model of device PRK-1U is designed according to individual data, but the one who works with the device, can work on the tasks of others. Therefore, it is possible to show the second method of use in the structure of control in line with the device, where it is possible, at the moment of control, directly on the part of the people who work individually with the device, for whom the device is configured, to connect the work of others, and at the same time to work independently. That is, it is possible to work either alone or at the same time: the person who works with this device and others so to speak with him.

The practice shows that both the direct use of the device, that is, when the device is near, and the remote use, for example, via Skype, is the same. Therefore, when the device, for example, is configured for eight people, it is possible to turn the device on and display the image on Skype, and eight people will be able to work simultaneously. At the same time, each one will be able to work individually, that is, at any desired time for him.

Thus, we can add on the third method of the device application, that when the control with the device is undertaken, when there is a collective work, and moreover each one can have his own goals as well as the overall goals, it possible to apply such a law of development of the Collective Consciousness, when the experience, knowledge and positive results of other people can be used as a positive experience, and an amplification of the effectiveness of concentrations and control.

Thus, we can consider, for example, the fourth method of use of the device of concentrations development, where, taking into account the possibility of both a remote, and direct use of the device, to identify such a function in the device, as the development of cognition through the generation of namely the matter and modulation of the matter of eternal life. That is to try, for example, using the development of concentrations of eternal life for controlling clairvoyance and for controlling forecasting, due to the fact that the device generates this matter of eternal life, the field of eternal life, try to solve some of the most urgent tasks with the help of this range, this field eternal life.

In the practice of use of device PRK-1U numerous information flows appear, that is, some following new information systems may appear, which enable person to understand deeper what is happening on some specific issues, and due to this to take a better decisions in the control. In the instrumentation of eternal life, the contactability with the matter of eternal life may condition a certain, quite specific level and algorithm for solving many of the situations from the point of view of the eternal life.

And the fifth method of the device application is that, given that the device enables to strengthen different abilities and develop them, and namely, the abilities to provide eternal life, then, in this method, it is possible to use a variety of structures of simultaneous control, such as the development of the concentration of eternal life for controlling clairvoyance and simultaneously for controlling forecasting. And at that it is possible to visualize the two levels of informational controlling flow, quickly compare them, and to get the most effective elements; practically, due to this, the efficiency of the control than can be enhanced significantly.

The task of fast or ultra-fast increase of efficiency and quality of the control, and sometimes of instant mastering of the huge volumes of information from the point of view of future events is also one of the tasks that you should master in the realization of eternal life, because, in eternal life, such situations can certainly occur when it is necessary to get instantly a lot of new knowledge and to resolve effectively the situations to ensure eternal life. Well, that is, from this point of view it is possible by any means to apply the device in this sense through different control configurations, and, given that device PRK-1U works so, that it realizes concentrations according to my Teachings.

There is a USB flash card enclosed to the device with the training program based on my Teachings. This flash card includes text, audio and video materials in different languages; this list of both translations and materials is constantly updated. For those who buy the device we provide the access to the library of the Educational center for getting the new materials. This is the provision of the intellectual property, which includes both the program of training with the access to the library and the development according to the individual data, manufacturing and supply of device PRK-1U. Under a sublicense agreement, it is granted for four years, and after expiry of the period, after four years, still remains with the user, the sub-licensee for further use.

These concentrations, which are given and will be given in the materials of the Teachings, when you work with them through device PRK-1U, you correspondingly get the increase of these concentrations and their development. Therefore, it is possible, as a rule, to master the training course and it is usually mastered in this case much faster. At the same time, it makes it possible to carry out creative concentrations for any other of your goals and controls of creative type. Thus, the device of development of concentrations PRK-1U realizes your specific tasks to ensure eternal life and, therefore, meets all the requirements of the instrumentation of eternal life.

This concludes today's webinar. Thank you all for participating in the webinar. I want to thank everyone who participated and participates in the use and tests of device PRK-1U. We have already received systemic results of application and it is important, of course, to increase this trend, increasing the number of users of this type of equipment. Well, those who applied the device know how to work, saw the efficiency, can of course also represent my interests on the sale of these devices, this type of devices, well, that is, to communicate with authorized dealers, for example in the regions, clarify the characteristics of the devices. And, accordingly, as it is just one of the devices of this class, it is advisable to inquire and accordingly receive characteristics, and if possible to apply the following devices, the development and production of which I have also planned. Again thank you very much and successful joyful eternal life to all.

The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God.
The method of simultaneous control of events and usage of technical devices.

October 17, 2016

Good afternoon!

The topic of today's webinar is my "Teachings about God. The method of simultaneous control of events and usage of technical devices".

In the Topic of the webinar, I will use the principle, based on which simultaneousness for God is that, when you look at the control of God from the outside, then you can see the simultaneousness manifested in everything in one and the same moment of time. Thus, when considering the methods of control, it is possible to use the principle of a peculiar identity of actions, which is that when you do some action, God can do it simultaneously with you and in all other places. And we can, based on this, practically simultaneously act together with God if we have the controlling goal, and learn simultaneousness of actions.

God is the Creator of the entire world, who carried out control and created the control itself and the following action, this way made a decision about His future presence and action that He can participate in the form of direct action and in the form of action through the level of recreated process of creation in the world.

Thus if to consider such a simple example that when you drive, for example, a usual vehicle, it is possible, in this control, to consider the following, that is, you make some decisions, carry out control based on the logic of thinking, on the situation on the road, that is you undertake some actions, and simultaneously you drive the technical means. So when you control simultaneously the technical device, due to controlling clairvoyance and controlling forecasting, it is possible to consider both on the whole the micro-structure of the vehicle to avoid having micro cracks, it is possible to consider the macro level and simultaneously all technical systems of the vehicles, and at the same time forecast their technical state.

That is, it turns out, taking some, logical, from the point of view of thinking, controlling tasks and at the same time realizing a certain logic of thinking, you, simultaneously, with the developed controlling clairvoyance and controlling forecasting even when you control usual technical equipment can realize the method of simultaneous control of an event from the point of view of thinking and in mechanistic sense the control of exactly the technical device, where the physical principle is combined, that is, you drive the car, for example, and switch over the speed, press the gas and so on, and at the same time you view in a certain way the car, for example, just for combination of external control and the control that is realized due to the thought. That is, many people many times did at usual technical devices such principle of simultaneousness, implemented it.

When such devices which react to your thinking are added, and accelerate the development of concentrations in eternal life, currently I am speaking about device PRK-1U, and in the future I will realize similar devices, here you also add external control through the technical device, and in this case a special area of simultaneous control is added.

So the first method of simultaneous control of events and technical devices is the principle of simultaneous presence of your thinking in the logic of control of the technical devices, and the thought is present from the point of view of its additional function such as the function of added controlling clairvoyance in that environment, where there are some units of this technical device, for example, of the vehicle.

And this first method transfers through the comparable level to the second method of simultaneous control of events and technical devices. In this case, the second method is related to the use of the device of development of concentration of eternal life PRK-1U, and the structure of consequential control is added in this case. That is, while applying the technical device as it is described functionally in this device, and applying the consequential part, that is, the developed, for example, controlling clairvoyance or controlling forecasting, you should, from the level of thinking, draw two rays of control at once.

That is, technologically it looks as follows. You look at the sphere of your thinking in front of you (pay attention, the work takes place here at the first level of access to control through the structure of your thinking, because the logic of control is realized more), and a certain sphere, for example diameter form 10 to 50 cm, which is directly in front of you, and which denotes that thought, through which you simultaneously control both the events, and the technical devices, in method 2, you develop in such a way that one ray is going to the sphere which controls the events, and the second ray, through the technical device, through PRK-1U, also goes to the event, which you need in realization, but through this intermediate system of control, the technical one.

That is, in case of application of PRK-1U in difference from, for example, driving a car, that is any technical device, which implements other functional tasks, and not development of concentrations of eternal life, then, in the second method, it is important that the ray going through PRK-1U is timely as if drawn to the first ray, which goes directly from the sphere of the thought to the controlled event.

And in this sense it is important, the same way as you look with your right and left eye, in the same, for example, process of driving a car, in any other process when you contact or deal with some equipment, it is necessary to pay attention here that there is a certain method of diagnostics of technical devices, any ones, based on what you perceive to physical sight, for example, or if not physical vision, what you perceive to that area that refers to physical eye-sight.

And then the rays going from one and the same sector of the technical device, for example, from a certain point, but going to your left and right eye, they, during movement, due to optical irradiation of these rays, they have a certain optical reflection between them. And at the moment of this optical reflection it is important these small light line segments between the two rays, going as I said to the right and left eye, it is necessary to try to see them and catch with your Consciousness. And here we are able to find the speed, exactly of “elongation” in inverted commas of a peculiar ray, going through the technical device PRK-1U, which is indeed not just a technical device but is a certain amplifier of control, the level of development of concentrations of eternal life, which additionally intensifies exactly the concentrations and develops them.

And having taken this accelerator due to the reflection between the two rays, that is the fragment of light, moving it to the end of the second ray, which is coming from the technical device PRK-1U and moves towards the control of events, you actually receive simultaneousness of the action of personal control and of control intensified with the help of the technical device.

And in this second method, which still differs from method one, where it suffices, from your thought, to realize just one ray towards the control of events, when exactly the control of the technical device, for example of a car, takes place usually due to the fact that you can drive car. And in the second method, to ensure that simultaneousness of actions by all the initial impulses of your personality was realized, it is just necessary to carry out this additional intensification in some cases.

In the main number of cases it takes place in fact simultaneously, but for systemic control with the help of equipment of such type as PRK-1U, sometimes a specific amplification is required. And why do we need this? In order to ensure that the impulses coming from you, to ensure eternal life, always, irrespective of the type of equipment you use, were always your personal controlling systems.

Since the known factor of the fact that any technical device just develops the control, accordingly eventually you should learn to do it independently, though it may take much time, but nevertheless the task of control is to develop your consciousness so that you can do it independently.

And here it is necessary to implement a certain rule from God, since we may say, for example, the same way as in the laws of physics, when there are accurate gradations of realization of physical values, of their logical or formal connection, when it is possible with the help of formulas to calculate in a certain way a process for the future, it is clear that for technical devices such as a vehicle, airplane, any other technical devices, where there is a certain speed, where there are certain functional capacities, you can clearly determine, for example, the duration of stay in the technical device, the duration of the flight, for example, by the airplane. Then the factor of a random value, which can be as a result of some external action or defects of the equipment, this factor gets into a small number of some event constructions.

And if the defect of the technical device is internal, this is one area, but if the defect is external, as if of the external level due to some external value, then this is another factor. That is, you can the same way, when you view any technical device, divide your perception into two areas: the technical state of some car and some external factors, which can be an obstacle, from the natural environment, for example.

And when they prevent, for example, the achievement of the goal by some machine from the side of external factors, a certain structure of infinite level of external world is turned on here. And then you are able to transfer the infinite area inside the technical device, for example, of the airplane, and this area starts glowing from inside, and a certain sphere is formed, (in such a way I, for example, diagnosed airplanes by some means) and, in this sphere, on its border, all possible situations are actually concentrated, because you overlaid all events, which take place inside the technical system upon the events, which can exist outside, for example, a lightning getting on the plane, the events which are conditioned by some as if less predictable by logical way situations, or generally that cannot be predicted by logical way.

And here appears such a peculiar rule that from the point of view of God, when He simultaneously was creating all the events at a certain level, including self-creation, the rule of the unity of all events in the initial impulse, can be spread in order to accelerate the development of concentration due to the technical devices in such a way to ensure that the concentrations were, at all levels, such that would ensure exactly your systemic goal of control.

And what is, for example, in more general understanding, the consistency of the goal? - if to ask such a question. Here it is possible to see clearly that the consistency is in the guaranteed ensuring eternal life to all with a certain level of training, and it is necessary to bring this level to everyone this way or another, either quickly or consistently, or for long time. And, depending on who and at what speed will be trained, he will faster achieve accordingly, this man, that level when he ensures eternal life for himself and simultaneously realizes it for all, in terms of ensuring to all.

Here it is important to approach at systemic level in such a way that when you do the control, you should try to spread the knowledge actually for all, then it turns out that even a single controlling action, that has given the desired result is very important in terms of developing the systemic level of control, when the control ensuring eternal life is always realized.

And therefore this peculiar level of commonality of all controlling impulses, when each of them acts in the direction of eternal life, in direction of ensuring eternal life, we can consider in such a way that when God sends us some events, which begin to realize in front of us, to unpack, open, then it is possible, after all, to see also kind of paradoxical construction of the world that God, from the future, forms these events and sends them to us. If to imagine that the world is arranged in such a way for God that each of His elements is being organized by Him at this moment of time, at this moment, actually it is equivalent for God how to organize events: from the past, that is based on some experience of the past, or from the future.

And having considered such a picture of the world it is possible to see such a peculiar process that He also sends the events from the future, but He forms them somewhere in the very remote future. Logically, at the human level, it is possible to assume that God can form the events of the future in some fragment of the past, then transfer it to the future and send towards, for example, any person, but for God a certain law is also being realized, based on which He constructed reality, having created the law Himself. There is a certain law of optimality of actions. What's the sense, of doing two actions, for example, to organize in the past, that, of course, is possible for God, then transfer to the future, and so on? It is easier for Him to construct the events of the future and send towards a certain person.

That is, it is possible to imagine a construction at the level of some everyday logical action in the following way. Two trains are moving towards each other along different ways: one is on the left, another is on the right. If to see that for God, that one, which is on the right side, is the train from the future, and so they meet at some point A, for example, and from the train from the future He starts transferring some events to the train, which is moving on the left side, that is from the past. And so they meet in the current time.

So if to split this current time into fragments or sub-fragments of current time, and divide the current time into positions of the projection from the past, and projection from the future, then in fact the current time itself starts dispersing and an uninterrupted powerful axis of events appears, which, with a small correction in the future, gives a very stable result, that everything is favorable in the future. So this principle, this approach to control, which I have just described, can be used in order to understand that any technical device that accelerates, intensifies, develops control, develops concentrations of eternal life, this technical device, when you understand it in the current time, gives significantly more controlling resources.

Therefore, there is also the third method of simultaneous control of events and technical devices. In the third method, when there is a simultaneous control with device PRK-1U, it is necessary to try to understand, how, at the current moment, exactly the technical device works. Taking into account that this technical device reacts to your thinking, reacts to development of your Consciousness, development of spiritual abilities, a more complicated task appears, and it, naturally, is implementable in control, that it is necessary to monitor to what extent the technical device develops your concentration, while at the same time you should understand how it develops.

Thus, those of you, who work with the device of development of concentrations, will be provided with special methods of control that increase the resource of PRK-1U. And at the same time, when some modifications are available, these modifications further can be mastered very quickly. Because the task, as a matter of fact, of any modifications is to ensure that they work initially anyway, but with a certain training it is possible to configure the device to a more powerful control, that is to increase the resource of the device, and simultaneously in addition to this, to give knowledge, that will additionally increase the resource even more.

Because any task of control with a technical device that develops concentrations of eternal life is that man is always higher as well as the events of a particular person, and the technical devices are always is what just helps, moreover to all. The development of concentrations of eternal life takes place with a simultaneous improvement of event constructions in terms of ensuring eternal life to all. Therefore, based on this, it is possible to say quite obviously that, when you increase your knowledge in control of various technical devices then, accordingly, you can increase many times the efficiency of control of these technical devices.

And, for example, now, in the modified version, of the device of development of concentrations PRK-1U, in terms of ensuring eternal life, one more button is added that intensifies and accelerates the concentrations, that sometimes rather significantly intensifies the concentrations of eternal life, accordingly it accelerates exactly the ensuring eternal life, (this direction) from the point of view of all and personally of that one who practices. And the numbers are added near the lenses where it will be possible to use number series.

This construction is significantly more complex, it requires a certain training to work with it, because just the usage of number series without regard of the internal structure of the work of the device will not realize the full resource of the device, which, in these systems, should always be used maximally, and moreover should be complemented not only due to modifications, but also due to your education and cognition of the world in term of realization of these devices. For example, when God created the World, naturally, He created a certain educational construction, which can develop all up to the level of eternal life. This is obvious from the point of view of logic, both divine and human, generally of all living.

And when we add technical devices, which fulfil the same task, it is necessary to understand the principle of a certain comparability of actions starts being realized in them, that is, these actions are sometimes comparable with what man is doing in terms of control. And in order to understand what is going on in such type of devices (in this case, we have one this device already modified PRK-1U), it is possible to see that the optic reflection inside the lenses, intensified by electromagnetic components, starts, according to the brightness of glowing, approaching exactly that controlling glowing that ensures eternal life, what man carries out by control.

And when we consider, for example, such construction of ensuring eternal life as usage of manifested places of eternity in natural conditions, among some mountains, stones, world of vegetation, where there are really strengthened sites of a certain field of eternity, elements of matter of eternity, and then we will see that the matter of eternity is generated by device PRK-1U, then it will be possible to see the general tendency that the direction in realization of eternal life takes place in such a way that we are able to divide based on the types, or even based on certain classes, some comparable structures of reality, which on the whole, mutually help to realize eternal life and to ensure it in any circumstances.

So based on this, taking into account exactly what I have said, that there is a uniformity of glowing in optical understanding, it is possible to add the fourth method, which is ensured by a peculiar mutual interchanging, for example, of method 3 and method 4 simultaneously. That is, these methods 3 and 4 (of simultaneous control of events and technical devices), can actually be perceived as one method. But it is possible to divide them in the process of control. So if method 3 is correlated with the action through the technical device, method 4 is such that it is necessary as if to help the technical device to achieve the goal of control more correctly. This assistance is peculiar; it is in fact is not connected with the function of the technical device, where we have certain capacities of control. In this case we speak about PRK-1U.

But we increase these capacities very significantly sometimes. For example, if to consider my patent “Method of prevention of catastrophes and the device for its realization”, it is visible there that there is a possibility of directing a bio-signal. It is described in the patent. When a man sends a bio-signal, for example, in the form of his thought, the capacity of the device is increased many times and sometimes even incomparably at the logical level, for example, million times, based on a specific goal of control, because it is possible, for example, to reduce the magnitude of an earthquake.

Then it turns out, if to use method 4 where you as if help the device and correct it slightly in the process of work in terms of following its controlling impulse and set a certain speed for it additionally, the resources of the device in fact may be as if unlimitedly increased in terms of realization of your task, I mean an unlimitedness in one action.

After all, when God created the World, when He was just creating it, naturally, He had to lay somewhere such a construction of control, when there were unlimited possibilities. Only this way it is possible to get something locally even from the point of view of the entire World. Well imagine, the construction of the entire world is such, that when a man was born he first, may be not at once, asks a question, why the world structure is like this. But with the first such question, any person can have, or even any living creature, immediately the necessity of the answer occurs, how generally the World appeared, what it rests on, from the point of view of logic of events and control. That is, what is it possible to expect from some following action?

And in order to ensure in terms of eternal development that the action is acceptable for eternal development, to ensure that the created world that God created and simultaneously provided with resources in terms of providing for any event, remained the same as it was initially at the moment of its creation by God (and we act so as to go this way as God does), it is necessary these unlimited resources to see exactly in everything. Naturally, first of all, in those systems, which are appointed to realize eternal life to all, and, in those alive creatures, objects, technical devices reproduced due to intellectual activities of people and other living creatures. Thus, we can quite definitely say that if method 4 is an amplification, due to your will, some correction, direction of action of PRK-1U, where you follow the impulse going from, with the use of PRK-1U, and you as if intensify it.

There is also method 5, where you actually create some certain cells, areas inside the device with unlimited resource of control. And then you can use this unlimited resource, if necessary, can use sometimes to ensure that the amplification of control has occurred not only due to the standard laid in capacity of the device, not only due to the usual resource that is always available due to the fact that the technical device develops the matter of eternal life, but also unlimitedly increases the resource. And the location of these areas is generally of principal importance for the first level of location, for the second, for example, for the third one. And further it is done in a certain worked out your own regime of control.

Therefore, when you, for the first time, locate some spheres with infinite resource between the lenses of PRK-1U, you should be attentive here in the first level of control: where these lenses are located. You should try to remember better their location, and further you can return to them through the mental view, for example, due to controlling clairvoyance or by means of direct access from the Soul.

To do this it is necessary, having looked exactly at the device from outside, try to imagine or as if to look at the scheme at the space between the lenses, generally between any optical systems inside the device. Further it is necessary to build the first sphere in the inside unite of the device near the big lens, generally at any place, but as a rule as close as possible to that lens that should be closer to you, to your physical body.

And it turns out, this lens mainly gets on the border, this area gets on the border of the big optical lens. And when you build a peculiar lens due to Consciousness, as if an additional one, and let's call its area the "lens", the area that is called in inverted commas the "lens", constructed due to your Consciousness, and here you can this area, constructed by your Consciousness, increase or reduce very quickly, in an unlimited way. That is, increased unlimitedly, and quickly decreased. And to do this it suffices, for example, a controlling impulse from the area of the Soul, it is even possible to set this task due to Consciousness. And when you get the control in such a way that you start seeing the glowing more and more at the moment of such controlling actions, it means that you do it quite efficiently. That is the task is the increase of the glow of this area, that is of this peculiar lens of Consciousness, the additional one.

And when you further work with the device having certain lenses, constructed by your Consciousness, you can always mentally apply to these lenses, which you have built, for amplification of control, connect to them even with a certain ray coming from your physical body, and then a significant increase of control of development of concentrations of eternal life occurs. And why is it necessary exactly to increase the infinity first in this lens? Because when God created the World, He, naturally, raised the question to ensure that it was infinite.

But from the point of view of God, for example, if to ask a question, why He, for example, didn't do some concretely limited volume, why

He needed the unlimited world, there is logic just of the physical level of such process as the existing world. This world should be based on something, and any finite element should be also based on something. That is God had in fact, from the point of view of the physical picture of the world, which is now manifested in such physical reality as dense matter, for example, another type of matter, concealed matter, then exactly the process of support, the process of the next level of location and development of this world, therefore, it is clear that from the point of view exactly of this physical world, it is clear that it is infinite.

And a question arises, how generally light develops there, in the infinity, for example? That is, it is possible to assume that infinity is in the fact that behind the visible world the rays somehow bend, return back, and as if a closed system appears. But this closed system, as I have said, should be based on something and be supported by something. And so the next status of infinity appears, that is the infinity from God, where physical laws are formed, where there is a certain manifestation of this or another physical reality.

Why, for example, in the examination of the physical World, such thing may appear that some laws cannot be studied at once, especially in the remote systems of reality, in remote cosmic spaces, when they are studied, for example, with the Earth telescopes. Because the farther they are, the more unpredictable is the way of formation of reality, the laws may be varied. And such systems as PRK-1U, in this case specifically PRK-1U, should also work on the controllability of this process in infinite development.

That is, to ensure that the World develops eternally, consistently and steady, of course, it is better, to certain remote structures, to send technical robots, which would fulfil the work and then with the complete set of data return back, and man would study without being subjected to risk. One issue is to develop Consciousness to such extent as to ensure that controllability was infinite in terms of ensuring eternal life of physical matter of a specific person. But at the same time it is useful, for transitional period, to develop the technical devices so that they realized a certain process of cognition without risk for any person, for any living creature.

Therefore, when you control with the use of technical devices, on the whole, for the concept of development of equipment, it is necessary to lay exactly the structure of ensuring eternal life in the remote systems as well as with usage of those technical devices that do not damage anything.

So if to set such a task, then having considered the principle of how God acted, having created a tremendous world with huge amount of connections, and in this case people and other living creatures live in favorable conditions, it is clear that such principle is available.

And so when you work with PRK-1U, it is possible to see that when you start pressing that lens, which is as if swung by you to infinity, from the infinite area to the local area, and then to a point, and create, grow, then accordingly you can, very clearly, actually see in certain interval of time that, this lens, that you built due to Consciousness reflects both the infinite level of life and those things that should be realized locally. That is, inside the lens (exactly to ensure this infinite eternal way of life), it is possible to see what concrete events should be there.

That is, you start building, also visible, that you see, event picture as if observing the event from aside. And then it turns out that exactly the technical device, which also works without presence, in this case, of your volitional action, that is, permanently grows and develops the concentrations. These optical re-reflections additionally start amplifying what you see. That is, you see, for example, the events of the future day, of the next hundred of years, or exactly what you want: may be millions of years, may be several days plus millions of years at once and so on, that is, it is necessary to choose temporal constructions of control.

And further, having chosen these temporal constructions, you may view concrete events, and here you, with a kind of backlight, due to the re-radiation between the lenses, can choose, improve, illuminate those events that you need. And just due to the illumination they start being implemented very quickly as a rule. That is, for example, God created the world, He..., or when, for example, He was creating the world, in this case it is possible to see that the illuminated events have been implemented. That part that was not illuminated, might be implemented either later, from the point of view of the current time, or maybe, it was not about the events of another type.

And then it is possible to see that, when God was creating the entire world, from the point of view of technical devices, which have been reproduced now by man, it is possible to see a certain construction, that, in these technical devices, should be laid also a structure of a peculiar completed development in terms of how the world generally is arranged. That is, the device has been created, it is clear that any device as any object of reality has a certain value, which is called the way of reaction of the object to the external world. And when the external world is infinite, any object has a vector that reacts to this infinity. But when you work with such a device as PRK-1U, the task which is to develop the concentrations exactly of eternal life, it is clear that this vector of reaction of this device is deliberately created in such a way to ensure actually realization of the control so as to take into account all the external construction of the events, that is, this device has already the laid in structure of work with all the external reality.

And, among certain structural interconnections in this reality, it is possible to see that when you see the control in terms of your goals, then by directing the ray, going through the device, towards the events that are being constructed, directing to infinity it is possible to find peculiar corridors of infinity which, returning to you are already in the version which insures, that is, yes, they ensure eternal life in any constructions.

It is more convenient to work with the device in this case, because the device is a concrete construction, which consists of a concrete set of technical elements. That is a peculiar filter of stability of control: the returned ray again gets into the device (which passed some infinite number of structures through the infinite number of structures through the entire infinite structure of the world and somehow has chosen a certain corridor) that makes it possible for it to further develop the concentrations of eternal life, because the device develops concentration of eternal life from the initial level. That is, in development further, even for long time, the device anyway will even more develop concentrations, and then the task to work, for example without the device, will be to work in such a way, that Consciousness would replace the functions of the device, and, may be, rather long time will be required for this, but anyway this task should be set and should be achieved.

And when we consider how the local device, interacting with the infinite world, sends a reverse impulse to itself, which should as if self-ensure it in terms of development of concentrations of eternal life, we come to the fact that in all structures of reality, including man-made devices, there is a certain vector, going from infinity, but which brings information of a certain self-recreation of this device in some conditions.

After all, when God created the world, He introduced His own practice into the way of reaction of any object, and then it turns out this is not a similar version, in term of man is similar to God, but this is a version of a similar way of reaction, that is, a certain element that is comparable with the action of Consciousness, but within limited functions, that is, a functional reaction. That is, quite naturally, the device will never replace man in any circumstances, but it may help significantly to increase the resources of man in a more profound understanding of its functions, since this device interacts actively with man. If, for example, to use a car being aware only of a part of its functions is one thing, and if to use being aware of all the functions then it might be significantly more efficient. The same is in this case.

When you use device PRK-1U, you are sure to take into account in essence, that factor, that the ray going back from the infinity (moreover it goes, as I said, from that point of view that all the external reality is a certain support for the next level of existence of the device), and this ray brings the functions of a certain self-recreation. Then, while constructing the second sphere after that first sphere, about which I told, the sphere of Consciousness, between the optic systems of the device, that is between the inside unite and the external lenses, inside this area, it is possible to lay, into this sphere, the functions of self-recreation, in fact of exactly the technical device, then it will be very clear for you at the level of the Soul, and further you can transfer to Consciousness if required, but first it becomes clear at the level of the Soul. And this feeling of this clarity is a certain criterion that you act correctly.

Here you can see that, when considering the structures of self-organization, self-recreation of the device at a certain level, it is just possible to see the atomic level, and this level is identical to any object, any object of reality. There is a universal principle of self-recreation of any object at micro-level of reality. And so when you pass over to the level of instrumental technology from this level, then if, for example, to see self-recreation of the elements of a stone at atomic level, it is clear that there are also some restricted forms of the stone and of its location in space. But the stone is in the infinite space, the support point is infinity, support area is the infinity of the world, that is, for the technical device such as PRK-1U, this is at the same time a controllable area of information, since the task of the device is to develop exactly your concentration up to the level required to ensure eternal life to all.

And it is clear that it is ensured to you simultaneously, and at the same time you observe how it takes place, then it turns out that the priority of your control is that you can see all this at the level of conscious perception. And when you consider, that is in difference, for example, from the self-recreation of all the elements of the stone, the device has a regulating remote function, which is directed to achieve this in eternal time, when, for example, for the stone, this is just its position in its eternal world.

That is, from the point of view of a set of functions, this is one of the functional systems that is available in the device. But the device adds a special structure kind of structural functional action of the device itself, directed to ensuring eternity, and then it turns out that it may capture the control with a higher priority and it is a more progressive machine then, for example, some version of a machine, which does not have these functions.

So, to ensure that the machines of the future were so that they assist and also ensure eternal life to all, the functions, which are available in the device of development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U should, this or another way, be laid actually in any technical device of the future, where there is interaction with thinking of man, and any other creature that uses the device for control. Because imagine, if, for example, dogs are able to watch TV and sometimes with great relish watch what is going on at the screen, then, for example, if you even show them the smartphone with the lenses, it is clear that there will be an eye contact, and then it turns out that the dog will have a certain level of interaction, that is, a certain level of concentration of eternal life will develop. That is to say, the device as a machine, naturally acts upon any living creature, the difference is only that man can incomparably increase the resource due to his intellectual abilities.

And nevertheless if to show the dog, with the help of a pointer, the concrete lenses or figures, the dog can, and not only the dog, for example some pets, they may accordingly react to this and then in a more conscious way to perceive the signals from this device. Since the task of eternal life is for all living creatures, therefore, if we start using these systems so that other living creatures used these technical systems, it is necessary to develop this structure of control as well.

So, when we can develop it for all, in such a way as to show the screen of the smartphone with the lenses of PRK-1U to dogs, cats and other animals and living creatures, and at the same time watch how they start developing towards ensuring their personal eternal life, it is important here to be able to observe such a process that ensuring eternal life to all living creatures is the process that is mutually acceptable and mutually enriches each living creature with technologies.

And if to work with dogs, (and in the modified version it is possible to use concentrations on numbers near the lenses), then accordingly it will be possible to observe what is changed in the pets. That is, how the behavior of the dog is changed in this case, if to use PRK-1U: for example, showing directly just for several seconds the screen of the smartphone, where the lenses are, and to try to work through telepathy and so on, through control of thinking, through direct control of the Soul, for example.

Then it is possible by gaining experience of interaction, for example, also, for example, with plants, improve growth, for example there, and so on, it is possible to see how the resources of the external world, (you work with), start improving with the technical device. And then there is a certain task to be able to systematize this knowledge to provide improvement of ensuring eternal life to you and all.

And as soon as you start practicing this way, in a more extended way, the following moment occurs in the control, it is the same that existed at the moment of creation of the world: God, having considered on the whole the control and the tasks of control, naturally, set a task of receipt of external information that He implemented in such a way to ensure that this information was like His own experience. Though it is clear that God as if does not need experience, because He anyway knows everything and can create anything. But He cannot get away from that fact that a whole wave of information with accumulated experience anyway is returning to Him, another question is that for Him this is a primary structure, which He laid initially. But God can consider this experience just as an individual considers experience, and He can master it the same way, and then improve it. And in this sense He approaches man and starts, in cooperation with him, to ensure eternal life, implementing some constructions, some versions of development.

And when you consider this experience, received from interaction with the external world with application of technical devices, in this case such as PRK-1U, (for example, observing the dog after it was trained, and then carrying out analysis of the situation and using this experience for you and all), then it turns out that you are able in a similar way to include exactly PRK-1U in the objects of observation.

That is, if you have it physically or you looked through the monitor, that is equivalent, that is you can carry out online permanent observation, and make mentally its mirror reflection, and at the same time you received a certain impulse from this your device to that thing that you installed in the form of mental construction, it turns out that the device should react to its own reflection. And then, as a way of reaction, and of course this does not relate to the structure of such consciousness as of a dog, though a dog can have a very developed element of consciousness in certain structures of development and life, and generally of any other living creature. But, in the device, this is something comparable with consciousness as a way of reaction to external object.

Then it turns out that the device, due to this, can increase the functions of self-development. Thus it is possible to place one more sphere between the lenses, where, from one side, you mentally place the image, coming from the device, in fact as if you copy its picture, the external unit of the three lenses, and you place the mirror reflection on the other side. And start examining how it, the device, in fact as if, we may say so, teaches itself. And based on this it will be possible to consider such a process, that you are able to increase the resource of the device due to just some level of a certain self-learning.

And when you start controlling this process from the outside then accordingly it will be more understandable to you how, first, the device works because then you will see as if double, and it turns out that the function of control is increased twofold. That is, you can see how the distribution of impulses occurs not only locally, in a linear kind of action, but simultaneously you can see how a certain interaction of impulses takes place, which in fact are realized so that you are able to see how the technical device, which develops the concentrations of eternal life, can simultaneously develop its own functions.

After all, if to think over the principle of work of this device, one of the principles is that the concentration of eternal life is developed in some another, for example, person, that is man, but at the same time the functions of the device should have laid that in fact the matter of eternal life, which is generated by the device, should take into account, at a certain close human level, that, the first supporting point for the action of the device is, for example, in a certain way developed to a certain level, developed Consciousness.

That is the device should first fix the initial level. Then, the next action is adding some glow to the element of Consciousness, directed to eternal life and ensuring eternal life in any structures. That is, as if from the point of view of the goal and logic the task is simple: as a certain light house that is laid integrally in the device and all the time develops just in this direction, as if more sets the concrete, having a specific goal, system of actions. Nevertheless, inside the solution of this task there are certain, even may be of human level tasks or sub-task, which are described as the logic of action of the device at a certain software level.

And here it turns out that viewing the interaction in such a way, you can see how the device locates the next point to which the light of Consciousness should be increased. And the same way as I spoke about method 2, where it is necessary as if to hold out to the level of simultaneousness of any events near the special purpose event, which is being realized, the special purpose event, that is the simultaneousness of action: both the direct one, and the one through the technical device.

Here it is necessary to consider such a moment that the special purpose action is in fact such, that we, from the point of view of simultaneousness, see what is in that lens that you build in fact, that part of this peculiar lens of Consciousness, where you project the device and where you project the reflection, all the processes should be equal and simultaneous. And this principle of equality simplifies the work, the device thus very quickly locates the following points, the next structure, where it should develop Consciousness to.

That is, on the whole, it turns out that the algorithms that are built in the control, from the point of view of the logic of interaction of segments of light, in calculation, for example, physical-mathematical version, they are of course very complex constructions. But from the point of view of the logic of the world structure, where the simultaneousness of any action should be, here everything is logically concrete enough and exactly clear.

And it turns out that if we want the complex area of the structures of control, where there are many, for example, functions of calculation order, we want to improve the structure due to our observation, that in fact just to see and add a control, moreover by adding your own function, we can act the following way. For example, in order to calculate the device of such type, that is for calculation of internal reflections it is necessary to use, for example, four-time integral, it is necessary to use very complicated constructions, which are connected with the calculated level of assessment of the images of the area, assessment of concrete data and usage of exact features of data based on names and surnames, and so on. And at the same time if we consider the complicated constructions, which lead to concrete levels connected to the concrete device, further, as if resting upon a certain calculation value, it is possible to increase the resources by the increased action, that is also included in the structure of the initial intention and initial functionality of the device, this is the action of man himself.

And then it turns out that, based on this, we are able quite obviously to see that whatever complexity of the construction could be, (since in the conditions of eternal development it might happen so that there is a very complex constructive system is in front of you, external one), you should be able to assess it and correctly consider the structure of interaction with it. And the device PRK-1U exactly in a certain way gives the experience and practice of application of machines, which also have a complicated order of the following action, since they include forecast controlling systems.

And when you start interacting this way, exactly with PRK-1U, you can build actually the next level of the peculiar lens of Consciousness, that is, it is possible to build several of them, may be in the second wave: you have built the first one, and start the second one. The second one should not necessarily repeat the first one, they may be different by content. And you start constructing such a structure that whatever complex the equipment could be, you can always see it due to controlling clairvoyance, see its functional action. At the moment of design, when the equipment is being created, there are also certain prognostic systems, which are directed to guaranteed ensuring eternal future.

And when you, for example, build the control in such a way that you start acting considering various factors, including eternity of the external world, you will be able, completely all controlling systems, including for example the logic of your own control of some third events, the logic of control through technical devices, to join all this into one common area and take the projection of the entire external world to this area. And then you will be able to see that any technical device, even due to the controlling clairvoyance, can always be seen even from the point of view of atomic level, and hence functional level.

Then it turns out that in fact there are no any super-complex systems, because just due to the controlling clairvoyance it is possible to study any system, nothing to say that in the development of controlling forecasting, that is one of the tasks of my Teachings, that it is also necessary naturally to develop the controlling forecasting to the required level, then generally the forecast of development of any technical system is clear. And then it turns out that, when you meet any super-complex equipment, should you just look into the future at least one second ahead, or some moment ahead, or millisecond, micro-second, and then it will be possible to assess quite clearly what the device is, and how it can impact on you and generally, on something else in terms of the external world, or someone else.

And then it turns out that we will determine here a certain law, which makes it possible to decipher, in a peculiar way, the physical device and some device as well, that from the future it is always possible to view and understand at once at least by one initial impulse, a certain direct knowledge of the Soul and of the Spirit also often simultaneously, and then to transfer in a calm way for some milliseconds to Consciousness, that the functions of the machine are determined in terms of, for example, of correlation with eternal future, actually often through a small number of information vectors. The primary vector, if the vector of the movement of the machine ensuring eternal life to all coincides, it means then that the machine generally is loyal, that is, it is not dangerous, and so on. If it does not coincide somewhere, accordingly it is necessary to look for why. It is also, by the way, possible to diagnose the machine for defects, or if there will be problems in it in the future, in any equipment. But since PRK-1U functionally is exactly directed to ensure eternal life, here this development of concentration of eternal life can just be intensified.

The method, one more of the methods of amplification of this concentration of eternal life that is from method 5 is that you just look at some period ahead, from the current time to the future, and from the peculiar point, which is slightly remote from the event construction, when using the technical device PRK-1U you should quickly assess the action of the vector of PRK-1U of the control, and additionally you yourself add in front of it the function of control that you need. Then it turns out, as I gave the example with the action of God, Who gives, or forms an event for us from the future, you can as if from the future dock with the controlling action from PRK-1U. Then first, the system is always controllable. This is the common task for any technical device and we have to develop this, all who work with new equipment. And second, you intensify the structure and the exact events to ensure eternal life to you and all due to the fact that you are in a more distant area of control.

And then such a moment appears, in terms of simultaneous interaction, by you both with your own event construction and those that are intensified due to PRK-1U. First, you can simultaneously gain experience while watching how the matter of eternal life develops, and your impulse of Consciousness is being realized with the help of the technical device. And at the same time it is possible to see such a moment that when you start viewing the control going from the infinite future, the details are important in this control as well. For example, you see how the control is intensified due to the generation of the matter of eternal life, which takes place in the device PRK-1U. It is possible to determine similar sites of the matter of eternal life in nature, but for this it is necessary to examine the places, where they are, it will be intensified there as well.

But here there is a higher kind of coefficient of certain convenience in interaction. With the matter of eternal life that is generated by PRK-1U and of such type further modification or another constructive level of devices, which are being currently planned, and there are certain structures developed by me, I think that here it is possible to concentrate attention on the whole on the direction of this type of equipment, and to see that the control of events from you can also occur very accurately in terms of a certain system of a peculiar increase of the control power, exactly when it is necessary.

That is, you may start controlling independently, and you follow the line of your control in the form of a certain ray, which develops and, for example, starts pausing. You start watching if everything has been done. If not, you should turn on, well, if it is on your smartphone, on iPad, or may be on computer, the picture, you watch, and increase the control up to the required level, and again monitor from aside. And if the control is achieved, accordingly it is possible not to use PRK-1U for this concrete control. Therefore, the simultaneousness can be used for some following more concrete tasks that you have.

Of course it is possible to use the device PRK-1U unlimitedly as much as you need, but in this case I am talking about consecutive control, that is the use when it is needed. And this is related to the fact that you should have kind of saving of time of usage, because any person has his own goals, each person is doing some work, and naturally, you have to learn to use optimally the device PRK-1U, may be not for long time, without spending much time of a day for viewing the picture. Therefore, here it is possible to use exactly this task to optimize and it is possible as if to prolong your action. If, of course, you start controlling and you diagnose that you need to use PRK-1U immediately, accordingly you should use it immediately.

With some experience you will get the practice of this simultaneousness of control, when it is necessary to consider simultaneousness as a control also in some future interval of time. That is, you get as if the initial impulse that is coming from the single source of the initial goals of control and simultaneousness means docking of the technical device such as PRK-1U in the future, and it turns out that, in that interval, you control simultaneously. After all, it is necessary to look at that process that for God there is no time, and He can, for example, see any moment of time as a current one.

And therefore there exists simultaneousness of a kind of an abstract type. And we can, to avoid wasting time, just expand the future events along the axis, for example of horizontal coordinates and say that in an hour you will be looking at PRK-1U, and you may look at it now and project one hour ahead. Then this hour in the future will be free for you, and you can look just for several seconds at the picture, watching the device online. It turns out that this way you can consider some events of the day, for example, you used the picture of PRK-1U from your smartphone for five minutes, which is available around the clock, and you get free time. Or you can lay, on some important event, the control with the technical device.

Generally, in the future I am planning to ensure maximum realization of the resource of PRK-1U in the assembled form, that is to ensure that the device has the maximum resource, you will be given special methods of use that will increase the resource exactly due to your knowledge. And when you, generally speaking, work with PRK-1U, it is desirable to be able to distribute this knowledge to any technical system, for example to diagnostics of your automobile, to some diagnostic measures related to transport, with future events, because the more you practice with PRK-1U, the more you get practice of interaction with the systems of external type that might help you.

And, for example, you have to go somewhere, you need to assess the route, you can assess the route through controlling clairvoyance and forecasting if there are a lot of changes, then to see with the use of, for example, PRK-1U. And pay attention, this is the logistics of the device, which generates the matter of eternal life, where it can help you, that is in comparative features.

Therefore it is important, all the time, to solve simultaneously generally the tasks of the future of the entire mankind, of all living in terms of interaction with any equipment, because the idea of any instrumental level of such type, instrumental construction, which develops and ensures eternal life to all, has, of course, a laid in structure of kind of mutual self-development, because the more knowledge you have, the more technical devices you will be able to create, which help in the most various, may be unpredictable systems of realization of life. That is, may be it is not necessary in advance to introduce them into the prognostic part at once, or to perceive to Consciousness, but you should be prepared to the fact that Consciousness develops in such a way that the more we develop, the more some completely new tasks might appear in terms of the macro-structure of the world. And, naturally, these tasks should be understood timely, it is necessary to be able to systematize them timely.

When working with the device of development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U, it is necessary to lay more fundamental positions of realization of control, rather than merely attainment of control of some specific, let it be concrete, required goals. Still, you should set the task that since there is a possibility to use such technical device, which is at the same time a very powerful training in terms of interaction and development of the structures of interaction with the external world, it is necessary to solve this problem simultaneously.

And then you, similarly to that how God did, that is when He realized the entire reality in terms of ensuring eternal life to all, you will be able at once to review all your accumulated experience, which you receive in the structure of control in such a way, that you start differentiating this experience and simultaneously accepting at the conscious level, and if necessary to use again that very PRK-1U to increase a certain training to solve fundamental tasks.

And therefore one of the functions of such device as the device of development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U may also be according to your wish (and I recommend to implement it), this is the function of ensuring eternal life to all, when in fact you work with this goal of control. Just exactly this goal. Here is the device, and the goal of control, and you start spending time periodically for some time, let it be some little time, at least periodically, but for solution of this task for all. Then, naturally, moreover when a lot of people start working simultaneously or at different time but according to this goal, accordingly everything will be accelerated significantly.

And when the evolutionary structures of development are also considered, which develop man, it possible as if to realize such similar principle for technical systems, when they start, it is possible to start improving them very quickly, and then we can in such a way the task of ensuring eternal life to all solve sometimes significantly many times quicker, sometimes even significantly faster than manifold, for everyone, for all.

At this point I finish the webinar. You will be able to send questions to email which is available on the site. You can send in any language. I will try to answer the question which will be sent to this mail at the following online lecture.

And since the sublicenses who use the device PRK-1U, which is now being implemented in a modified version will receive special methods and techniques which make it possible to use the complete resource of the device, that is already modified. I would recommend at the online video courses to learn how it is possible to use fully the resource of the device of development of concentrations PRK-1U. And as soon as you get this knowledge additionally, accordingly, there will be insignificant correction in fact in the device itself, and for this modification it will be implemented for the maximum amount of the resources.

I wish you all the best, successful and technologically thought over system of ensuring eternal life, where the device of development of concentrations PRK-1U will help you, and, quite naturally, that fact that you develop yourself as well, that is your personal experience, your personal accumulated development.

And further when various additional systems will be developed, the systems of modifications of such direction as the devices of development of concentrations, it is necessary at once here to try to develop some single principle in learning in the work with these systems.

That is, you should try to learn exactly based on the essence of the issue, study fundamentally in the work with such systems. The quicker and deeper you study the training course, the faster eternal life will be ensured to all.

All the best to you, once again. See you next time.

The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God.
Interaction of Consciousness and Devices of Development of Concentrations to Ensure Eternal Life.

October 28, 2016

Hello.

The topic of the lecture is my Teachings “About God”. Interaction of Consciousness and Devices for Development of Concentrations to Ensure Eternal Life.

This topic considers an approach, related to the fact that any concentrations, which are carried out through Consciousness, they are carried out in cooperation with the objects of the external environment, as well as in cooperation with the internal structures of Consciousness. Therefore, when considering the issue of interaction of Consciousness with instrument systems that develop concentrations, it is necessary to consider two vectors of concentrations, which occur both towards the inner area of Consciousness, and towards the structure of the external, in relation to Consciousness, objects.

In this regard, if we consider the principle that God realized when creating the world, we can see the following picture of the world creation. God who arranges all the consequential parts and elements of the world development, creates the causal structure of the world simultaneously. And the combination of the direct access to all time intervals that occur in the Consciousness of God, and simultaneous creation of a cause and effect time axis, reproduces a certain kind of information, which is peculiar to the Divine action.

And this type of information can also be differentiated as a specific area of Consciousness of God, which functions directly from the Personality of God, and at the same time interacts with the phenomena of the external world created by Him. Therefore, it is possible to carry out separation of God Consciousness into the inner structure and outer structure in relation to God by the action of human Consciousness, for example, while, during this action, to see all the internal interconnections exactly in the optical action of Consciousness.

Thus, with two vectors of development of Consciousness (both towards the interior area and towards the outside one), you can select that area that interacts directly to a certain extent on an equal footing with the objects of the external environment. And here, in this vector of Consciousness, you can identify exactly the interaction with the device for development of concentrations.

Considering the device for development of concentration of eternal life PRK-1U, you can see, through the use of the controlling clairvoyance, that those optical radiations that occur in the inner optical unit of the device and in the external one, they have some reverse vector function. That is, the vector from the external lenses, which, in the form of light, falls into the external environment, and the optical emission of internal optical systems realize two areas of interaction with the external environment.

And to ensure that the interaction namely to ensure eternal life did not occur at the level of, for example, some averaged objects of external environment that have a neutral meaning (let's assume the objects of the remote horizon, if we consider some sort of picture, for example there is a cloud moving, or we consider such level, when a stone is somewhere far away in the mountains, and you look at it through the spiritual vision), you can see, in this case, that the interaction has a certain level of high-speed exchange characteristics. That is, the speed of interaction is low.

And at the same time it is possible to see that, in this interaction, a certain level of external actions and a certain power of action of Consciousness take place. And when you consider such interactions with the outside, for example, mentioned objects of reality, then here such a control structure is more visible, where the light area of Consciousness, in the form of segments of a sphere, is simply imposed on these objects, and, in general, we get the system, where the static phases of Consciousness matter are more developed. In the evolution of Consciousness, the static phases have the meaning of the next Consciousness impulse development.

And in the device for development of concentrations PRK-1U it is possible to see that the evolutionary parameter is more developed here in the sense that every element of the interaction of the optical level of the device, between the external optical unit and the internal one, creates such and static phases in large numbers, in unlimited, in fact, number, and they are certain bases for the qualitative level of development of Consciousness to ensure precisely eternal life. After all, when the device functions are precisely directed to ensure eternal life, the direction of development of concentrations precisely to the structure of ensuring eternal life is technically created by the instrumental method. Some other type of events, it starts to be such that at the level of free will, you can determine in this type what you need to do first.

So when God created the world in terms of cause and effect time axis, and looked to the future well, as if from the past, the choice of the primary elements of the action for Him was about the same, He had to decide how the levels of Consciousness, and those levels of reality, which should be first based on time, should be realized. And the choice of the first impulses of realization is a special level of knowledge, requiring virtually to optimize the task of the choice, to optimize the task of decision-making on the time axis: at a certain time, it is desirable or necessary, it is necessary that a specific action was happening.

And when we turn to the first vector of Consciousness, which is inwardly directed, into the interior of area of Consciousness, we can see that exactly based on the internal certain intuitive sense (where the Soul determines the phase of acceleration in the development of Consciousness), it is possible to see this kind of optimization mechanism, that is to say, of the choice by the Soul, in fact, of the events such as what first of all man wants and needs to do.

And when some wish is imposed to carry out an action, and at the same time it is necessary to optimize the task, at some deep, penetrating, inner Soul level, exactly what, for example, the person really wants to do at some level of action (that is, the level of personal goal in fact, then, this control structure is not modified when using PRK-1U. We can discover, generally speaking, that there is the law of development of equipment, (exactly in the infinite future), based on which equipment cannot affect the internal, deep and even target structures, and thus we can determine that it can only help.

And when we, for example, contribute to realization of the technical device in such a way that it, in the interaction, accelerated the development of concentrations precisely to achieve and ensure eternal life, we can see that, in fact, the very provision of eternal life is at a level, in fact, of that control structure that the realization is always ensured from the current physical body. Therefore, the inner area of Consciousness, it is also within the physical body as in the carrier of Consciousness.

When you single out, for example, in the cellular structure of man those material structures, atoms, molecules that contain the area, the support area, of the presence of matter of Consciousness, from which Consciousness develops, you can see that, out of each material level, a peculiar system, of sometimes unidirectional lines of light, spreads; these lines of light mean original sprouts of Consciousness, and then they merge and form, for example, a more complex structure, which means a more systematic level of matter of human Consciousness.

So when God created that world, that He Himself set the task of selecting some decisions, such as He would decide, for example, being a man, here appears a certain uniformity in the structure of logical action related to the fact that God, the Creator of man, perceives him as an equal one at a certain level, and at the same time He gives him the opportunity to develop infinitely, eternally, that is, to achieve all of those elements in the control and in the development, which He, God Himself, the Creator of the entire world, laid.

And this idea of God, it is not just, in this case, manifested as an idea of a person, well, who wanted the world to be like that. There are certain rationales in the structure of the world, for example to develop some reality, so to speak, out of nothing, that is also determined by some level of laws in already primarily created world. Here, for example, why the decisions of man, are concentrated both in him, in his internal structure, in his internal and external world, but at the same time they affect the whole structure of reality, because the very principle of organizing reality is precisely such, that, after the creation, the laws of the external world and the internal world of man, and generally of living creatures, these laws while developing, as if from inside, from the living structures, at the same time create the outside world.

That is, if to have a subtler approach to the knowledge of the world, in this case, we can see that the thin structures of the world, they are developing at an infinite distance, in fact, as the Soul of man determines, for example, or the action of his Consciousness. Thus, it is clear that this action is inviolable, because it holds this world, huh? .. And when we consider such a position in God's action, we see that at the logical level He came to this on the basis, well, of the same logic, that it is necessary to ensure, from some created object of information, virtually the entire outer structure of the world.

And creating, based on this principle, the device for development of concentrations PRK-1U, where certain event-related optical levels and those of the future events to ensure eternal life are connected, I saw inside the device a certain optical point that functions precisely in terms of interaction with the outside world, not in the form of, for example, some signal, directed, wave, well, in some optical meaning, maybe, action, but of the action, which primarily regulates, at the level of equality of objects of information, the picture of the world in the structure of ensuring eternal life of the world and, of course, of all living things.

And then it turns out that, strictly speaking, the device for development of concentrations PRK-1U, it is not just the factor affecting Consciousness, but on the contrary, it exists in the structure of the world as an object that realizes eternal life for all living. Therefore, the interaction of Consciousness, in fact, takes place in such a way that we can see the picture of the world that develops into the structure of the device. And at the same time, Consciousness, while it is as if inspecting the inside of the device, while obtaining information either from its actions into the external environment, by obtaining information just develops due to a certain experience, which appears, and, of course, in all cases, when we get knowledge from some visual information, or from sound information, and so on.

In this case, viewing this process is largely due to the controlling clairvoyance, controlling forecasting, due to the vision of the Soul, the Spirit and, in principle, due to the combination of certain analytical components of personality, where this kind of choice of decisions takes place, where namely the task of optimization is laid. Therefore, from the point of view of ensuring eternal life it is always necessary to solve the systemic task, such that the interaction with any object of reality of the external world, or the internal world, or even internal structure, such as Consciousness, the Spirit, the Soul, the physical matter of man and in general of any living being, these interactions should occur ensuring eternal life at each point.

For example, God while creating the world, of course, identified the areas where these elements exist. And so reaching these elements by the joint action of Consciousness and also by such an action that by certain view of the action of the device, getting this knowledge through Consciousness, you get the development due to namely knowledge. Thus, no certain influence as such, of course, takes place, because you can learn by considering some object of information and accepting, at the level of the free will, some information that is namely directed, in this case, to ensure eternal life.

And when you consider the functions of the device for development of concentrations PRK-1U, it is possible to notice that for example, the electromagnetic field that interacts with the optical systems, it is built in such a way that a kind of interaction of Consciousness with this electromagnetic field also at the level of movement of microstructures, within the electromagnetic field, is directed to ensure eternal life.

And when a person carries out concentrations on the upper optical systems, which are in the form of lenses on the device, on the surface of the device, and we can at the same time change the activity of concentration as well, change goals, you can see that with the total realizable goal of “eternal life to all” we consider such a movement and control that with the access, at the level of, for example, controlling clairvoyance, to the interior structure of the device, it is possible to see a certain combination of structures of macro-control, structures of some micro-processes.

And while looking at these structures, it is possible to see that we, while considering the elements of external reality, find such a principle of control that any element of reality, in each of its parts, has a similar principle of development of information to ensure eternal life. That is, if to take two body segments or two adjacent cells of the organism and to consider the same type of interaction, that the element, which is comparable to human Consciousness, receives information from one cell, well, in another cell, and within the system, as I said, in any place, God laid exactly the structure of ensuring eternal life, so, exactly on this structure, the comparably equal, comparably accurate elements of simultaneous, synchronically directed action, based on the single goal of ensuring eternal life, occur, proceeding from the task and a concrete action of realization of eternal life at the current moment as well.

So when it is being realized now and in the future, we control the correctness of this certain stream of information, i.e., create a kind of directed movement, then the device for development of concentrations of eternal life, in this sense it indicates (in terms of receiving exactly this knowledge from it, as I said, due to the consideration of the device action), it shows the direction what in this case you are considering as a structure of eternal life, that is, you can determine for yourself.

And while taking into account that the function of this mechanism as of a device, is specific enough, and limited by this particular functional structure of work of the device, your Consciousness, due to this, gets such a certain constant that is concentrated in the device, which allows, with the support point on this constant to develop another structure of thinking, but at the same time you ensure eternal life due to namely additional structures, ensuring eternal life at the level of fixed systems. That is, it turns out, in this case, there is a help on a certain level of objectification, where the optical system of eternal life is.

And due to this, if we consider the work of the device as a kind of tuning fork, where precisely the accurate coordinates of the matter of eternal life are given, your Consciousness while working with the device for development of concentrations begins to perceive kind of an optical system, which is fixed namely in ensuring eternal life. And then you will start seeing a certain generation, production of the matter of eternal life, which, in fact, is what I said, that God has placed in each element of space that structure, where there is eternal life, and the connection to this element exactly provides eternal life in absolute sense, that is, regardless of any circumstances of the world and regardless of the structures of development of some processes.

And if we are reasoning in this way, it is clear that this is true, because God, Who created the world, regardless of the development of the world and in general of any development of knowledge, He created a stable for evermore, and eternal world. That is, it turns out that in fact His self-development was incorporated by Him into the structure of self-recreation.

It is easy to understand it at the level of the controlling clairvoyance or controlling forecasting, that is, for example, to look at the future events. And at the same time you already know, what events are happening in the future, and you can carry out the control to ensure eternal life, when considering these events. Accordingly, it turns out that you, even if some events of knowledge take place, for example of some additional knowledge, you already know these future events, which contain the structure of knowledge in the collective Consciousness as well.

And you perceive knowledge, in fact, in this case, in the form that you see some maybe just specific physical actions in reality. Well it is also necessary to understand here that this is not just a viewing, you go through the phase the Collective Consciousness as well. Therefore, viewing the future and control of the processes of the future is, in principle, not just browsing, such as by the physical eye, it is simultaneously both the viewing and the assimilation of some knowledge. That is God, due to the elongation of the world structure into the future, build for Himself that method of knowledge, which does not require sometimes some long study, but it is made so that, looking into the future and seeing the future, God, in fact, is receiving all the prior knowledge simultaneously.

And if you see in his, God's, technical action, it is possible to notice that this accumulation of information is going around just those points, that ensure eternal life, since initially eternal God, self-sufficient in eternal life in an absolute sense, and His task is more to teach all living to live eternally as well. And, at the same time, He, starting, for example, from man, ensures this process of eternal life, for example, first, in certain points of the infinite world. But on the whole the world may be eternal, if it is eternal at any point, this will be the absolute stability of the process.

Therefore, the task of knowledge transfer, it is not really just a local task for some, for example, planetary or galactic systems, the task concerns the entire world on the whole. And precisely the devices for development of concentrations, well, of the type of the device for development of concentrations PRK-1U, where namely the concentrations of eternal life are developing, they can be certain communicators in the future that provide interaction with similar instrumental systems in other remote, for example, galactic systems. And wherein the initial contact, well as, for example, at the level of radio waves between different objects, it can occur exactly through the gentlest line in that respect that if there is an unknown level of this contact, it is easier to do it through the instrumental system.

Simply, if we compare, for example, there is a ship that has no markings appears somewhere in the sea, but it does have a radio transmitter, then it is possible to establish communication with it and to clarify its intentions. Exactly the same, the devices of such type, they make it possible exactly, at the level of ensuring eternity, immediately, firstly, to differentiate that there is the same type of device somewhere, or it is directed to this side, and to create a certain pre-communication to identify the intentions of the other system.

And therefore it is important, when working with such technologies, to understand that in fact, on the whole, the entire world that was created by God, also needs certain logic, systemic, physical actions, in the actions of development of Consciousness, the Soul, and the Spirit. And then, by the active accumulation of these actions in the direction of ensuring eternal life to all, it is possible to say quite definitely and confidently that, yes, the world will be eternal, simply because everything is synchronous, simultaneous, may be each in its own way, but the synchronicity is exactly in the task and in the realization of this task on ensuring eternal life, that is, all act in the same direction, that is in the common one.

And when this happens, the phase of the Collective Consciousness, the entire phase, generally related to the actions of all living, it falls just into that very center, to the point, where the world was being originally created. That is, it is possible to determine, well, the coordinates of the creation of the world, the places of the primary creation, so to speak, the primary factor of the matter, exactly due to the unification of actions of all living into the structure of ensuring eternal life as well as due to the creation of those conditions when that structure, which does not relate to living matter would have been such that it would be developing along the level of a kind of revival, if it was not originally related to the living matter.

It is clear that in this case we, of course, speak about the universal resurrection, and in this case the ensuring eternity of life centers on the fact that man in completely, for example, free will (in principle, like any other creature), can act in such a way that he sees the world as the reality that comes well, in fact, as if out of him. Harmony is increasing to such extent (the interaction of the inner and outer world of man), that a certain unity occurs, a certain inner harmony, a certain kind of beauty. For example, looking at a picture that you like because of its beauty, well, you have a certain structure of kind of, can be called, fascination, so to speak, of a certain internal concentration on the beauty, on the shimmering of information within the picture (you can look the same way at the outside world), that is a certain level of some absolute harmony, or like when listening to a music that you like. And it can also be in any other level of realization of an individual, not only in the specific, for example, cases I have mentioned.

And when a person realizes that the world as it flows out of his Soul, so this harmony of the Souls of people, when the Soul of every man, creates the eternal world harmoniously transforming it, creates it to be eternal exactly on the level of a certain joy from the world, from enjoying a certain existence of the world, as it was originally with God. One can imagine that, having created the world, He, of course, got a certain feeling, which is similar to human pleasure, or, well, a certain, may be, similar to joy due to the results of the work, so to speak.

And it turns out that He, of course, preserved this primary structure of a joyful perception of the world He had created. And when we try to perceive the world the same way, then, of course, we have no problems in terms of the internal state, there is always quite a clear goal and realization at every level, in every action of this goal to ensure eternal life, a certain comfortable state occurs.

I noticed that there are a lot of examples, where already at the beginning of the work with the technologies of the Teachings on ensuring eternal life, the perception of many people immediately stabilizes exactly in terms of the goal: well, people become calmer, more confident; sometimes, in general, are quite confident (moreover from the very beginning of the studies) that, yes, it is possible to ensure eternal life from the current moment very easily and quite quickly. And it pleases, because when working with technical devices that have just started to develop now to ensure eternal life in a certain sense, and, for example, that it is the device that develops concentrations of eternal life, I, except for the created by me device PRK-1U, never met such information, and in this regard, it is a definite novelty.

And this equipment, it is clear that it is aimed at ensuring eternal life for all, and at the same time it is a very positive structure. But to have a certain inner confidence, that is, a certain structure of such positive systematic actions, which are directed to eternity for all in the structure of their infinite life in physical bodies, is a very important direction in terms of the fact that each of the following structures of development is laid in the functions of the device, and the more positive is the development, the more powerful devices can be created.

And in this regard, given that there is such a certain law of construction of such technical systems that ensure eternal life, it is very useful to listen to the lectures that I am delivering here now, that are related precisely to realization of eternal life with the help of instrumental systems. Naturally, it is always useful to have some additional systems that ensure eternal life. And, as I have said, it is laid down in the functional systems of the device, of course, that you should learn, in a certain future, to be able to work without instrumental systems, but when there is an opportunity to learn quicker by using the device, quite naturally, it is advisable to use the device. That is, you can learn some external control, well, examining the structure of the world by speculative, for example, research, you can look at the world and try to understand it, but sometimes you can take the book, and then everything becomes clear much faster, that is, saving of time.

The same thing is here, the device has kind of similar certain tasks in the principal structures, thus you can do everything much faster, and at the same time the additional experience does not diminish your personal tasks of free exploring the world. So when God created the world, He laid here this specificity of the interaction of information: with full freedom to get what you want even more, to get what you need.

And while considering the interaction on concentrations at PRK-1U on the top optical system, where the lenses are on the surface of the device, you can see already in the modified version, when you concentrate attention on the figures, which are near the lenses, you will pass to a certain structure of the Collective Consciousness, where the knowledge in the form of certain graphic systems is concentrated, that is, texts, for example, digital systems, and so on.

And considering the figures, for example, as blocks of information that contain both verbal texts and some event blocks, it is possible through the figures, having a projection structure of information through number, to work with large arrays of information. That is to say, for example, you need to improve something in a particular house. You can assume that the information corresponding to the house, is designated by number one; if there is any other close information, another house, for example, it is two, and so on. If we are talking about a man who is doing something in an action, you can, for example, consider number eight.

And it turns out that working with arrays, you just see this information, but you have some projective indication in the form of numbers. So when you are working this way, you can consider the same principle that God, working with the whole world, He had kind of projection component, He was able perceive at the level of fast information assessment. Well, the Consciousness of God is so developed that He, of course, perceives all simultaneously quite clearly and accurately, but at the same time He can perceive, in the projection, in the evaluation phase, because He can perform any action.

But the question is, why it is necessary for God. And the answer is very simple, that He wants to teach people and generally all the living to understand the laws of the world, and therefore, He should, of course, very carefully study the development of human society in terms of how people would have done it. And when we consider the interaction between equipment and people, you can see that if we consider this interaction at the level of infinite development, the task to prevent any man-made disasters is already very urgent in modern society, and the accumulation of equipment can result in an even greater problem in the future. Therefore, such technical devices as PRK-1U, that ensure eternal life, of course, can be used for the development of diagnostic systems of human personality, when it is possible to develop at once the controlling clairvoyance, for example, and controlling forecasting to the extent necessary to ensure eternal life at every moment of time.

That is, the ability to focus information quickly and somehow actively, to do so that this information was timely distributed so that there was ensuring of eternal life, it is, in general, a common task that is being solved by God every moment. Since, on the one hand, although it has been solved for Him at that level that He can do everything and created the world, but from the point of view of logic of the temporal development, causal development, He solves it in a certain way at the level of functioning of the world, at the level of the laws of functioning of the world.

And having considered the principle that God, Who created the world, is primarily guided by His Personality, from which this world was created, and when we consider that the Personality, Which created the world, of course, laid the similarity image in other structures, because it is easier to make the structure a similar level than anything else, because the similar system is stable. It is clear that the likeness of man to God, this is one of the objectives of ensuring peace in eternal development, in eternal life, and moreover in the eternal life of every physical being in his physical body, and, at the same time, this likeness is characterized by the fact that a certain principle of optimization is laid down here.

So, when God chooses some decision among a large number of decisions, He, in fact, (if to consider something that is similar to what a person does for the application of the controlling clairvoyance or controlling forecasting) browses the future construction from some current, for example, moment of time. It is just necessary to understand that (well, it sounds a bit unusual) - but God is also present in the future, therefore, He is looking at Himself simultaneously in a certain sense, at His own action. And by using this principle, we can just see how to work with the created by me device for development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U exactly in the position namely of viewing the signal of this device.

That is to say, the optical line that spreads in the future, it is always directed to ensuring eternal life, therefore man is able to do what God is doing due to His Consciousness, to a certain extent due to this type of technical devices that give this optical line, that is, a certain vector directed at ensuring eternal life. And then it is clear that a person, from the current time, for example, by applying controlling forecasting, he, while considering the future, looks, like at a lighthouse, at this vector of information running into the infinite future from the device. And since this information is quite straightforward, that is, ensuring eternal life through the development of the concentrations of eternal life, there is a certain advantage in this that increases the speed of development. Moreover, the development speed increases not just because some information is obtained, for example, conceptual information, but because you start browsing somewhere nearby the events that are centered near this kind of optical beam coming from the device. It, by the way, looks like this: precisely as a white line going into the infinite future.

And if we just descry exactly near it, we can see that the ray moves close to those events that are most optimal for ensuring eternal life, that is, the principle of optimization. And you can, for example, viewing the space between the lenses, single out this vector, this line, and moreover, and you can modify this line directing it to the events that you need.

And here there is one more certain method of interaction with the device, where you send this line, this kind of a light line, which, in general, somehow also cleanses the information, shows, as a certain flashlight, shows the direction that is the most optimal. Many people noticed in the work with the device, that concentrations are intensified very quickly, and sometimes they are beginning to develop as if themselves, (it seems that themselves, but really it is perceived so that themselves). And in fact, it is just like a flashlight that illuminates the space, and you just see all these events that precisely ensure eternal life.

At the same time, you should understand that monitoring of any technical system is required. It is necessary to make two or three iterations, to look in general at the operation of the device, and then analytically make the decision in the control, because you are always free, no technical system should ever limit you in terms of decision-making, but, in terms of your own personal decision, the system can help very effectively, for example, of the type of PRK-1U.

And here, if we continue this study, we can see that this peculiar corrector, this ray, which goes exactly in the events that ensure eternal life more optimally, this is what God is doing, for example, by Himself, and, in this case, man for the first time substitutes this action with the device, then exactly in the future, the action from this level, kind of use of the device should also take place the way God would do, having created a structure in the future, that, for example, would have helped him in a certain sense. But since God always does everything Himself, the concept of help here means assistance, and, in general, interaction, for example between God and man.

Of course, if to extend this approach directly, that God, Who created man, in a certain way interacts, when man creates equipment, this approach, in principle, does not apply directly, but there are some logical evaluations of this action. God, Who created man due to the action of His own Soul ... here the action of the Soul, in the creation of the device, is spread in terms of, well, creative activities and, for example, by more active use of the controlling clairvoyance, and controlling forecasting and so on, of some other structures of the personality including those where you simply mobilize the controlling systems to ensure that they function constructively, as it is necessary to ensure eternal life.

Well, by virtue, for example, of my profession that I received at the University, by the exploratory physical and mathematical calculations, it is possible to bring a certain structure of objectification to a total, common, understanding in terms of the use of the universal mathematical apparatus, for example. And it turns out that the system is quite clear, for example, there are patents that reflect the essence of device PRK-1U, that is “Method of prevention of catastrophes and device for its realization” and “Information carrying system”, there are the next patents that are being declared, and so on.

And in this connection it is possible, considering exactly the process of declaration in each case, with each modification, with some new parameters of precisely claims for inventions, it is possible to see that each claim for an invention has a certain well, of course, distinction from the previous models. Although, in principle, it is related to the fact whichever patent, for example, it is, where there is a method, the method includes everything, what, for example, is related to this method. And the method, which is included in my patent “Method of prevention of catastrophes and device for its realization” (where a bio-signal is generated and due to this the control force is increased), this method is transferred to the device for development of concentrations PRK-1U, therefore it turns out that this device is just a subclass of this more general patent.

And that's why I consider in such detail these structures, which are patentable. The fact is that when you work with technical devices, it is necessary to understand the classification of these devices, considering this process in such a way that, if the classification is related to some more general class, that is, you consider a subclass of the device, then some ideological structural systems incorporated in the upper class of the device, that is, in the more general area of information, they are the principal ones, and in this sense it should be also taken into account.

Since, as a matter of fact, the patent “Method of prevention of catastrophes and device for its realization”, considers the tasks and considers precisely the technological level of prevention of catastrophes, it is clear that it can be extended to any level, and, in principle, if we increase the power, it is possible to do so that to prevent, for example, a kind of a catastrophe at the cellular level, i.e., it is also one of the principles to ensure eternal life.

And when we consider the development of the concentration of eternal life with the help of device PRK-1U, we can see here that, in fact, the technical level is realized also, actually, in the method itself, but, in a constructive way, it is possible to see that the very concentrations, they can be of the nature of a particular person, in principle, and of any living creature, when using a certain level of passive action, when there is just a visualization of the device, without methodological systems, or staying near the device in terms of even seeing the image of the device, it is still a certain level of information, the same as when you look at any information object, you always get a peculiar information relating to a particular action, and, on the whole, it is possible to grasp the system.

Therefore, even if to show the image of the device for development of concentrations when it is, for example, turned on, it affects some other systems, other living beings. You can show, for example at home, to dogs, cats and also receive certain significant effects for the development of mechanisms of eternal life in them. Since the task is common, it is clear that it is to teach all, so by solving this task it is possible to see how certain changes take place in their behavior, that are obviously directed to ensure eternal life.

And when you look at the system of reality in such a way that you can see almost all the connections of reality in some single point, then just in the future, when many of the technical systems will be united under some common energy level (that is, generation can often occur at some single level for many technical systems) then, so to speak, looking into the future in this sense, it is possible to see that these system should have a level of autonomous design, well, a kind of energy supply of their operation, in fact.

And if we consider the device for development of concentration of eternal life PRK-1U, in the case where the power supply, for example, is reduced, and the electromagnetic field, for some reason is reduced, then there is a very stable structure at the level of eternal development, which is located between the internal optical unit and the external one. And if you start manifesting brightly a thought between the internal and external optical units, it is possible to see that the functionality of the device in a certain way (to achieve the goal of eternal life, and to achieve some kind of technical, currently required levels to ensure eternal life) takes place due to the fact that you activate your own thought.

You, having eternal status of development, the eternal level of development, eternal life, when you will learn that your thought is a generator for this device that provides eternal life through the development of concentrations, we will be able to consider a new type generally, in principle, in the ideology of creating equipment, where the energy source may be not only external energy, such as electric power, but it can be your own Consciousness, your Spirit, your action of the Soul, the optical radiation from your physical body.

And when you, well, come to the level that namely the optical radiation from the body, that is the reflection of light from the physical body, is also a source of energy, it turns out that as soon as you close this cycle, that is this task of control, and get the impulse of eternity from the device, while you were personally the primary level, the primary basis, well, as I said, or the light of your Consciousness, Spirit, Soul, or it is just the optical radiation from the body, then, on the whole, the world comes here locally in this action to that fact that you see that you have eternal autonomous system.

And this device for development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U, it also solves this problem of perfection of your Consciousness through a certain training, when due to the emission of Consciousness you get additional functions in the work of the device. And therefore, studying deeply the work of such devices (well, in this case here, I for now widely realize precisely this device PRK-1U), you can then be sure that any technical system, which is built on this principle, it, first, is absolutely safe, because it depends on Consciousness. The patent “Method of prevention of catastrophes and device for its realization” and the patent “Information carrying system”, and those claims that are related to PRK-1U, specifically include namely the structure of generation of a bio-signal from a person, from the person's thought. That is, man is a controlling level, and in response to this, the instrumental system implements some target structural tasks.

And in this regard, based on the fact that, strictly speaking, the structure itself is that level of development, that level of action that ensures eternal life, the structure of eternity, it is possible to see that when, by some joint activities, through joint collective actions, we thus improve the equipment, the equipment becomes so advanced, if moreover to do it an infinite time, that it interacts with man at the level of his namely eternal life.

And the eternal development of equipment also has a number of tasks, because the perfection of the materials can lead (and has already lead often) to the structures that, based on the analysis and processing of information, are comparable to what man is doing, for example, in logical thinking and so on. That is, the cybernetization of systems in the future is a certain task for the society as well, of course, for the automation of many processes. But, in the infinite development, a special task of control arises, and this task is solved by the fact that the equipment reacts namely to the human Soul, to his Consciousness, to his physical radiation from the body, to his Spirit, that is to say, generally to the personality.

And when such technical systems will exist, then irrespective of how long the society has been developing in infinite development, it may take billions by billions of years, such systems with further perfection are not dangerous to man. And from this point of view, the development of such devices, such technical devices that are similar to the device for development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U, is one of the fundamental tasks of the mankind in the future as well, which should create such technical devices that cannot offer harm, in fact, not only to the physical body of man, but do not affect his free thinking either.

And that is why in today's lecture, I considered in more detail that namely the principle of acquiring knowledge, as in the usual case of free knowledge, is laid in the functionality of the device for development of concentrations PRK-1U. And from the point of view of ensuring eternal life, you can see that this principle, it, quite obviously, does not affect for the worse any person, because it turns out that knowledge is free. And many, by the way, see in the future, in the application of the controlling forecasting, controlling forecasting together with the controlling clairvoyance certain pictures of the future, which are seen as a reality, because this is really the viewing of the future processes of the world, more vivid, more favorable situations. And given that they see these improved situations often, because this is namely the controlling forecasting, where the improvement occurs right away, we can say that plans of control are laid in the period of browsing straight away.

And an important feature, precisely of the interaction with the device for development of concentrations PRK-1U, is the ability to watch and decide simultaneously. That is, the time between the information view and immediate correct solution should not, in fact, be any significant. Sometimes it generally takes place in real time. Well, that is to say, God while creating the world, He often seems, could not, in terms of the fact that it is clear that God can do anything, but from the point of view of human logic He does, and the world is being created. It is likely that the time for reflection here is very little or, as a rule, in this case, we can assume that there is no time.

In other words, the world was being created so that it as if appeared right away from the point of view of the primary impulse of God, but if we consider technically, it is a very, well, in general, highly developed technology in terms of human logic. And here it turns out that even from the point of view of external logic it is the most highly developed technology. Now, if to consider workability of this process, if just to ask a question: how, for example, it is possible, leaning on some primary element of the world, to create it suddenly. There is one thing if a person creates something, he often uses some plans, then some elements that realize these plans; God also had the situation that He at the moment of action, understood and created simultaneously.

And this transition between the perception and analysis of what is happening, and then the use of this analysis for the next element of creation of something; it turns out that God did not have this element. And from the human point of view, in the logical determinism of actions, when there is a reason and some consequence, it turns out that it was just a simultaneous action.

For example, I have a patent “Information carrying system”, there is a signal that is transmitted from one place, and at the same time it is present in the other. This is the principle of action when you can ensure simultaneousness (well, it is clear that God can be simultaneously in everything), from the point of view of human action this kind of simultaneousness can be self-ensured when you, using, for example, the device for development of concentrations of eternal life, consider this concentration as the structure of eternity that is infinitely spread all over the world. Then it turns out, since it is infinitely extended, the neighboring areas have similar functional properties.

Well, you can imagine that there is a certain field, a certain matter that has just an infinite development. Let's take some local site and begin to explore this matter. Going through it, well, for example, centimeter by centimeter, or meter by meter, or more, we will see if we might have passed a kilometer through it at the level of search of Consciousness, some certain qualities of this matter, the further we move away, the more properties it accumulates from the interaction with other objects.

And it turns out, the primary properties, they are as a certain matrix, as a certain framework, contain actually all the systems of those elements, which in the future, as if are projected, in fact, even on the light level, on the optical level, if to consider the optical model of the world. Then it turns out, God, having this very projection (every element, which was being created, was reflecting light), and God saw, of course, because the light was created by God Himself, but the reflective function, it is such that God brings freedom of impulse into the resulting action, the freedom of some action.

And so, in the device for development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U, that freedom is expressed in the fact that you can, at the moment of application of the device, change your target tasks of some actions in terms of some kind of, for example, solution of the following tasks, that is to solve the tasks successively or even see all of them and solve simultaneously. Therefore, it is important when you work with this type of equipment to try to understand how, for example, God acted in terms of some local action.

For God, for example, it was, well, for example, may be not about some device out there, not about some level of systemic actions, but still it mattered for God, and matters, that the very consistency, is defined by your action as well, by the action of all in the world, of the entire information of the world, by the action of God. And at the same time the interaction still takes place, where namely the task originally defined by God to ensure eternal life to all, this task is being formed and realized. It is being realized somewhere, it is first being formed somewhere in some, perhaps, distant space structures, then it is realized. And when we say that if it has been realized somewhere, then in this very distant structure, which I have just mentioned, some, any named structure in the cosmic space due to the fact that, where it has been realized there is the light of this knowledge, they can do it much faster.

So, being aware that God knows everything and has done everything, He can do everything, it is possible to look at Him and see how He, for example, determined the structure of that technical device, which ensures the acceleration of introduction namely of eternal life for all. And then you can see more detail: what functions you can still discover in this technical device.

For example, in the device for development of concentrations PRK-1U, in testing, many people, when they receive a signal, well, as if to their Consciousness, sometimes on the whole at a certain level of perception, at the level of perception, for example, by the Spirit, and in this case they try when receiving the signal to analyze some kind of interaction structures in terms of feelings, then, often, if to send, for example, the signal somehow specially, for example to take the matter of eternal life between the lenses and to pull over towards yourself, applying to a certain point, or if to contact through physical sight, through physical eyes, you can see that the structure of sensations changes.

And in this case, for example, if one element of access had a certain effect, the second one will have another. It is very important to see in this case that in the individual work with the device for development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U it is quite possible to see such a level of interaction, when you actually can, thus, through a certain way of a variety of additional actions, develop your certain line of interaction, where you can methodologically somehow describe, which of these lines is the most effective for you.

That is, you should try, for example, to get an access of the generated matter of eternal life, which is generated in the device, to some areas of the body. Sometimes it is directly to a particular section, sometimes through, say, the area of the spine, sometimes through the area of the eyes, or you as if pull it to yourself and connect it, you just see how it approaches your body. And you can find the points where you have the most active contact with the eternal matter. And, of course, thus you provide eternal life for yourself in a more systematic way, and here it can be for all other, by passing the signal either mentally, or connecting them to the work with the device for development of concentrations PRK-1U.

And in this regard, I think that if we consider the process of control to ensure eternal life as the system of optimality as well, it is possible here to make a certain selection at the level of an event action. For example, in the future events, there is some level of the most appropriate, rapid actions, you understand that, you see, but at the same time you need to do something else quickly simultaneously or in parallel. How then, for example, in this case, you will have to consider? God was doing at the same time a great number of processes, an infinite number, in fact, since the world is infinite.

Well, as we have considered in the lecture today, based on the fact, that from the internal impulse of the level of Personality of God everything was created, just the focus on your inner world, on your internal ideological structures to ensure eternal life, just makes it possible actually to make the right decision immediately: where, for example, should you use the device for development a concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U? at what time? where should you do some kind of physical action? where can you read the texts and the methods?

And since now, in the modified version of the device for development of concentrations for eternal life PRK-1U, there are numbers near the lenses, you can, for example, take any of my works, which include number series, and just concentrate on the lenses and the series. The methods how to do it are enclosed to the device. And at the same time, it turns out, that with such concentration you, in fact, enhance that target control, which is incorporated in the very series, moreover often very significantly.

Therefore, when working with number series, when you also use this device, you can also notice that there is a certain principle of simultaneousness of an action, that is, the number series, which provides the target control, plus your primary action on your primary goal. This is exactly the simultaneousness. The same way God, based on His wish to create the world, He can do everything actually simultaneously, because the central wish to create and to act led him precisely to the fact that He created this beautiful world.

And the question is what if: what prompted Him to create the world? How did He Himself originally appear? How did his primary substance appear and come to this idea of creation of this eternal world? And here a question arises, that the primary level, where God only began to recreate Himself, it has always existed for God. Since God s created it, as if out of time right at the level of eternity. So, working with the device in such a way that there is a certain eternity that exists at the level of the intuitive knowledge, and with the application, the controlling clairvoyance and controlling forecasting, of this precise knowledge, it is possible to see how you can, for example, think accurately with the help of the Soul, with the help of the action of the Soul.

And these accurate thoughts can be amplified when they are directed through the device, through the internal optical unit. And then it is possible to consider such a model that, since for God all is the same in terms of time, this idea “such a beautiful, perfect world”, for God it could be at the current point of time, and in the future as well. That is, the thought of the future, it is, in fact, the same for God as at the initial moment. And then it turns out that the motive for the creation of the world was the resulting structure, such as, for example, the idea that it was necessary to create the beautiful eternal world for all, where all would live eternally. Then it is clear that the motive here was that future information.

But from the point of view of logic, it sounds somewhat unusual, but, as I have now explained, is quite correct from the point of view of scientific knowledge, because in science, well, let's say, the signal systems of the future, when even, for instance, the structure of planning is being built by processing of statistics and some forecasting of the future processes just at a scientific level, they also take into account possible future processes that begin to determine the present.

In principle, the whole of life in many ways is built so that the future is taken into account during the action of the present. God took into account the future beautiful, eternal world, where all people live eternally in their physical bodies as well as all other living creatures, the world is eternal, He has already got it at the moment of creation. That is, we can say, that it was one of the motives, at least, but quite serious and quite objective, that we studied here in this lecture today.

And it turns out that when we consider the process of control, it is necessary, of course, to consider it fundamentally, that is, to see how we can carry out control, based on the understanding of the fundamental structures of the world, feeling them and understanding them; seeing at the level, for example, of spiritual vision, by the vision of the Soul, that it is true, that it is the same as we see with physical eyes and see the physical world around us, and we understand that this is true, because there are static objects, there is a clear understanding that we perceive reality correctly.

The same should be in a certain sense on the Soul level, at the level of inner perception, at the level of controlling clairvoyance. And the device, enables you by virtue of precisely the tasks of development of concentrations of eternal life to perceive this level in a certain way; why many people when using the device begin to react in a certain way so that start feeling more relaxed, viewing the events more clearly, this is still the level of fundamental understanding conditioned by a more complete control, or even just by the full control of all situations.

And that's when we begin to implement controllability in the free sense of this word of the situation of eternity, that is, we just live eternally at the natural level of eternal life, at complete freedom of action, while ensuring eternal life for you and all, and the study of the world in terms of the fundamental approach also becomes, therefore, a more desirable and necessary task to ensure that eternal life was provided to all at the level of the deep fundamental knowledge of the world.

In this sense, while working with the device for the development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U, you should try also to perceive the work in such a way, to ensure that when you work with it, with this device, you try more, and further deepen in the study of the fundamental world picture that ensures eternal life.

You will accumulate this knowledge more and more actively and intensively, and you will always be able, after a certain time, due to the work with the device as well, and in the distant, or maybe in that future, which you would like to learn quickly by knowledge with the help of instrumental systems as well; but the knowledge of Consciousness, that perceives, that is the type of knowledge, when due to any interaction with equipment, with any system, your Spirit, Soul, Consciousness, your body will always gain the next level of eternal life exactly in line with systemic mandatory ensuring eternal life.

And by working with such an approach, you ensure eternal life for yourself and everyone through using the technological device, which is important in the technical development of society of the use of the systems of equipment in order to live eternally. It really provides eternal life and in the conditions of any equipment as well.

On this I finish today's lecture.

We will have a few minute break, and I will answer the questions that came from the previous webinar.

Answers to questions

The question is as follows: “What is the difference between the device, which is used by a single person or several, for example up to eight persons?”

The fact of the matter is that the device for the development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U, which is currently in use, it is designed in such a way that from one to eight persons can work, while the resource capacity will not be reduced when used, for example, by eight people.

And exactly personal access to the control takes place, this is completely clear, because the vibration characteristics of thinking on the optical level, the level of work of each person, is different by virtue of individuality of the person, and, it turns out that the work is done on an independent level, without interfering with some, for example, controlling structures of simultaneous controls, which are carried out by other users of the device. So we can unequivocally say that it is possible to use at completely equal footing.

The sound of a dog barking

Just now here, apparently, when we are talking about the device, for some reason, the dog has got such a level of response, now I'll take it to another room.

Well, apparently, I think it should be interpreted so that, well, as I have said, that both dogs and cats can use the device, and in general any other living beings (according to the active reaction of the dog, which previously during lectures was silent all the time, staying close), well, when we started discussing who can use the device, it started barking actively and express its, apparently, certain wish to participate in the overall process.

Thus, I think it is possible only with the collective use of the device to try to share the experience, it is even possible with the use of some independent level of the device, that is, when using different devices to share the experience of the use. Then, at the level of knowledge, it would be just the transfer of knowledge.

The next question is: “Will the development of concentrations increase with the simultaneous use of two or more devices PRK-1U?”

As a matter of fact, yes, indeed, the speed of development of concentrations will increase by the simple optical principle, that is, when using, for example, one device, the capacity of this device is limited by engineering specifications, and it turns out that just as in any other technical device, the increase in power, the increase in the resource of the device will always result in the increase in its strength and other consequential features.

Therefore, I think, for those who want to use, for example, simultaneously two or more devices, (and such applications have been received), they can do it, of course. In this case, it is necessary just to work well a certain structure of simultaneous action. Well, for example, to watch immediately on two smartphones, if, say, these are two devices, or if there are three you should simultaneously look at three smartphones, and so on, if you are using, for example, a video image.

And due to the fact that it is desirable to work actively with one, and may be with a large number of video images, as if you were working, for example, with one, some most active, for you, system, in this case, you can select the same principle, which was given in today's lecture.

That is, to take one of the vectors, for example, to direct in control to one, two or more devices, and as for another vector, which goes into the interior area of Consciousness, its light should just be increased due to flow of the radiating systems going onto these devices, you will be able to see what device should be the primary, for example, to concentrate your attention or whether it should be simultaneously at all. That is, you will have a certain level, which comes from your inner world, from the world of your spiritual development; and then you will be able to master already two, three, and a larger number of devices. In principle, it is important from the viewpoint of the task of control of equipment, an infinite amount of equipment.

Infinite world, that is, of course, the equipment will increase infinitely, and then it turns out, in terms of general objectives for the whole of humanity, the ability to control devices, of course, in the future will be as the ability to control, on the whole, a huge amount of equipment in some common impulses going from the Soul.

The next question is: “Will the use of PRK-1U make it possible to reduce territorial tension?”

The fact is that, of course, ensuring eternal life implies a harmonious systemic development, where conditions for eternal life have been created. Therefore, regardless of whether you use the device, and if you use the device, you will just be able to develop control more actively. So, yes, you can certainly contribute to a decrease of some tension well, of any type, which, for example, is not creative, which is not consistent with the task of ensuring eternal life for all.

Therefore, in general, in terms of use of the device for the development of concentrations PRK-1U we can assume that, since the task is the task of exactly systemic assertion of eternal life for all in any circumstances of internal and external world, then, of course, it is possible to apply, for the development of those concentrations that ensure exactly the harmony, the absence of tension, generally speaking, in all segments of the information, no matter where it is.

This concludes the answers to the question. Thanks a lot for your attention. See you next time, all the best to you. I wish you all successful harmonious eternal life.

The Teaching of Grigori Grabovoi about God. Reaction of the technical system to the control by Consciousness.

December 24, 2016

Hello.

The topic of today's lecture is my Teaching about God. Reaction of the technical system to the control by Consciousness.

This topic examines several positions of the technical system related to the control with Consciousness, whereby the term “control with Consciousness” implies that you control using your own Consciousness and you control through Consciousness simultaneously or sequentially with some technical system. A technical system refers to various levels of technology, that is, devices, technical objects, and any technical systems that are created.

Thus, in control, an action in which equipment responds to your Consciousness occurs; it reacts in the following ways: so that you see in control how the equipment reacts, and at the same time, equipment also reacts to your viewing; then, the technical system can be self-developing, where it reaches a certain level of interaction with human Consciousness or with Divine Consciousness. And when considering interaction with the Consciousness of God, the development of the technical system occurs at a discrete-continuous level, because for God, the process of creating any technical system is viewed in much the same way as a person can perceive the corpuscular or wave structure of the world, where, for example, light can be viewed both as a structure of micro-matter and, at the same time, as a wave.

In this case, if we apply this dual principle to God's view of how mechanisms develop, we can find many interconnections and even technical solutions that can be specifically aimed at achieving eternal life. Here, as soon as the discrete wave phase of a technical system's development ends, the technical system practically takes the form of some kind of technical object, for example, of an object or some kind of technological cycle that relies on a number of machines, some kind of technological elements, that is, it may be a larger system, such as a factory, but at the same time, you can consider the technological cycle as just a large form that performs a number of technological and technical operations.

Then it turns out that as soon as you consider the control from this point of view, you can see that it is precisely the fixed phase that is not just an external consideration of the transition of some discrete wave nature to, for example, an instantaneous transition to specific fixed objects, but you can also consider a very close causal relationship between the wave nature and, for example, the instantaneous transition to specific fixed objects, by analogy with how a light wave propagates. But you can also see a very close causal connection between the wave nature of how God sees and the already finished technical objects. If we understand these connections, then the nature of human thinking when creating some technical objects will become clear.

At the same time, when considering the task of ensuring eternal life for all, we can see that there are a number of specific laws that examine and confirm the reaction of the technical system to the control with Consciousness. Here, first and foremost, in the context of technologies for eternal development and eternal life, it is necessary to consider that the platform that carries the entire information basis for intellectual mental actions, for example, of a human being, is, by analogy with how God thinks and acts, is located on some specific, fixed tasks of implementing a technical system or a device as a substructure of a technical system. And, for example, considering in this context the device for concentration development PRK-1U, which I created from the point of view of the interaction of various systems with the aim of ensuring eternal life for all, it is clear that it is precisely in devices of this class that we can see that the supporting basis of this device already includes an ideological structure, and then the reaction of the technical system, the reaction of this device, is compensated for by the general task of ensuring eternal life for all.

If mechanisms perform only specific functional tasks without having such an ideological level of creation — for example, in some everyday matters — then it is possible to introduce a thought into this mechanism that will develop it into the realm of interaction with the Consciousness of God, with human Consciousness, the Consciousness of other objects, persons, and systems, as well as a form of reaction that corresponds to the Consciousness of other objects of reality. It is important here that this peculiar common level is spread throughout this technical system in such a way that the person, who uses this technical system, having understood the structure of the operation of this technical system, can direct it towards the realization of eternal life for all. To do this, one just needs to transfer any technical system in the structure of one's thinking into a structure that provides eternal life for all.

Then it turns out that this transfer essentially divides Consciousness into two separate volumes, which can be called, for example, fractals. And then, for example, from fractal one, where this technical system is located, the transfer to fractal two, where this technical system is informed by the task of ensuring eternal life for all, it is precisely the transfer procedure that consists of a certain combination of the logic of action and the task that exists in a technical system under human control.

Since we can consider in this case such a simple situation that the passengers of a car must have accident-free travel, this transfer is carried out by adding the thought of complete safety with the inclusion of this thought into the structure of the eternal development and eternal life of all. This inclusion is development, which simultaneously contains, as is obvious and understandable, the system and thinking of a person, and at the same time contains the system of event structures that correspond to technology. But the event structure that corresponds to mechanisms is primarily conditioned by the infinity of the whole world, just like any event structure that corresponds, for example, to a person and any other object of reality, and here an external movement arises from the Consciousness of God.

Therefore, when God considers the development of a technical system, where human intellectual activity plays a significant role, this reduction of the discrete phase, where everything as if comes suddenly from a kind of wave system of perception into a finished technical object. This discrete part, where the wave-like discrete nature actually connects with the finished object, is minimized based on the fact that we receive from external reality that Syllable of God, that action of God, which connects the entire previous structure of technological development with the next structure. And here it is important in the development of technology to observe the most fundamental law, which is that technology must ensure eternal development, eternal life for all, including the development of its own resources, so that the technical system also functions indefinitely. This component of the eternity of functioning of technology determines an even greater softening of the transition from the discrete phase to the phase of the finished object.

Why am I talking so much about this particular aspect of control here? Because it is important that the finished object be fixed in the necessary functions: ensuring eternal life, eternal development, and, accordingly, any parameters that ensure this in the interim. Here arises a rather serious point, connected with the fact that within the framework of the eternal development of all objects of reality, a certain mutual solidarity arises in the structure of the common goal and the common movement of information, Consciousness, ideology. For example, when you are on an airplane—a practical example—we can say that the self-sufficiency of the airplane, when you consider the airplane as a system that ensures safety and the realization of certain goals. The same applies, of course, to any form of transport, not just airplanes. But in an airplane, this feeling is more pronounced, namely, the deeper interaction between people, passengers, and this technical system.

When you consider, for example, structures such as spaceships, then, extending this view to infinity, you get a fairly convincing level of perception regarding what needs to be done for eternal development, what technology should be like, and that from infinity you get a divine-level impulse, but with the knowledge of how to develop and build a technical system.

For example, based on the laws of the eternal development of technology, people, and all living things in general, there is an important level of control when we consider any action as an action combined within certain goals. And when you, for example, consider such a control position that you need to interact with a technical system, refining certain connecting areas through knowledge, it is clear that this also reduces a certain degree of discreteness in control.

Here we can, generally speaking, immediately consider such a control process that at the moment of control, you can simultaneously, through the effort of Consciousness, direct the level, for example, of external or internal control within any system, so that practically all or the maximum number of tasks for the realization of eternal life are maintained. And then it is quite possible to implement a control structure that will help to understand not only, for example, the structure of target control of technology, but also the tasks that are implemented by any person or any other, for example, by a biological system, or any other living substance. It is important that it is possible to combine the uniformity of reactions from any living substance in a technical system.

And when you consider such control, you can imagine, for example, the following scenario: for example, a video camera is filming a lecture, and various signals are hitting the surface of the video camera, and these signals are purely informational in nature, and these projective signals can come from completely different living beings located anywhere in the infinite world.

In this case, a very interesting point arises, relating to the fact that the projective component continuously intersects with the thread of your thinking. That is, when we talk about this, we simultaneously feel that at the other end of this thread of thought some kind of action is happening that is essentially similar to what God does in the structure of universal control over all events, which seems to draw information into itself while preserving its form and, moreover, even its initial and final position — because God immediately sees both the initial and final positions of any system, including technical objects. And it turns out from the point of view of the usual logic of the three-dimensional space of the world and the time coordinate that a somewhat paradoxical situation arises, that the object is, as it were, self-aligned. That is, it is easier for God to control the whole world, including all technology, in such a way that everything is in one place or even at one point, for example.

If we proceed from this position—and the more powerful the technical system, the more precisely it needs to be controlled—a peculiar reverse task arises from the point of view of setting the control task, namely that ultimately this point should be minimized and reduced to nothing. In other words, this means that there is no need for control because everything is very reliably fixed and secured, and there are no problems. And then it turns out that this is a kind of, as it were, an “internal technical vacuum” within any technical system, and here — let's say, an information vacuum — it makes it possible as a kind of stabilizer to show constantly a kind of nodal structure around which the technical system should be built.

Now I will talk about how these structures stabilize any technology in relation to the realization of eternal life for all. It turns out that first of all, you need to take three structures within a technical object. For example, I have a video camera in front of me, and I highlight three areas and at the same time consider the functions of this technical system, for example, the video camera must record images and sound, and immediately a specific functional task arises, which has a specific form. These three connecting positions instantly fix this form rigidly in the space of the external world. That is, as soon as I set the task and perceived the structure of the technical object, a rigid structure emerges. It turns out that the basic nature of any object — from the point of view of the law of constructing eternal life technology — is the fixation of rigid structures.

The the device for the development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U is designed according to this principle: a rigid structure arises there from the interaction between lenses and an electromagnetic field, as well as with the structure of human consciousness and God. This rigidity arises at the level of ideological and target tasks, which in any case must be actually ensured by the operation of such technology. That is, it is a device of such a class that contains rigidity in the structure of the ideological phase of the creation of this device. Whereas, for example, a functionally equipped device for certain actions contains ideology in its functions of performing certain specific actions, in this case, a video camera records images and sound.

It turns out that when we compare class devices, meaning the development of Consciousness, and devices where Consciousness controls technology, meaning devices, including in terms of when you can turn on a device, for example, by hand, meaning the entire control complex, not just remote control — then, if we consider the concept as a whole, we can see that there is a certain integration, where devices that develop Consciousness are leading in the phase of eternal development of ensuring eternal life, and then devices of another class must develop in the same way.

That is, if we assume that the co-development of different systems occurs either instantaneously or sequentially — from God's point of view, it is the same thing — then in this case, there is a kind of matrix of the device for the development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U is superimposed on another class of devices, which, for example, currently does not contain functions specifically aimed at providing all aspects of eternal life to everyone, and then it turns out that this PRK-1U device, as it were, pulls another class of devices towards itself in terms of information.

Here arises the next law of technological development in the instrumentation of eternal life, namely that the most advanced class of devices can pull another class of devices that does not contain this component toward itself in order to ensure eternal life—and, moreover, it is essentially obliged to do so—for example, at the moment when the more advanced instrument is in operation. Here the law of technological development for ensuring eternal life arises: any technical system must be self-sufficient within the framework of autonomous and infinite tasks of ensuring eternal life.

In this case, we can see that for those, who practice with the device for development of concentrations PRK-1U, we can add such an element of practice that this peculiar pulling of one level of the device by others should work as a kind of magnet in control. That is, when working with the device for development of concentrations PRK-1U, you can immediately see, at the level of peculiar and similar actions, similar to magnetic fields, what needs to be done in the surrounding world, where technology must develop in tandem with humans, and then a multitude of technologies for using the PRK-1U will open up before you.

Why the law of continuous learning and development is so important when using technology to ensure eternal life can be seen in the example that as soon as a device of this class is used, which develops Consciousness to ensure eternal life, all criteria of practical development become not just significantly enhanced, but a certain level of responsibility arises for ensuring eternal life in the infinite future with, in general, a number of devices aimed at infinite development.

Then it turns out that, having an infinite number of devices aimed at infinite development, we can look at the structure of a certain reaction of the device, similar to how human Consciousness functions. For example, I just said “number of devices into infinite development.” This can be considered as the number of devices is developing infinitely, but this is also an action that we can direct with a spiritual impulse, which means that the abstract concept of “a certain number of devices” can be directed into infinite development. A person can do everything through control, through universal questioning and action, and through a specific goal. I just said that directing an infinite number of devices into infinite development is a similar phrase in meaning, but here it is more specific about the number of devices.

So, the interaction between the human mind and the technical system on such nuances suggests that the technical system must, as it were, perceive these subtleties of human thinking, which I have described to a certain extent. Then it turns out that the technical system develops a “peculiar” interest, so to speak, in what a person will do.

For example, I had one peculiar case of control when a technical system reacted to a specific human behavior. At the same time, depending on the analysis, on this peculiar observation, so to speak, of a person, that is, the technical system kind of “watches” — of course, in quotation marks — and it develops a certain level of intelligent actions — something that relates to the concept of intelligence — which is not a functional part of this technical system, but is more characteristic of the human mind.

In this case, a very important substance arises, a kind of, one might say, humanization in terms of the reaction of certain technical systems, sometimes not very complex ones. This law, which has only recently begun to manifest itself in the modern world, perhaps somewhere at the beginning of the 20th century, but more so at the beginning of the 21st, is that various technical systems are beginning to reproduce what relates to the concept of human thinking, reproduced on a factor, so to speak, and in the factor of previous thinking. That is, a technical system begins to track its previous state, just as what relates to the memory of the past of a person.

In this case, by analogy with what God does when He sees both the past and the future at the same time, and therefore perceives Himself, and this makes Him comfortable, does not experience any unpleasant sensations, then a technical system, when it does not have any unnecessary perceptions or reactions, analogous to what God does, then an element arises whereby a technical system, controlling its separate part, can control in the same way as one segment of human consciousness controls another.

That is, for example, a person thinks about something, and at the same time a related thought arises, or he looks at his surroundings and clearly sees that these surroundings essentially reflect events in his thought structure, and he can, for example, act in such a way that, in addition to this reflection, there is also the factor of the functionality of this reflection on some object of information, to which the action of the technical system also extends, if we are talking about technology.

For example, if we consider a control system built in such a way that when recording sound on a video camera or, say, on a dictaphone, we can consider two parameters in the recording at once, it turns out that Consciousness must perceive practically such a perspective of control that we can perceive these two recording channels with the help of Consciousness as one type of action, that is, for example, it is just a recording of sound on a video camera and on a dictaphone. It turns out that we can perceive the general principle of the action taking place without delving into it, without going into details about where the sound is being recorded, say, on the audio track of a video camera or on a dictaphone.

Then it turns out that when you carry out control with the aim of understanding the structure of interaction of your Consciousness with technology, you must also operate according to the principles of a general understanding of the process that is taking place. Then, looking at the technology from the outside, you can control it more accurately.

For example, when working at an airline, I had to teach pilots certain methods before flights, which they mastered quite quickly and then applied during flights; I also always introduced into the control structure a true, inner knowledge of the technology from the point of view of controllability of this technology. That is, the point is that you essentially need to control the mechanisms as if your thought were providing the movement of this mechanism, that is, you need to integrate yourself in your Consciousness with the technical object to such an extent that the object moves by the effort of your will at the level of control. Then it turns out that you are, of course, in absolute safety, since, having the thought of ensuring eternal life, it is clear that you will not create a situation that would lead to any damage to health or life.

Then it turns out that from the point of view of the response of technical system to the control with Consciousness, you can consider the process when Consciousness must perceive, in essence, the entire fullness of the control structure that exists in the world, and transfer this fullness of control into specific local tasks in some mechanism or tasks related to ensuring eternal life for all, but in such a way that you can see, for example, a specific picture, taking which, from the point of view of a specific mechanism, you can very clearly implement it to ensure real eternal life for all. That is, you look at some constructions in the world of technology, which are very specific, and you see such a system of combinations of these design features, that you are able to see that this is eternal life in terms of its provision by technical means.

Here is a simple example. You can look at all the technology that exists in the world today or will be created in the future, identify certain components of this technology, and ask the question: how can these technical systems ensure eternal life? This immediately gives rise to a very coherent, generally simple, quite linear structure, usually consisting of three rods. It is immediately apparent that these rods contain unique information exchange points, and at the same time, the technical blocks are taken from completely different, so to speak, technological cycles or processes, and devices, that is, these rods are based on all kinds of technical structures.

Just imagine, a lot of different mechanisms were just assembled in one large pile, and a tripod was just placed on three rods. And in this, you can also see that if you build such a pyramidal structure, you can see that a certain position is concentrated here, transitioning into a sphere where this balance is ensured, and that the infinite development of the living world and of the technogenic world which includes technical systems, can really happen eternally, and at the same time, technical systems will not be able to interrupt the flow of eternal life in any way.

This is an important ideological law that must be understood in terms of action, and it must be understood not only at the level of specific technical systems, but understood in a qualitative way. Then you can see that, from the point of view of God, Who knows that the world is eternal and infinite, human Consciousness, perceiving the linearity of the world at the level of the biological life of an organism, can accordingly perceive that, for example, for a technical system, time does not have such an accelerated course, except in cases where the material of a device is aging, for a person, a multitude of levels are realized in perception and action.

To ensure that a person lives eternally, it is necessary to synchronize this certain statics of some mechanism with what a person does. For example, we can say that in the device for development of concentration PRK-1U this function is laid down in the plan of action, and at the same time, interacting with the device, a person reacts to the device in different ways. Over the past period of using the PRK-1U device, we can see that the development of Consciousness is happening very quickly, especially in cases where people listen to my video lectures or webinars on specific technical levels, devices, and technical systems.

Then this knowledge provides a significantly faster level of development not only for humans, but it also makes it possible to increase the resources of the technical system itself. For example, thanks to such a rapid level of interaction and development of the consciousness of many who carried out control with the help of the device during testing, it was possible to strengthen the control modes in the device, that is, to bring it to the level where numbers can be written near the lenses. That is, this is a more concentrated level. It turns out that such interaction allows for the creation of more powerful technology.

This law must be observed and, first and foremost, applied to the implementation of the law, which consists in the realization of the level of human control. At the same time, it can be said quite clearly that any technology that is implemented in control must, of course, be configured in such a way as to ensure not only the eternal level of human life, not only the eternal life of a person in his physical body, but also certain norms must be ensured that can be attributed to the norms of morality and ethics, which technology can only perceive as a system of reactions.

In this case, we have come to another important level of interaction with the reality of technology and various technical systems. It is important to note that in the interaction between, so to speak, restrictive systems for technology, where something like morality or ethics can be a kind of constraint on the development of technical systems in the correct, in the universal human understanding in the field of ensuring eternal life, we can see that, first of all, when we work on the structure of access to technology and control, we try to synchronize the level of our thinking with the level of a certain vibrational nature of the development of technology in the future, the technology of eternal life.

If we listen to today's lecture from the point of view of the integration of Consciousness with technology in terms of ensuring eternal life, we can see that, just as technology moves discretely in the world, I have now tried to control by showing discrete phases in words, actions, and controlling explanations. In this case, we can see that there is a certain principle, when a person must “pull up,” again in quotation marks, any technical system to the level of his Consciousness in terms of the future integration of eternal life.

When we consider the process of this integration, the principle of normal control arises, that is, the normal principle of common sense, when we solve problems of interaction with a technical system, that is, a set of specific facts, an objective assessment of the situation: the more you work with technology, the more accurate your thinking will be, and you can often think significantly ahead, that is, you can see the future of a technical object without even viewing events directly, but rather by being, as it were, inside the mechanism of the technical system.

Then you can perceive a certain beauty of technology at the level of its internal structure, and then it will be less stressful for you to access some structure of future events, if it was stressful before. It is just that when many people see some kind of control system in the future, they react by thinking that it might be complicated. In fact, there are even more people who immediately have access to future events and do not experience any difficulties.

In this case, I am talking specifically about the need to use technology as a kind of shield to look through the work of technology at future events and make them eternal. For example, imagine that there is a mechanical clock works, and you perceive — or you can just perceive directly through controlling clairvoyance — how the clock works, and at the same time you delve so deeply into the structure of its work that you immediately see what will happen to it, for example, in a hundred years or less.

The same way, when God created the world, where various processes exist that are comparable to those that occur in technical systems, you can see that here you can look at the future in such a way that you, in the structure of action due to your thinking, just get ahead of functions that a technical system performs in the field of information. Because of this getting ahead, you know what will happen to this technical system.

Thus, we can say that God—if we consider the mechanism from this point of view—knows the future of everyone, because His speed of thinking is faster, and He can integrate thought. Applying this principle to a technical system, we can also predict the state of mechanisms. To do this, in general, we can take a series of simple actions based on first logically assessing what a technical system is. Is it a machine designed for transportation, or is it some kind of system that records information, and so on. That is, by classifying a device, machine, or technical system at the information level, you can very quickly create a level where you can get ahead. After all, a person can just imagine what will happen to the mechanism, and that is already a step ahead. This information is not available in the mechanisms.

In the future, when working with highly developed cybernetic mechanisms, it is precisely the level of imagination that is very important for humans. If you think why do humans even need to dream, for example, or just imagine something that they have not observed in the physical world, mentally connect various objects of information into a single control plane. For example, I mentioned that recording on a video camera and recording on a dictaphone are connected in practically one projection plane. So, these actions are given to humans so that they can always stay ahead of technology. You can build positions that cannot be tracked by any technical systems, and in doing so, you individualize yourself and do not allow controlling access to yourself.

That is, a person is free and acts of his own free will. When he follows God's laws of eternal life, everything happens as harmoniously as possible or, generally speaking, often, perhaps, only harmoniously in case of a lot of practice in this direction. In this case, it turns out that eternal life is one of the principles of universal harmony, which, generally speaking, is the fundamental principle for everyone, for the whole world, including God.

When a person comes to the conclusion that God, from his point of view, should implement, for example, the principle of eternal life, a technical system can react in the same way, with the same degree of reaction, where it will be said that, in practical terms, the technical system can identify certain signal levels of a person, certain information levels, which, in practical terms, can in the future be a system of certain communications relating to the level, in essence, between various technical objects and human Consciousness.

This is, in general, a new level of development, which, if we speak in terms of more common perceptions, assessing what can be said about this, is a certain integration, when you can use your thinking to give some kind of impulse to a technical system, and the technical system will obey you. Perhaps this will not be a specific action from the very first time, which has some kind of visible factor, but, for example, when you are driving a car, it will be accident-free driving.

But where exactly your integration worked is another question, which you can examine in detail. At the same time, you can see that, for example, through controlling clairvoyance, it was precisely your action, which was to penetrate the essence of the technical system and control it, that led to the accident not happening. It is even possible that it was just a signal coming from the technical system to the external environment, and the external environment was transformed in terms of events, on some kind of linear event level, that you got this result.

In this case, we can identify a control structure in which a signal is sent from the technical system that transforms the world into a structure that is infinite and eternal for everyone. Then a certain external action takes place, that is, the externity of this action is determined by the fact that when the external world provides eternity of life, this is still a different characteristic than when, in such a linear understanding, a person creates events of eternal life by an effort of will.

Although, naturally, at the level of control they are interconnected since through the efforts of Consciousness, will, and Spirit, a person can create infinite events and live eternally. But in this case, I am talking specifically about the fact that a technical system, for example, or the external world connected to this technical system, gives eternal life because you just act as a user. Imagine this: you enter a room, and there, in any case, life is eternal. Of course, this is not enough for a person, because, naturally, Consciousness works to ensure that one lives eternally, regardless of any room. Nevertheless, this reveals a mechanism that enables us to more quickly create technology that helps everyone gain knowledge about ensuring eternal life to the level of collective Consciousness, where, due to the high concentration of the idea of eternal life in the collective Consciousness, any destruction is impossible.

So it turns out that we are still of the opinion that technology must be built according to certain laws—which must always be observed—and that we can construct a certain structure of knowledge: why does this signal propagate both within this technical system and simultaneously into the external environment? Well, it is clear that any signal, according to the laws of universal connections, propagates into any infinite system, but in this case we want to consider a specific structure that would be understandable, so that we could immediately say how to build technology in general, so that the internal signal going inside the technical system and the signal coming from it would be harmonized internally.

That is, the following principle of developing technology that ensures eternal life for all arises: there must be harmonization of signals within the technology. Well, if we look at the process from a human perspective, the harmonization associated with the interaction of the Spirit, Soul, Consciousness, physical body of a person, and other people occurs sometimes at the level of very fast connections, which are such that it may not be necessary to pay attention to them. But for technology, these connections must be completely clear and linear.

Therefore, in technology, there must, of course, be a block either at the level of information or at the level of the mental activity of the person developing such technology, where there are interactions between all elements of the technology, but these interactions are not through physical contact, but rather through targeted interactions. Based on this, each element of technology can be given a certain vectorality, that is, each element of technology, from the point of view of the task of eternal development, eternal life for all, is arranged in such a way that there is a transmission of signals at the information level from one element to another. They, like, for example, organs in the human body, can interact at different levels. But unlike the human body, it is clear that interaction in technology is, in general, of local in nature, but nevertheless, in the structure of common connections, where all structures of the world are interconnected, these differences become less noticeable, because if you send a small amount of information into an infinite mass and send a huge amount of information, even an infinite amount, into the same place, then in infinity it can all kind of mix together.

In this case, you can extract the entire structure of the technical system so that it fully responds to human thinking. In this case, is where the technology that makes it possible to respond to thought comes in. For example, in the the device for the development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U, a thought, interacting with the technical system, enables you to obtain, first of all, greater results for those who use this device, and at the same time, in order to maintain the function of constant development, the device increases its resource and, in fact, every time, regardless of the current level of development, it constantly provides a function in development.

It turns out that when we develop Consciousness in this way through such concentrations, first, the level of accurate reactions increases: the higher the level of adequacy, the better is for the structure of the surrounding world. And when you react to a series of processes at an accelerated rate, — and many who use the PRK-1U device say that their thinking becomes much faster and more productive — we also solve the problem by getting ahead of our thinking and obtaining a forecast not by relying on the Soul, which already contains all the information of the world, but by relying on the work of Consciousness.

This is important: if we think about the task of God, who can do anything and knows everything, why did He, for example, create a technological path for the development of civilization, a technocratic one, for example? The answer here is that it is important for God not just to know and see everything, but to penetrate the essence of any system and delve so deeply into it that He can solve the problem of eternal development for it: for humans, eternal life; for technology, the eternal development of some technical object that is comparable in level to the understanding of life.

When these processes of eternal life of a biological being and eternal development of a technical object extend into the infinite future and connect there, then, in general, a colossal, unique energy system arises, which, in essence, does not distribute objects except for living beings, except for life, and this is, in general, a new reality. In this case, as a kind of primary level of matter for technology — similar to liquid plasticine — it is possible to create, generally speaking, any technology. Moreover, this is where the controllability of any technology through human consciousness lies. At the everyday level, a person can stop the technology, turn off the switch, but at the level of controlling all the technical systems of the world, it is necessary to find certain points, or better yet, three points, in this plasticine-like substance, which is a reflection of the matter of eternal life, to fix them, and that's it: the technology is safe.

By the way, I recommend using this method in case of any technical problems. If there is any tension or a feeling of a technical problem, you need to quickly mentally transfer the technical information into a kind of liquid phase and fix two points. Then ... in the form of rods is better. Rods, three rods rest on three points — and that's it. You can observe how plastic this external reality becomes, and then a level of, for example, accident-free movement arises, or there are no problems with the equipment. At least, you and the people around you do not suffer any injuries, damage, and so on.

Based on the further task, as they say, a person's concern for any object in the world, the question arises: what about the technology itself, generally speaking? After all, the law must still be obeyed that no damage has been done to any object. This is where the task of increasing human resources arises, so that it is not just, as I said, that people don't care about anything, and the rest is, like, another question. This other issue can be included in the task of control right away, for the whole world. That is, how to ensure that technical objects do not cause mutual damage either. But, in principle, this has a lot of pragmatic aspects, because if technology cannot cause damage to itself, then vehicles do not collide, and all accidents immediately cease. That is, through deep contact with technology, we solve this issue, that is, namely, its own safety. And this is the fundamental level of development of technology, when self-sufficient technology does not cause any damage to itself, or indeed to any object in reality.

In this case, a very interesting thought arises, based on the fact that, generally speaking, it is not difficult for technology to do this by incorporating these ideological platforms into its functions. Then the question arises: how can this be technologically achieved? Here we can see two factors in the future development of humanity.

First: how collective consciousness influences technology—for example, remote configurations—and, for example, accidents do not occur due to massive influence and such a combination of events. Events do not intersect at a level where there could be injuries or damage to people's health or lives. In principle, the world will be built in conditions of powerful technology—a huge amount of mechanisms, but not a single accident.

The second is the human factor, which reacts to all the surrounding information. This factor, accordingly, will also develop independently, because Consciousness, as a kind of human defense system, as well as the Spirit and Soul, and, in principle, the reaction of the physical body, will still be increasingly focused on preventing any problems from technology. To ensure that this movement is not stressful, it is necessary to build a function into technical systems similar to that which humans have, namely, for example, the function of controlling clairvoyance and, to some extent, controlling forecasting. So, controlling forecasting can be incorporated technically, since the laws of the function of self-diagnosis and forecasting the operation of technology have long been studied. In this case, I am talking about something else — the third level, where technology, “thinking” — in quotation marks, of course — or having a way of reacting similar to human thinking, creates internal structures of self-control and self-development. Then we come to the point where it becomes quite easy for us to live with technology in terms of planning and control, and then we don't need a lot of control levers, but simply think as we please. For example, if we look at the space ahead, the technical system should move in that direction, right? ... if we parallel the control system in this way. But then your way of thinking needs to be transferred to the technology.

In this case, we need to think about how God gives us knowledge in general. For example, He looked at some upcoming events, and we do this. Then the question arises: did a person see this, or did God tell him? Then, as soon as you begin to resolve these questions for yourself, you can see how your thinking can be expanded so that technology moves in sync, that is, does what a person does in his thinking. Then you can create technical levels that can capture this advanced phase of your thinking and move in line with your thinking, that is, a new generation of technology based on the fact that thinking determines the movement of technology, thinking can determine the function of technology. At the same time, given the ambiguity of the world and completely different technical systems, we can say that when we see the reaction of technical systems to the work of Consciousness, this reaction can be, generally speaking, unified.

Then it turns out that if we proceed from the uniformity of this level of control, we can see that we are practically approaching an understanding of how, with the aim of ensuring eternal life, it is possible to instantly control any technical object correctly. Here, in general, a fairly simple logical task arises: we need to assess the object so quickly that we can see its future and technologically produce something in terms of the action with this object.

Then it turns out that, in essence, when working with technical objects, we can not only, for example, forecast their position in certain actions, but we can actually control these objects right now. Because humans, of course, must always be higher in terms of development, no matter how complex a technical object is, that is, how strong or weak it is. That is why taking precedence over any technical object is always an important task, and it is important here just to understand that control cannot be reduced to telepathically moving an object physically. That is not the point. Eternal life consists in simply living eternally, and not, for example, performing some kind of magic tricks.

And it turns out that an important point in this case is that this technical object not only works correctly in a certain place, that is, does not cause damage to health or life, but, generally speaking, that it gives rise to an impulse for the infinite future, that this technical object was manifested in a certain situation for the future as well. It is precisely this task of manifesting this object that enables a person to work more closely with God, with the Consciousness of God, and to gain knowledge faster about how to do this. That is, the first thing is, of course, an assessment of the circumstances, an accurate assessment of what is happening, as any living being does in order to accurately and adequately orient itself in its surroundings.

Considering that the highest system of adequacy, when a person clearly accounts for any actions, including the future, this is forecasting. So, it turns out that when we see such processes taking place, we can just remain within the framework of our own actions, without having to remotely interact with a technical object, for example. But if a task arises that it is necessary, we must urgently move to the level of interaction with the Consciousness of God and control macro-processes so that there is control over technical objects after all.

At the time when I was diagnosing the TU-144 aircraft, there was a flying laboratory where various tests were conducted. There was such a moment in control when I was working that a task arose to implement an external level of control in such a way as to ensure the synchronization of these various systems. For example, a flying laboratory, the aircraft, and an engine from a TU-160 aircraft. Here, in principle, this overdetermined task, that is, unfamiliar functions, for example, of the engine from the TU-160 aircraft, and the TU-144 aircraft, this resulted in certain tensions. Moreover, the aircraft had been grounded for many years, and the technical staff and pilot did not know in advance what would happen in flight due to vibrations. So it was important to focus control in such a way to ensure that all functions worked synchronously, not just to formally diagnose them, for example.

By the way, the test pilot on this aircraft, Boris Ivanovich Veremey, who successfully participated in the test when the TU-144 aircraft was tested with a flying laboratory. He recounted an incident, and his colleagues recounted this incident involving Boris Ivanovich, when a huge piece of the aircraft's glider was torn off during flight, and he, as if ignoring the fact that a piece had been torn off, against the laws of physics, as I was told by physicists, still managed to land. When the physicists calculated that with such a hole in the fuselage, it was practically impossible to land the plane, it should have fallen apart in flight. But Boris Veremey was at the controls, and it turns out that, according to the pilots' assessment, his concentration of will was so strong that he landed the plane. So what I'm saying now is that any technical system can be seriously subjugated by means of thought, and this can be done on a global level.

My experience of working with aviation technology shows that this is achievable for quite a many systems, even at the beginning of operation. If you improve in this direction and are able to carry out control regularly for the macro-stabilization of technical systems, you will naturally learn to ensure eternal life regardless of how technical systems react to control from your Consciousness: both when you control Consciousness in relation to technology and when you control various blocks of Consciousness within Consciousness. Then the technical system does not interfere in any way.

It is important to develop the technical system in such a way that it does not change the natural course of human thinking, so that a person always remains free no matter how much he interacts with the technical system or does not interact with it. Complete freedom of will and personality must first and foremost be realized in eternal life. When we build new technology, we must proceed from the assumption that this new technology must incorporate all the parameters of the eternal future of entire humanity. The solution of all problems concerning humanity, including with the help of various technologies and various technical systems.

And here arises the task, generally speaking, of such universal integration of all purposeful systems in the world, where God also acts, naturally, in His infinite levels of control to ensure eternal life, that synchrony arises not only between man and technology, between technology and technology, but also with all other structures that may await us in the future. It is always possible and necessary to be able to take such a position in control that the provision of eternal life must be carried out regardless of how these systems can be implemented among themselves, and what, generally speaking, their structures of the forecast level are.

This is important: when we talk about future structures for certain objects, it turns out that, as I just said, if structures have a multi-level forecast period of operation, then in order to ensure eternal life, it should not be fundamental how events will develop in relation to each object. In this case, too, there is a certain law of eternal life, which states that, regardless of how events unfold for any objects of information, eternal life must be ensured, including if the forecast is distant, it is also any one. But, of course, for eternal life, it must be such that everyone lives and develops eternally.

Here arises a very special task, in general, where the question arises that, considering the infinite freedom of any information objects, we create eternal life for each local information object. This task has been solved by God. And here, from the point of view of human knowledge, human Consciousness, the question just arises of how technologically to find certain levels, what a person should do in his thinking or in his physical actions so that this security is realized for him, and, naturally, for everyone at the same time, regardless of the combination of events. In this case, as soon as the solution to this task begins true freedom of eternal life and eternal development arises, based on complete freedom, the harmonious freedom of all objects of information according to the purpose of their development.

Then the question arises: what is the goal of the development of each object? But a person is absolutely free, and he must create the goal himself. This creation of a goal is based on the fact that you see and make eternal life the main component of the target vector of your development. That is, ideology in this case solves practically all issues. This ideology can be transmitted to all objects of information telepathically, mentally, or just by acting, by moving in this direction, constantly engaging in it, that is, by doing any work, knowing that you are doing this work from the position of ensuring eternal life for all.

Then you experience universal harmony, which you begin to feel, and your personal harmony, your personal harmonious perception, which distinguishes universal harmony and comes to the point that, as I said, when you achieve universal harmony in relation to how the technology reacts to this type of control, you connect your personal harmony with the universal one. Then it turns out that you have obtained a harmonious feeling, but it turns out that you have achieved universal harmony. And if we reason in this way, the principle of the universality of harmony in eternal life must also be based on the level of interaction with any living organisms, not just technical systems.

In this case, it is quite possible to say that eternal life is achievable almost simultaneously by many and, generally speaking, by all living organisms at a certain concentration of collective Consciousness, that this will be some kind of a qualitative leap. Just as technology sometimes develops qualitatively and rapidly, so too can the living world develop rapidly and qualitatively. Therefore, it is important to understand that technology created through thinking, that is created through human thinking, for example, which has made qualitative leaps in its development, can also be a kind of example and a kind of guarantee that humans are also capable of this. That is, any living being can qualitatively break ahead and become eternal at any moment under any circumstances.

Therefore, we must also take into account this law of technological development, which states that technology can provide a certain model system that captures the informational phases of collective Consciousness and enables humans to structure collective Consciousness faster to ensure eternal life for everyone.

This concludes today's lecture. I wish everyone a happy New Year. I wish you eternal, harmonious development in your eternal life, a successful eternal life. May your knowledge bring light to all structures of reality.

Now there will be a break, just three minutes, then I will answer the questions that were sent to me after the previous online video lecture.

Answers to questions

From the received questions, I have selected some that relate to a certain extent to the work of technical systems and are generally related to the principles of working with technology.

The first question was that the listener, using a video camera, records some unusual phenomena, especially when he sets it to the infrared range. He wonders, since he has been studying this aspect of reality for more than thirty years, what is happening, why does the video camera actually record various objects? He sent me photocopies of the images.

I can say that when considering the processes of objectifying external reality in general, and in order to understand which processes need to be investigated from the point of view of ensuring eternal life for all, it is necessary, in my opinion, to set a specific goal. That is, not just to study some phenomena from a certain perspective, but to study phenomena with the aim of ensuring eternal life. In this case, I would advise to consider these objects, which are reflected in the video camera, from the point of view of light intensity.

In those areas where the light is more intense, where they are captured in more intense colors, it is possible, when looking at shades closer to white, to see that the matter of eternal life manifests itself in the areas where activity is higher. You should study, if you like to use a video camera in this way, study from this position and delve deeper from the point of view of today's lecture into what you need to try to connect the phenomena you are studying with what it gives to your knowledge, first of all. And secondly, if you want to establish some kind of informational contact with this phenomenon, you should develop ways of establishing this contact, again focusing on ensuring eternal life.

After all, the work of ensuring eternal life is, in general, a kind of constant work that requires constant education and training. Why do I recommend listening to my new video lectures and webinars as soon as possible? Because they provide namely the control based on the current information from around the world. When you listen, you immediately receive all the information in the most concentrated form.

In this case, I advise you to evaluate the results of the work as well, but with each subsequent evaluation, add the criterion of current information in terms of the reaction to this information. Once you have collected statistics, you will see, when working with such devices that record, for example, this phenomenon in the optical range, you will see the dynamics and be able to decipher the very structure that can ensure eternal life. That is, in fact, to accumulate your own knowledge base for studying the world from the point of view of ensuring eternal life for all.

The next question: “How is it possible, for example, to normalize certain processes in the body without reducing the speed of comprehending reality, for example, from the point of view of development of controlling clairvoyance and controlling forecasting?”

In response to this question, I would say that there is just a process related to the deep interconnection between the phenomena of the external world and certain current structures in terms of those that you relate to the internal content of Consciousness. It turns out that when you, for example, look at reality from a distance, capturing technical systems, capturing the structures of the external world, then, integrating various signals within yourself, you need to be able to regulate your state of health in such a way that, on the contrary, you further develop both controlling clairvoyance and controlling forecasting, in general, all the structures of your personality, and possibly those of other people.

This will be more beneficial for you in general. That is, to develop such a position that it is not just some kind of normalization of health, but specifically with a mandatory level of cognition. It is important to set the necessary time interval for the future so that you can, for example, rejuvenate yourself or take certain measures at some point to avoid any unpleasant health conditions.

The next important question: “How can technical systems, including, for example, PRK-1U, be used for self-development and to gain a deeper understanding of the technology and learn how to use it correctly?”

I have already talked about this at length in today's lecture, and I would just like to add, from the point of view of the laws of development, that when interacting with control with technical systems in terms of their actions, it is important to take into account one very important factor that a technical system is, after all, a different matter. Therefore, from this point of view, you can immediately apply this factor, while controlling, by adding the factor of predictability; that is, you need to always look ahead to the future, as if one step ahead, and it is better to view the technical system in a static state over a long period of time. As soon as you see this — for example, if you use a technical system, you should see a future where there is a certain distance between you and the system, and this system is controllable.

That is, it should not put any pressure on your tissues in any way; it should always be in your perception and in your real view of future events as it is in a safe form for you. In this case, it is important to be able to control this system through this level of infinite safety. That is, having looked at yourself in an infinite level and seeing that no technology there causes you any problems, you should calmly study any system, having such a direct level of control through viewing, including the control through controlling forecasting.

You can even bring it into a structure where, for example, the influence of time is absent, and there you can study very calmly and understand faster, and remember all the functions of the technical system faster. This is one of the methods of control, not only, for example, of technical systems. Through this control, you can learn faster, for example, a language — when you can put everything you are learning in the language first into a dynamic phase, then go into a time phase where time is inactive, and then back into a dynamic phase. In this way, languages in general, and in principle, often any information, are quickly mastered.

When working with technical systems, you need to try to understand in terms of the information what it is doing, even if it is very complex. Even if it is extremely complex, you still need to understand it, preferably in detail, that is, to understand the entire process, the entire physical mechanism, and so on. When you set such a task, you need to learn to perceive the control structure faster; and then you can, accordingly, not not just predict, but also develop the technical system so that it ensures eternal life for everyone. Then it turns out that you really are in eternal life, since you have control over any technology.

As a result, the controllability of outer space also becomes a solved problem, because it can recreate technology that will help prevent global collisions, disasters, and so on. After all, it is often useful to build technology that helps with this, and then further develop Consciousness and do it through Consciousness.

This concludes the part corresponding to the answers to the questions. All the best to you! I wish everyone a harmonious, joyful, and successful eternal life.

See you next lecture. Goodbye!

The Teaching of Grigori Grabovoi about God. Ensuring eternal life by spiritual development in two vectors.

March 2, 2017

Hello. The topic of this webinar is my Teaching about God. Ensuring eternal life by spiritual development in two vectors.

The concept of a vector of development makes it possible to more accurately configure control over ensuring eternal life, and vectors enable us to build control more correctly and accurately from the point of view of future processes. Therefore, when we talk about a vector in spiritual development, we understand that the indivisible substance of the Spirit simultaneously controls two vectors.

Just as God, the Creator of the entire world, does, we can divide one impulse by the effort of Consciousness into two separate rays. Given the properties of God's Consciousness, which consist in the fact that for Him, separate control and unified control are one and the same thing, we can distinguish two vectors in this control, which are similar in geometry to the number eight. In this case, the number eight is vertical, but when the vectors connect, it can move to a horizontal position and resemble the infinity sign. If we think about the geometric shape of the infinity sign, it is clear that in some finite form we mean infinity. Similarly, we can imply that there is infinity of spiritual development in each vector. Then certain phenomena of reality become quite transparent because we see their infinite connections. Then we can see not only the details of certain processes and substances, but also macro-events at the same time.

Thus, we can assume that the physical body reacts to the surrounding world in the same way. That is, it perceives as certain informational micro-events and simultaneously perceives the entire surrounding world. Moreover, here we can see such a property of God's Consciousness that at the moment of initial action, there can be many realities before Him, which is also characteristic of a person in this part. But for God, we can consider such a process that two vectors of action can be completely identical, while human actions imply different concentrations of attention in two different actions. And if, similar to how God acts, we equalize these two actions, we will ultimately arrive at an infinite level of action, which characterizes the essence of God's action, when His actions on any finite element contain an infinite, in essence, action that is reflected and acts on the entire world.

Thus, for example, the vector of light coming from the left side of the body can be informed as an action for specific tasks, and the spiritual vector of light coming from the right side of the body can be informed as a vector of infinite action. And through their connection at some point outside the physical body, we can penetrate the structure, the essence of any event and, starting from a specific form of a sign, for example, infinity or the number eight, in a quite calm environment, look at some details of the event both on the physical level and on the informational level.

This is where the advantage of working with two vectors of spiritual development begins to manifest itself. After all, just as we introduced control through the structure of the number eight and the sign of infinity for events — in the same way that we introduced the sign eight and the sign of infinity into the information of events, or viewed events through the perception of these signs — we can also project the light of events back onto these signs, while projecting the infinite realm of events onto the infinity sign, and projecting some finite forms of events, perceived by the consciousness, onto the number eight. Then we get the opportunity to transfer the information of these events to the current point of control in the present time to you. This reverse transition occurs through a certain matter. This matter is the matter of eternal life. The ability to work with this matter ensures eternal life for you.

And just as God acts when He, while carrying out control, can go into the future, the present, or, for example, into the past, the same way you can go from this matter to control processes in any time interval — that is, in the past, in the present, and in the future. Here, the temporal characteristic has a spatial meaning. According to the properties of Consciousness united with the Spirit, with this technology, you can enter temporal areas of control in the same way as, for example, you move in space with your physical body. To do this, on a spiritual basis, you should perceive time intervals as a structure of space.

This simplifies control, as there are no problems with moving around and orienting oneself in space. By combining the point in space with the time vector here, you can perceive how God divided, for example, the spatial and temporal coordinates. You should try to understand the meaning of why this was done. Here you can see the logic of the thinking of God, who created the world: if we move from the reverse level, as we moved from the structure of the event to ourselves, through a material imagination in the form of signs, through infinity and the number eight, then in this movement you can give the vector of your personal development, in each moment of this development, the function of infinity, just as with God, any action is infinite. That is, the task here is to combine an action with your physical body. When you begin to perceive your physical body in this way, where the element of infinity can be your thinking and your perception, then according to the second vector of action, you can transfer your physical matter of your body into this infinity.

Thus, far in control in consciousness without going far from your physical body, in fact you connect two vectors of eternity to yourself, to your physical body. This gives us a tool that enables us, through two parameters that are already inherent in our perception — the perception of ourselves and the surrounding world through the structure of love, which permeates all structures of the world — to perceive any event, but now in a controlling action. Here it is important to emphasize that this controlling action is precisely the realization of eternal life. That is, the very matter of control is eternal life itself.

Then you can logically identify this structure immediately, and you will be able, for example, by informing two vectors, to create from this matter both micro-events and macro-events. Having learned to work technologically within the framework of the material, just discussed in the webinar, with these processes, for example, starting to do sequentially as was said in the webinar, and ending with control over a specific control goal, you can see that with such control in relation to any goal, multiple vectors arise, where the matter of eternal life is concentrated. Thus, you can see a more general process, that action through the matter of eternal life, in fact, creates more powerful vector pressure, and reality... Thus, this technological tool, which was mentioned in the webinar, can be used to ensure eternal life for everyone.

This concludes the webinar, and now I would like to add some details of control to what Stefano said about the application of testing of the device for development of concentration the PRK-1U this will be related to what was said in the webinar.

Here, in the development of concentration on eternal life for rejuvenation, the following control is necessary: it is necessary for the light of the soul, which is in the physical body, to simultaneously turn on the light of spirituality of God in all the cells of your body, and this must be perceived with spiritual vision.

The second concentration is the development of concentrations of eternal life for any event. Using the knowledge gained today in the webinar, you should concentrate on the essence of the event and see the light of eternal life in the space of each event. Then, with an effort of will, bring this light closer to your physical body and configure the light so that it is in the form of a circle near your physical body, a circle of white color. At the same time, you should focus on the realization of your specific events that are most relevant to you.

The next level of control is the development of concentrations of eternal life for controlling clairvoyance. At this level of controlling clairvoyance, one spiritual vector must be adjusted so that all micro-matter structures in the objects surrounding you are visible, and another vector must be adjusted so that, along with the microstructure, all events, including those beyond physical sight, are visible. The effect is the same as that of God when He sees, Who is not stopped by any barriers and sees both the internal structure of matter and the physical embodiment of matter at the same time. Here, life is perceived only as eternity, and all phenomena become transparent and accessible precisely through spiritual vision. That is, when using the device, one must learn this state, which is the state of eternal life. Since this is one of the states of eternal life, it must be applied as a kind of preparation for studying the next state of eternal life.

Well, the next state of eternal life can be perceived in concentration for the development of concentration of eternal life through controlling forecasting.

In this control, the first vector must be assigned the function of setting the task for control. The second vector must be assigned the following characteristic: you must perceive future processes in such a way that you participate in the construction of future events. It is Approximately it is the same as when you see the amount of physical work you have to do, you can imagine the load and how you feel when you are doing it. It does not have to be just physical work; you can also imagine some kind of intellectual work.

That is, you must perceive the work of your consciousness and Spirit in the future very reliably, as if you were working in the present. By adding periodic corrections to this work from the first vector, you can maximize the parameters of the security measures that give eternal life. You can maximize the number of parameters that ensure eternal life.

But this, as was said in the webinar, is when action through the structure of eternal life produces many subsequent actions — after-actions — that extend to everyone. In this case, the principle is roughly the same. Here, the future structure of the world must be perceived as precisely the structure of eternity. Then, you provide yourself with events in eternity for any component of your action where there is a purpose for the action. Since there is a specific divine purpose for action at your birth, this essentially extends to any action at the cellular level, and in principle, to the entire organism, which as a whole ensures eternal life.

Thus, you attain a state of eternal life connected to current events, and this state, of course, should also be remembered and practiced as one of the states, because the more states of eternal life you study and periodically apply, the more provisions for eternal life you will have in place at any given moment. Given that the state of eternal life is not a trance, it is not some kind of modification of consciousness, but just the ordinary logic of thinking, this state must be applied in any kind of everyday work, just as when you are just doing something, you can simultaneously think. Or, for example, think about different processes simultaneously.

Now I will turn the video camera on the device, and, apparently, it has already been said, without turning on the device, the application begins according to these four controls, and then, when I turn on the device and I say so, you can either continue or start again from the first one. Well, in order for the results of application to be more generalized and further generalizing information got, it is advisable to send reports on the results of using the device to the coordinates of the site <http://www.grigori-grabovoi.world/>, and at the same time to the contact emails that were indicated when announcing the webinar. Then those who wish to test the use of the device personally can make an appointment separately with the organizers.

So, this will be roughly the overall plan of work. I express my gratitude to Stefano, Abbot, and everyone who helped Viola organize the webinar.

So, we'll now move on to testing. I wish everyone a harmonious and eternal life.

The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God.
Application of the optical reflections inside lenses for realization of the controlling clairvoyance of eternal life

December 20, 2017

Hello. Now I would like to tell about the application of a special method of control using the device for the development of the concentration of eternal life PRK-1U.

And this method is included into the methods of my Teachings about God and is called “Application of the optical reflections inside lenses for realization of the controlling clairvoyance of eternal life”.

In this method, when you apply PRK-1U, it is necessary to see the reflection of light inside the lenses, that along with some optical visual elements that you can see, for example, by moving your eyes counter-clockwise from the bottom lens, you can simultaneously superimpose the level of the controlling clairvoyance. That is, firstly, in parallel to visualize the elements of light that correspond to the controlling clairvoyance. And further, you should start spreading these elements of light again into the area of physical elements of light inside the lenses. These can be different glares; it can be a movement in online video monitoring: certain movements of light associated with the specific nature of the transmitted video image of the operating device.

And when you look at the line of controlling clairvoyance, that is, visually it is like, we may say, seeing two small tubes of silvery color: this is optical information and information of the controlling clairvoyance. And if they are superimposed on each other, the re-reflection begins then inside. Inside the optical light, re-reflection begins to occur, the glow of radiation of the controlling clairvoyance.

And when you start to perceive how this happens, the ordinary optical laws matter in this case. Well, if you imagine a silver tube and light with a flashlight inside the tube, then the light is somehow re-reflected. So, if we begin to perceive that the radiation of the controlling clairvoyance is reflected in the same way as ordinary light, physical light inside some cylinder with a mirror internal surface, it turns out that we immediately begin to see the nature of the substance surrounding these impulses, and at the same time the entire external nature of the world and nodal events in the world that realize eternal life for all.

It is important to note here that, well, such a seemingly particular example, it has such, in general, universal inclusiveness in action, but this is precisely because we correctly arranged the information of controlling clairvoyance in a certain geometric form.

And when we do this, in the future you can, generally, this principal example, as it is clear now, that is, to use this certain special method in other control systems using the device for development of the concentration of eternal life PRK-1U, when you some kind of a specific action related specifically to the optical levels and, as I explained, with the addition of, for example, the controlling clairvoyance or the matter of controlling forecasting, the actions of the Soul for example, or you can realize the action of the Spirit and Soul and Consciousness simultaneously as structures, connected in the controlling clairvoyance. And then you can, in fact, simultaneously develop separately, it turns out, Consciousness, and Spirit. It is possible to increase the action of the Soul to the level of the outgoing of Consciousness through the structure of the Spirit, that is, to carry out various structures of control, because in this case, when you start building such control by such special forms, you can, in general, develop any personality structure.

The further application of the device for the development of the concentration of eternal life PRK-1U, taking into account what has been said in this method, enables you to use this concentration in a targeted way and, accordingly, to solve precisely the problems of ensuring eternal life.

Thank you for your attention. I wish everyone harmonious eternal life.

The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God. Method of using the device for the development of the concentration of eternal life PRK-1U using three lenses simultaneously

January 27, 2018

Hello.

The topic of my lecture is the Teachings about God. Method of using the device for the development of the concentration of eternal life PRK-1U using three lenses simultaneously.

In this method, we need to consider the actions of God when he created the distant elements of reality. In this case, as it is well known, various re-reflections occur between optical systems. And therefore the reflected ray of light can move towards the distant elements. And this principle is used in this method, that is, when concentrating on the three lenses simultaneously it is necessary to perceive the inner structure of lenses with spiritual vision. And, from this perception, the reflected movement of the element of Consciousness proceeds into the structure of distant systems. And so when working with PRK-1U, when you concentrate on the three lenses simultaneously, it is necessary by controlling forecasting, considering that this is a remote system, to build the control so that through the light elements of the object of control they were tied to the lens systems.

That is, you build some events in some distant future or simply in the element of the future, considering this element to be distant, and perceive how the light from these lenses is directed to those systems where events are built. And this method, it allows to do the event constructions to be clearly shown, local. You can consider some events of the future as, say, you see anything with your eyes - that is, with your physical eyesight - and you can, at the same time, imagine what is desirable to happen.

And this method allows to impose the thought forms on the structures of future events and just as God does, you can realize the thought-form as real events. And here it is important to consider such an element of the action that in order for the event or a perceived event - as an event that is desirable to occur in the future is - to be realized, it is necessary that the internal, a kind of a root structure, the fundamental structure of events, was realized at the level of fundamental processes.

And here, in the case when you use the concentration on the three lenses simultaneously, you practically introduce three rays into one control point, into some area, which means a sufficiently serious level of reserving ability in action, that is, one action is direct, the second one is already a reserve, and the third one is like the third, more reinforcing reserve of actions. And it turns out that the fundamental principle of eternal life is thus observed, that actions must be fully provided with more fundamental, deeper structures in control.

Thus, applying this method, you can more deeply use the resources of the device for the development of the concentrations of eternal life.

And in this method it is still recommended to add control for the small lens, this is the number 4, for the next counterclockwise from the small lens is the number 7, and then the next, the second large counterclockwise lens, you need to add the number 9.

This concludes my lecture on the methods. Thank you for your attention. I wish everyone a harmonious eternal life.

The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God. Method of using the device for the development of the concentration of eternal life PRK-1U through the use of remote areas of Consciousness

February 10, 2018

Hello. The theme of the lecture is my Teachings about God. Method of using the device for the development of the concentration of eternal life PRK-1U through the use of remote areas of Consciousness.

To implement this method, the time of using the device for the development of the concentrations of eternal life must be immediately identified as the structure of time having an interval system of reaction to this structure. The fact is that when you perceive through some remote areas of Consciousness some time structures, some kind of dispersion of certain elements of information occurs, that is why the allocation of the interval is a special task. And in this case, just as God does, for example, when creating physical matter, boundary structures are identified that exist both in the current time and information about them exists in the minus infinity and in plus infinity.

And it turns out that a certain boundary area is fixed by these three points, because if we consider, for example, a sector at plus infinity, we can more accurately identify this sector by looking at the upper right-hand lens of the device with the figures 278, and concentrate on figure 7 as harmonious phase of control, at the same time with the transition to 8 to the infinite phase through the location of the number 8.

And if you pay attention here, the number 8 is located on the panel of the device precisely on the horizontal level, that is, simultaneously, in a symbolic form, can be considered as the number infinity. And then the right, let's say, the interval time boundary, for example, 90 minutes of time if you take it, it will be fixed here in the number 8, the transition to which is done through the number 7.

And if we look at the structure of minus infinity, then here we can look at the upper counterclockwise the larger lens, the second one, and here you can concentrate on the number 0, while immediately connecting, instantaneously, practically, mentally through the remote area of Consciousness the number 0 with the number 8. And it turns out that the interval, which we see on the device, and it has practically the same final characteristics, is fixed in the plane of rigid physical matter.

And here you can go first to another lens and concentrate on the number 1, where you can enter exactly one control impulse, which immediately has an infinite status through the two upper lenses due to reradiation inside these lenses. And here it is important to be able to use the device throughout the entire view of its functions, when you are looking at the structure of reradiation. That is, you need to concentrate on how the impulses of light that realize and ensure eternal life are distributed inside the device and inside these lenses when interacting with each other.

Here you can enter by Consciousness to the structure that is behind the device, if you, for example, watch through the screen, and at the same time what is behind the screen, this is a controlled area - to infinite medium. That is, in this case, eternal life is ensured by the fact that any flat, so to say, finite characteristic has consequences in the form of an infinite area. And here we get then and, in general, the basic divine principle of realizing reality in eternity, that any finite physical value has an infinite following nature.

That is, the nature of man is not only in the current, in the past time, but also in the future time, which applies to all other living beings. Therefore, it turns out that the nature of the individual as such in this case is considered using the device for the development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U as a system, in fact, which reflects and includes all the processes of the world, not only because it has some characteristics of the current or future time, but also has some absolute essence from the point of view of the divinity of what is happening.

And here it is just possible, using the device PRK-1U, consider the elements of eternity, which are included in some finite control intervals. And then we get that control becomes almost infinite at any impulse of time, and you get the structure of control that is practically realized as an infinite value in terms of implementing some impulse level of control.

That is, it turns out, that you can do control even in that case that it would seem that the primary impulse is as if blocked by something, because the next control structure, it practically characterizes the primary impulse.

This way you can get a number of useful consequences from the control, that is, from the future infinite area, you can come out to the primary impulse of control and understand then how to act now, so that the impulse is accurate, correct and how to state the goal of control more precisely if the task moreover is all the more multi complicated, which is required when constructing some complex events or processes, or some, for example, products. And further you are quite able to move from this primary impulse to the future structure of time, and by that, during this movement, through the controlling forecasting, to improve the structure of future events and even the impulse from which you started looking for the primary point, and, for example, to improve it.

Thus, it turns out that any structure of the world can be improved, including any remote area of Consciousness, where, in general, if the primary information is not expressed quite correctly and clearly, then due to these actions, the remote areas of Consciousness can be brought into the exact configuration, which corresponds exactly to the interaction of the current time and all the eternal future time. That is, you get accuracy in control in almost the entire infinite environment. And so you can, for example, in these 90, for example, minutes of using the device, although you can also increase or decrease the time interval, you can conduct a correct, accurate system of control at any interval value. That is, you can construct accurately a local event, use the minimization or increase of the structure of time and thus produce, in fact, the exact assembly of a certain level of events, where, for example, special care or accuracy is required.

Now I finish this lecture. Thanks a lot for your attention. I wish everyone a harmonious eternal life.

The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God. Method of using the device for the development of the concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U by combining the interaction of the Spirit and Consciousness

February 10, 2018

Hello. The theme of the lecture is my Teachings about God. Method of using the device for the development of the concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U by combining the interaction of the Spirit and Consciousness.

In this lecture, I will briefly describe how it is possible to use optical systems in the device in the development of the concentrations of eternal life of the PRK-1U through the spiritual action, which is reflected as a consequence in the control through the element of Consciousness. That is the matter of spiritual action develops as a certain level of infinite plan of control, but at the same time, at some distance from the primary impulse of spiritual control, it is possible to connect the structure of Consciousness and spiritual control in infinity, act by a controlled process in terms of the logic of the current control that is inherent in Consciousness.

And in order to use for the intensification of this process and for the more precise plan of control of the device for the development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U, it is necessary to distinguish the structure of eternal life as an element that interacts with the device - in principle, as with any technical system that ensures eternal life in the infinite future. But at the same time Consciousness develops in such a way that it can independently in perspective carry out control of any system of reality.

God, the Creator of the whole world, controls reality, proceeding, among all, from his developed Consciousness. Therefore, applying this principle in such a way that Consciousness is a system that at the logical level can implement a certain training of the individual in terms of perspective long-term control and action, and in terms of the current time, it is possible to conduct mentally the element of spiritual action through the second large lens counterclockwise, if to consider from the small lens from below, and from the number 9. And transfer the control in the form of an arc behind the plane of observation to the number 8.

Thus we come to the spiritual action concentrated in a finite interval of the number 8 in the form of the symbol 8, and by looking in this number at two certain spaces inside the two circles that form the number 8, we can visualize mentally that it is possible to transfer by squeezing two large lenses in these circles. And it turns out that there are two lenses as if inside the number 8.

And here you can see a very high speed of re-reflection between these lenses, because you condensed the information. That is, the first conclusion from this action with the use of the device for the development of concentrations PRK-1U at that moment: we can immediately say that it is the condensation, the increase in a certain level of information density, allows Consciousness to approach spiritual action.

And it turns out that a high concentration even the Spirit with well-ordered repeated action with the elements of your Consciousness may lead to the fact that you are getting quite active control, and at the same time this active control is controllable, because you introduce into the structure of Consciousness, by which you work, virtually any information, any goals of control - verbal or otherwise formulated. And when you implement such formulated goals in the control, you get the accuracy of the spiritual action according to the goals of the primary control, and even on the tasks of the Soul as well.

Thus, working with the formulated goals of control, we can control here through, for example, the structure of such an action when the control is carried out in the level, for example, for prolonging even, for example, the spiritual, verbal action, physical action, that is, the control begins to influence, in principle, the structure of what is happening in such a way that practically the entire system of reality begins to participate in this structure.

And the interaction in terms of, for example, the interaction of words begins, the use of sound controlling systems, where you can put in one word, for example, one level of control. And if a little bit - literally for a millisecond or for some time to increase, suppose the sound duration, then control can change. But at the same time the level of some kind of unarchiving of sound or action, it begins to occur in terms of, in fact, kind of a reverse process.

That is, you start, proceeding from the interaction with the external environment, the sound environment, the system of action to control in fact the reality system in such a way that you get the level of further action in the form of much bigger control than the actions, for example, of Consciousness and the Spirit. For example, using the word “formulated” in the form of a reduction and compaction of this word and the extension of some sounds in the control, you can, seemingly, practically observing the same sound of the word, but with some variations, they maybe not even always noticeable, come out to the extension of the phase of control by prolonging some sound elements.

And what I have now said, for example, aloud, can be used, simply mentally reciting some words, increasing by another spiritual action for literally milliseconds the duration of the sounds. And some words can be increased in terms of the sound in such a way that, by applying an instantaneous increase in time intervals with respect to the mental sound of the word, one word can become an endless action. And then you come to the understanding of the status, when the word can organize the world, in fact, reality in terms of your element of action and the goal of control, which is in the word itself.

For example: eternal life. We take two words, and do not just pronounce, but increase the spiritual status, make the final element as infinite as, for example, the infinite Spirit, although we preliminary projected the word through the element of Consciousness. That is, in the form of specific words, we pronounce actions. The same can be used in any creative control, when the status of a word becomes infinite. And this principle, when the primary information of a word has the infinite value, it is carried out in the infinite level in the control. And you can thus realize reality in an infinite time in the required aspect, which ensures a harmonious eternal life.

Now I finish this lecture. Thanks a lot for your attention. I wish a harmonious eternal life.

The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God. Method of using the device for the development of the concentration of eternal life PRK-1U by impulses on the matter of the Soul through the action of the Spirit

February 10, 2018

Hello.

The theme of the lecture is my Teachings about God. Method of using the device for the development of the concentration of eternal life

PRK-1U by impulses on the matter of the Soul through the action of the Spirit.

In this method, first of all, it is necessary to consider how the spiritual action, which is expressed in the form of certain dynamic areas of the Spirit, and which actions you perceive, the spiritual ones, as often independent ones in the form of certain volumes of information, which more look like the spheres of such type that these spheres look like a combination of white and silvery colors inside the spheres.

And you produce an impulse actions on the matter of the Soul. At the same time, this impulse must pass through these very volumes of spiritual action, as if to pass between them, if possible, without touching, that is, the speed must be ultra-high. And you, by your Consciousness, in fact, must calculate, find some moment when there is a direct connection between your action and the matter of your Soul. As a matter of fact, it is the appeal to the Soul by a technological level due to the action of Consciousness and exact close contact with the Soul.

And you get here almost a very important mechanism from the point of view of cognition of the structure and nature of the organization of the world. Because with what kind of impulse do you act, with what do you act? This is precisely a very important system of control in this method.

And for this it is necessary to concentrate on the three lenses of the device for development of concentration PRK-1U. It is necessary to see the number 5 on the bottom lens, as if to perceive. On the next one counter-clockwise it is necessary to concentrate on the number 8. And on the next big lens counterclockwise it is necessary to concentrate on the number 9. And in this case you fix a certain space. You imagine that the action of spiritual matter is in these lenses, and by such a powerful gaze between lenses conduct the control to the level of realization of events.

And at the same time, you watch how you act by Consciousness, when you realize the control on your Soul. And then you will be able to see that the simultaneity of these actions, in fact, enables you to learn how to act in the same way that God acts when it comes to the fact that He, by the status of his eternal Soul, sends himself certain definite knowledge that his Soul receives. So they spread very quickly.

And since the Soul of God always understands knowledge, since knowledge of God is absolutely accurate, we can, while watching also simultaneously this process, with the help of the PRK-1U device, learn how to obtain accurate knowledge through the correct interaction of systems of any impulse nature, for example, a cellular reaction to some event occurring in the world - and immediately the impulse of information towards the Soul. And immediately everything is aligned with the absolute norm, which ensures eternal life.

And in this way it is possible to implement practically any systems of control, where the tuning of impulses directly for the contact with your Soul enables you to produce always an exact action in infinity, which ensures eternal life.

Thanks a lot for your attention. This concludes my lecture and I wish everyone a harmonious eternal life.

The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God. The method of organizing the application of the device for the development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U using the device itself

February 10, 2018

Hello. The theme of the lecture is my Teachings about God. The method of organizing the application of the device for the development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U using the device itself.

In this topic, I will tell you how to organize the application of the device for the development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U in the interval of use of 90 minutes, as well as at other time intervals: less or more. And while the very organization of this process can occur using the same device for the development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U.

To do this, we first need to consider the device itself, in fact, as that structure of control that helps to organize other people to use the device for the development of concentrations PRK-1U. And for this, it is necessary to consider the status of eternal life that people have in terms of their action of control, which is laid at birth. For example, after considering the self-organization of the self-creation of God, we can see that God considers almost always in actions directed at eternity, the infinite structure, His status of creation as the Eternal Personality. And it is understandable that when He realizes eternity, He at once leans upon His primary eternity, which appeared during His self-creation, including self-creation.

And therefore, it is necessary, in the distribution precisely of the very proposal to other people to use the device for the development of the concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U, to realize first of all their own status that exists at the cellular level in every person who exists in the level or in the action of the Soul. And when you consider the action of the Soul prolonged to infinity, as a matter of fact that man creates the eternal according to his nature of primary organization, similar to how God is organized, then you can consider how you can offer to understand correctly the application of the device for the development of the concentrations of eternal life, and how this knowledge should be not just a knowledge as such about some, for example, device, but it should also carry the knowledge about eternal life simultaneously.

In this case, first, the level that acts in the system of collective Consciousness is solved, that there are many actions at once in one action aimed at a certain goal, in this case you control this goal. And at the same time, it is necessary to solve the issue that currently can be very clearly expressed in the fact that if modern technologies are used, for example, at the given time in the form of Internet technologies, then we can practically transfer the knowledge about real eternal life to all quickly enough.

And at the same time when you work on the organization of application, for example, of the device for the development of concentrations of eternal life for 90 minutes, you can simultaneously lay there, in the structure of control, where, for example, the access can be granted via Internet-TV to certain systems of devices, and through this web-monitoring of these devices for all sections of the population via the Internet and in this way the knowledge that ensures eternal life can be transferred.

In this case, the criterion of transfer is that this knowledge is transferred from a visual image or even from the thinking of other people who perceive this image, and it can be transferred to those who do not perceive the image, in this case, for example, if there are visually impaired people. And in this case you lay at once the structure for eternal development, so that when it comes to the Internet, and in the future to other communication systems, Consciousness is eventually withdrawn autonomously in the form of a trained element of action and control and can function, for example, only periodically connecting to the Internet or to the systems of such special control.

But at the same time no one limits each next connection to the same device for the development of the concentrations of eternal life, further it increases these concentrations and ensures eternal life even more. Therefore, there should be a certain measure in terms of both use and at the same time there should be no absence, any special kind of restriction in use. That is, on the one hand, a person should be absolutely independent of any instrument systems, and on the other hand he has the right to choose, when he needs any instrument systems in order to increase the effectiveness of his control or at the right time to apply the necessary category of the device action in order to ensure eternal life for himself and everyone.

Therefore, in this structure of the organization of the listeners, who will use the device for the development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U within 90 minutes, it is possible, in the initial level of control, when the application just starts, for example, via web-based monitoring online, you can see in fact a certain system of inlets into control. That is, for example, to start working the same way from 90 minutes with this device through the web-based monitoring, and when you watch the working device through the online video monitoring, you can see that the beginning of the control is often of two-impulse nature.

That is, one impulse goes to the device, and the other goes to the plan of event control, since the sense of using the device is precisely the realization of the events of eternal life for all. Therefore, the first impulse system that goes to the device is inseparably connected with the second one. This, well, in general, looks from the side like two elements, two volumes of information, for example two spheres, that move, in principle, in one direction, but at the same time at some level they bifurcate, in fact, and the level of such an action takes place that events are realized even faster due to this. Therefore, in action in the effort to work with the help of the device using the Consciousness, Spirit, Soul, we can see also the amplification of the action, because the second signal, kind of a duplicate signal turns out to be amplified.

And here, for example, if we set such an abstract task upon ourselves, that is to consider how God, while creating the world, He, after all, deliberately created some second element of reality except Himself, then the answer to this question is exactly determined here, because here it is quite clearly seen that to create the external reality was a natural planned action for God. But, in general, it can be said here that this was a necessary action, because the creation of the next element made it possible for God to be truly eternal from the point of view of all criteria of reality, where the second criterion is already free, in fact, in action and in self-development.

And using this principle, it is necessary for man who is initially free by nature, to use exactly that action that would lead practically to kind of unification of any actions and directions of these actions without fail in the future, even if they were arbitrary in ensuring eternal life without any pressure there, by a natural order in the form of just following a certain level of the laws of the structure of the world.

And in order to study and apply these laws, to ensure that as many people as possible use the device for the development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U, starting approximately from 90-minute intervals, it is important in this case to concentrate on the numbers - when you use the device precisely for this goal - in such a way that the figures themselves carry not only the symbolic meaning of the number, but also express a certain more general structure of interaction and reflect in a symbolic and explicit form the structures, so to say, which are more profound from the point of view of the fundamental world structure, where you can see the reality that is exactly formed by God at this moment. After all, God, who once created all the reality - we can at any time observe at a certain level of development of Consciousness, Spirit and Soul, how generally, in fact, He creates it.

And so, watching, strictly speaking, the work of God, we naturally understand that it was created sometime, perhaps long ago, in the minus infinity, but this does not exclude the presence of God even now, because He is eternally alive. And, it turns out, His impulse of each of His next element of eternal life, every interval of time, is superimposed and adds something to what He already did somewhere in the minus infinity at the time of the primary organization of the world, including the self-creation.

And when you understand this rather large-scale mechanism of the personality of God, He reveals himself as a huge personality with enormous potential. And this potential is often inherent in many people who are inspired or make some great discoveries, or even, in general, in some seemingly small domestic activities, can also use these huge connections of their personality, then we, using these inner connections of the individual, can pass over to the structure of ensuring eternal life, like the way as God did it. But at the same time, we can use the system of artificially reproduced level such as the device for the development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U.

But at the same time we can consider how the interaction with this device occurred practically at the level of construction, and how the interaction will take place in the future. That is, you can track at the level of controlling clairvoyance or controlling forecasting, at the level of the action of spiritual vision, practically all the elements of interaction of yourself, of other individuals with the device, while considering exactly in the final level of one action, so to say, where it is necessary to reach precisely the finiteness, it is meant the achievement of the goal of control, that this attainability is accurate, that is, for example, on that date at the right time and so on. And so, when keeping in mind the complexity in the work with the device, you can immediately transfer a certain ray of knowledge practically to all people at once, and to those that will be in the whole infinite future.

And then you can clearly see how at a specific moment you can explain to potential listeners, or by using some social networks as well, to other people who, for example, did not know about such opportunities how they can apply this device, and, while using such 90-minute intervals, they can realize the control for eternal life, exactly to ensure eternal life, eternal life for the whole infinite future in this controlling action. And for this knowledge to be simple, accessible and at the same time with the use of the device, where the matter of eternal life is generated, and since there are a lot of devices already, it is possible to use some other intervals inside the devices themselves in the control so that they increase in power.

For example, using the very first device for the development of the concentration of eternal life, where, for example, the figures near the lenses were not used, nevertheless, the generation of the matter of eternal life constantly occurs there in the working devices of this type. And it is possible even to introduce the control from the video of the online image of this device, to dock with the modified device, where there are figures, and then with other types. As if to use the starting level of the first unmodified device, but at the same time enhancing its every action in each subsequent block, which by itself, among other things, has a much larger level of control.

And when you begin to work in this way, you can see how the structure of your Consciousness is arranged in terms of self-development, and you can even very simply, as on a certain building kit, trace the elements of the interaction of optical systems aimed at infinity for the realization of eternity. And thus, to structure among other things your Consciousness not just, so to speak, from the point of view of knowledge that you use through certain concepts in the form of some textual knowledge or in the form of visual images, conceptual structures, but also at a certain qualitative level. That is, to understand the quality of the development of your Consciousness at a qualitative level, where Consciousness perceives all system of connections and at the same time realizes eternal life in infinity.

Thus, we can see here such a system of future eternal development, when you can use practically the device for the development of the concentration of the eternal life the PRK-1U in any interval of time, starting from milliseconds, for example, just by remembering it or turning on the video image in online mode. And in this case, you can do the necessary control at once, or do it, for example, if you have the opportunity through constant access, for example, through a smartphone, a computer, then you can do it practically as much as you need and at time that you have. And in this case, you do not depend in this plan, in fact, on the device itself either, because in this case, like any help, you can perceive it at the moment when you think it is necessary.

And this independence, it also simultaneously realizes the possibility of your personal development to the next spiritual level, to the next level of development of Consciousness. And when you will promote among all people, for example, this knowledge of the use of this kind of equipment that interacts with Consciousness, in fact, trains Consciousness among other things to ensure eternal life, you can correctly determine at the right time some, for example, phrases you need, establish some advertising, say, text or visual systems.

And it turns out that if you use an image that is perceived, for example, by complex eyesight, or if you simultaneously insert a text into the image, that is, into the promotion of this kind of action, in order, for example, to collect for a 90 minute interval, for example, a certain number of listeners, up to 10 persons who will work simultaneously at the moment, well, working with the methods of the training program of my Teachings, then in order to move, for example, from such a number to, for example, a hundred persons, a thousand or a million and so on, and more, that is, there is an unlimited number of users. And you can do these very waves of transfer of information right away so, that, most importantly, people at that moment were given that knowledge, to some extent, that is the proven knowledge for them. That is, it is necessary that, at the moment as if of this advertising process, the process of promotion, in fact, of these elements of the use of the PRK-1U device, they would immediately receive a certain result from contact with this information, exactly the result of ensuring eternal life for all.

And when you follow this very task of working with PRK-1U for organization, of exactly the participants who participate in the web-based video monitoring, then you will have a certain system in each level that will solve at once and simultaneously the goals of ensuring eternal life for all. In this case, you can, using the lenses of the device, use the following number series, which you can, while using these series, fix on the numbers near the lenses. You can start with the following: it is 74518064 and the second series is 40974816909.

And then you, so to speak, applying these series simultaneously with what has been said in terms of understanding the internal structures and interrelations when using the device for the development of the concentration of eternal life “one”, that is PRK-1U, you can use certain systems of compression of information and you can realize the control in such a way for you to realize, for example, the level of control in the form of powerful contractions of control intervals, and thus you will be able to attract more people.

For example, if you pay attention now, I have said “use of the device for development of concentration - one”, and here two positive levels are meant. This is when the device itself is used, well, in principle, that is, one particular device, and in this case the word “one”, since it is said without regard to the action, that is to what it is applied, for example, neither “to one” nor “by one”, but namely “one” in the nominative level, then it turns out that the level of compaction of information occurs here, where at once there is a new meaning around one level, although it would seem in the first moment that the action itself is not very clearly manifested in the sound form, so to say, you perceive it (the word “one”) as it is one device, one, for example, person acts, or everything related to the number one.

That is, if we use the system of compaction of information, what I have said, well, for example, mentally, that is, without saying it out aloud, then we can practically put such systems around these impulses of control that make it possible to increase the intensity of the control very significantly. That is, to increase the control in such a way that you, as a matter of fact, as if archive many aspects of information, even when working, for example, with different levels of using words in the control, and therefore you can study some words from the viewpoint of the sound of, for example, for example, build the wording of control, and combine, say, with the same numbers, which can also be formulated in different ways, that is, in such a way that you can look here from different sides. But if, for example, simply say about the number 7 just “seven” or, for example, the “seventh”, or “about seven”, that is, suppose “eight” or “eighth”, yes? .. we can, then, try to choose, in the control, some forms that carry a certain internal meaning of some action.

For example, there is an action of reduction, there is an action of reduction, when unnecessary, well, it would seem, without which it is clear what is being discussed. Some sound forms, verbal forms, they are somewhat diminished, and at the same time the literary meaning of the expression does not change, but just the pronunciation of the phrase is as if accelerated, yes? .. And, in this case, we can use it mentally, well, what is unnecessary should not necessarily be said out aloud. And in principle, this is the main aspect in the control, in the mental level.

Thus, it is controlled from all sides: some phrase, some control, so that there is some kind of archiving, that is, increasing the density or increasing the awareness in some system. And at the same time, you will get the status of control when, in fact, you can so saturate a certain level of your action with knowledge due to the use, among all, of the device for the development of the concentration of eternal life of PRK-1U, that there will be a system of such saturation precisely by the level of knowledge that this system will become infinite at once due to the fact that this knowledge gives infinity, eternal life, and at the same time their intensity by itself will be high.

And then, together with the generation of the matter of eternal life that takes place in the PRK-1U, you receive, as your own reproduced action, for a certain infinite level, that is, in fact, the ensuring of eternal life, and the simultaneous use of the device as a technical system that enables just to speed up some processes, enables you to delve into the more precise, or more profoundly into the essence of some processes at a given moment. And further on, understanding them, you understand that already in this case the device helped you, you already know, and, in principle, it is important that you have the knowledge, and this is also the independence from the device itself as such, because the main thing is that the acquired knowledge enables you to be independent.

And when you already understand this, then you clearly understand that you can work with such equipment for unlimited time. The dependence on it, in fact, does not happen, because you just get knowledge. And the knowledge is already yours, your property, your intellectual property, and you already completely own it, this property, you own and apply it.

So here it is important to convey this element to people that the instrument systems of this type simply help people to gather, at the right time, the amount of knowledge necessary for eternal life, and therefore under no circumstances they can be harmful. And the practice has shown: already more than a two-year use of the device for the development of the concentration of eternal life PRK-1U has not lead to any negative result.

This is also a very important feature for the use of the device in the infinite future, and therefore also try to explain that the explanations for this process are not only practical, related to experience, but it also comes from cognition and from the fact that the main aspect of the action is cognition exactly for the action to ensure eternal life. And in this regard, it is necessary to try to ensure that such control practically occurs, when people understand that this is a very active educational process when the PRK-1U is used, and then they will not have restrictions in the use of the devices. And you will be able to organize a huge number of people who will quickly learn the technologies of eternal life and provide them for all.

This concludes my today's lecture. Thanks a lot for your attention. I wish everyone a harmonious eternal life.

Grigori Grabovoi's report at the Fourth World Conference in the Dominican Republic on the Issue of Peace and Light
Implementation of educational and instrumental technologies for ensuring eternal life for all through the Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi

August 24, 2018

Hello, I am Grigori Grabovoi. I am glad to welcome the participants of the Fourth World Conference of the Dominican Republic on Peace and Light. My presentation is “The Introduction, through my Teachings, of educational and instrumental technologies to ensure eternal life for all”. In this presentation, I first of all consider the positions of the World from the point of view that the world must be controllable in a creative infinite sense through the action of human consciousness, through the action of his soul and spirit.

Proceeding from this, and considering the structure of consciousness, the actions of the soul and the spirit, as a structure of interaction of different levels of light intensity that is perceived by consciousness, it is possible to realize both educational processes and the processes of realizing eternal life through various technical devices that are specifically aimed at ensuring eternal life for all. In the action of God, initially the control in the impulse of transmission of both knowledge and subsequent action is based on the verbal level: the perception, for example, of a mental word, on the mental level, the perception of the word and the transformation of this word into some technical systems. Therefore, it is precisely in the technologies of ensuring eternal life, there is often a joining of both the level of thinking and the level of control of the system of events.

And for example, in the structure of the controlling forecasting, it is important that positive controlling actions take place simultaneously with viewing the future events. And on this basic principle, when the perception of information simultaneously enables one to optimize information, improve it, my training program has been built and my instrument systems for ensuring my eternal life, and when teaching this training program, information is transmitted not only verbally, or for example, by audio visual systems, but also at the same time the teacher of the Teachings archives the light systems and transfers to the listener certain elements of knowledge in the form of light elements. And thus, a natural harmonious environment of interaction of the teacher and student appears, when the general orientation to creation in the entire world, having a bright silvery, white light, merges with the infinite horizon of future events of eternal life for all, and makes it possible to transfer correctly that basic knowledge that systematically ensure eternal life to all.

In practice, this amounts to the fact that the teacher, reading the material of the seminar, controls simultaneously in accordance with the controlling systems that are laid in the seminar itself, and simultaneously transmits the light systems, which he considers to be the most expedient at this time. That is, as principles that have the form of standards for the transmission of information of this type, not verbal, such as, for example, archiving in the form of spheres and transfer of knowledge in the form of spheres to the listener. In this case the transfer is made, for example, to the right palm or to the left, if it is necessary to accelerate. And at the same time, in terms of productivity, the mastering of knowledge occurs much faster. In my patents, for example, in the patent “The Method of Prevention of Catastrophes and Device for its Realization”, as well as in the patent “Information Carrying System”, there is such a text that the operator generating a bio-signal should send this signal to certain optical systems, this signal is being normalized and simultaneously, due to the intersection with the elements of the future events, it normalizes the structure of the future events.

And this normalization is enhanced by optical systems. And as it is written in my patent “Information Carrying System” if to work according to such a principle of correspondence of vibrational structures of light, for example, of human consciousness and remote light structures of work of the equipment, then the distance, for example, to some kind of instrument system, or generally to any object of information does not matter. As part of the research on the implementation of the patents, it was established that this principle, it is based on the principle of the universe, in general, when the original light that was created by God as the universal light for eternal time tends to be both dynamic and static. And in this case the static phase is practically realized in all dynamic intervals and in all structures of the world. And it turns out that the intersection of the dynamic phase of reality and the static phase of reality can describe actually any structures of the event series.

Thus, some time ago, I published my proven in practice theory in the journal “Electronic Engineering” with the derivation of the formula of the general reality where the intersections of the dynamic phase of reality and the static phase of reality make it possible not only to describe the phenomena of reality, but also make it possible, in forecasting control, using, for example, the structures of the controlling clairvoyance, of the controlling forecasting, the development of the spiritual level at the level of special cognition systems for ensuring eternal life, these systems make it possible to optimize the events so that these events with any version of development of information in the world, of events in the world ensure eternal life for all.

And in this way, it is possible to use this light generated by the operator, that is, by a human, as a regulator for ensuring eternal life, and moreover for all. It is clear that only in that case that everyone will be ensured eternal life in any combination of events, we can talk about the affirmation of really eternal life for all and for every particular person. That is, proceeding from the principle that this should be for all and for all infinite time, the creation of technical systems accordingly in this direction should be based on certain principles that interact with principles that are similar to the human organism.

And on this basis, on the basis and in accordance with patents “The Method of Prevention of Catastrophes and Device for its Realization”, where the controlling impulse is normalized, which is generated by a person in the form of an element of his consciousness, in the form of a glow of thought, and also in accordance with the patent “Information Carrying System”, I created a three-mode device for the development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U. The principle of similarity to human organism is incorporate in this device. It consists in the fact that the device itself has two switches, but at the same time three modes are operating there. The analogy is that different thoughts are born and realized in the human organism, but the mass of the body does not increase in this case.

That is, the device, because it has only two switches, but it creates three modes - the third one is an impulse periodic mode - it turns out that the principle of similarity with the human body is observed. Without any system of increasing material structures inside the device, there is a third pulsed periodic mode. In this case, this mode, which is pulsed periodic, is switched on by the device circuit itself. And in this case, since it works for each device in different ways, because self-switching-on occurs, it is possible to see here the structures that are exactly synchronized with the system of eternal life in the infinite perspective.

Because, when the device starts working in the same way as, for example, the human organism works in a principled way in the structure of thinking, it is possible to see those remote perspectives that connect the thinking, the endless events of the future and the system of ensuring these events for each specific physical eternal body of any person. And since the structure of the body is individual and naturally the generation of the biosignal, that is, the frequency of the light, the intensity of radiation of every thought of each individual person are all individual characteristics, it turns out that the instrumentation should take into account the individual structures of each individual, and then it is absolutely safe for infinite time. After all, when building technical systems of a distant future, it is necessary to observe in fact the principle of the eternal safety of the developing equipment. And exactly the structures of a peculiar level of perception, on the part of the instrumental system, of the surrounding structure of the world are laid in the device PRK-1U.

And in this sense, we can assume that the similarity of the operation of the device evidences about the possibility to be for an infinite time as well near the biological systems, near, for example, the living organism of man or other living beings. And then, in the structure of the development of the whole world, we can assume that such aspects of reality as reality, for example, of the universal resurrection, the reality of ensuring eternal life, these systems of reality become such that from the area of thinking, from the area of ideology and from the area of some particular practices, where this is realized, they pass over to the structure of the world. And then it turns out that the whole system of the world structure should naturally be such that in the same way as, for example, computers, some computing facilities or the Internet, in modern reality, help to implement a certain order of interaction between events, there should also be, in the long term, some instrumental systems that organically correspond to the level of the infinite development of man, and at the same time they should perform the functions of ensuring eternal life for all.

I would like to show now such a device for the development of concentrations of eternal life, the three-mode PRK-1U, and to explain briefly how the light that we perceive with the physical sight is transformed into that light that interacts with the matter of eternal life that the device generates, and at the same time begins to participate in the structure of control on the tasks of the whole world for ensuring eternal life for all as the structure of the world. This is how the device looks: there three lenses on the top surface with numbers near each lens (my Teaching includes control with the help of number series, you can read in my books) and when a person concentrates, for example, on the lower small lens and then moves counter-clockwise to the second and the third ones, it is possible to get the effect of control that corresponds to the development of the concentrations of eternal life for any event, the development of the concentrations of eternal life for rejuvenation, the development of the concentrations of eternal life for controlling clairvoyance, the development of the concentrations of eternal life for controlling forecasting. I would like to note that when this device is working - in this case, it works on a pulse-periodic mode – you can see the flashing, which occurs both on the switch and inside the body of the device.

There is an adjusting hole on the back panel of the device that makes it possible to adjust it be individually to the user, not only due to the external Internet account where there are duplicating devices, but the device, in accordance with the patent “Information Carrying System” works together, among all, with the account where there are similar devices, and these accounts are created for monitoring of these devices through the Internet in order that in the case, for example, if you need to intensify the work or if a person is on journey, he can via a tablet computer or, through the phone or just a computer, use the Internet access of video monitoring of the duplicating devices and get the same effect, because, as I said, the action is equivalent if you look at the lenses. But if you do not look at the lenses, this device, within the radius of three meters, has exactly the same effect based on these four parameters of control, I told about, and the practice of intense using it for more than two years showed that there is not a single negative result, with significant results for each of the four points.

And, for example, when conducting seminars, when the device is used, the participants of the seminars very clearly feel exactly the different modes of operation. For example, the development of the concentrations of eternal life for rejuvenation differs from the development of the concentrations of eternal life for controlling forecasting. And it turns out that if we are also working either individually or during seminars with different modes, the first mode is universal, the second one increases the stationary phase of reality in intensity, that is, it strengthens namely this phase, where a more active controlling process takes place in the area of controlling forecasting. And the third regime strengthens the dynamic phase of reality.

That is, it is the connection of the current events with the controlling levels in relation to past and future events. And this level of equipment makes it possible to interact organically enough with other technical systems that already work on more, so to say, narrow areas. That is, the equipment that, through thought, interacts with a person is already perceived as an intermediate-type controlling equipment, which also provides protection from some distant in the future technical systems that do not have a level of interaction through thinking, for example.

And the development of this level of equipment on a global scale makes it possible to use it to create, for example, super new computers, where the impulse of the thought signal is used. This device for the development of concentrations of eternal life the three-mode PRK-1U has the function of self-tuning. That is, the user can easily turn on the device when purchasing the device, and it is configured to the user almost instantly within a few seconds, if he is within a radius of no more than a meter, the user is within the radius of no more than a meter from the device. Then the device, which is individually self-tuned in this way, is further additionally tuned through the provided access to the web monitoring of the duplicating device. And the complex enough work to ensure eternal life for all takes place, where the interaction of a number of devices, that is, the physical one, or even the device that can be used through the web account, helps optimize the structure of control, and the structure of thinking in practice actions accelerates, the solutions of the current or often complex tasks that previously were not solved are found, but quite a lot of thoughts appear, and, the right ones based on practical actions in relation to what you need to do at the physical level to resolve the situation exactly in the direction of ensuring eternal life for all, or in the direction of control through the light of thinking.

It is important to note that, since the functions of the device are aimed precisely at ensuring eternal life for all, it can only be used for creative purposes. And since it works only in this direction it helps functionally to carry out optimization from the point of view of these processes. Now, in the office of the company "GRIGORI GRABOVOI DOO", and then the company of the Individual Entrepreneur, the right to use such devices on sub-license agreements is granted.

And it can be used either by one person or by up to eight people. So it is enough just to fill out an application with a person's last name, first name and date of birth, and they can start using the device or use the device through an account of the duplicate device. Or there is such a principle, that you can use only those devices that are at a remote distance, that is, through web video surveillance, without the use of the physical device. But the use of the physical device has, in that sense, an advantage. For the device to work and to create the effect that is associated with the generation of the matter of eternal life, a kind of field of the matter of eternal life that the device produces is needed. And it is necessary that it does it constantly, even if you don't look at it. Then the physical device has an advantage, because, as I said, it generates this matter within the radius of three meters, which creates very overall favorable effects for any tasks of specific people who are near these devices.

Currently this device for the development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U is three-mode, it is certified, it has the AAA certificate of the Republic of Serbia, it has the CE certificate, which is used in the countries of the European Union, that is, these certificates show that the device complies with all ecological standards, which are required when using electronic equipment. And currently on the website grigori-grabovoi.world there are 2 volumes of results obtained with the use of this device by the followers of the Teaching and many results related to practical application in specific situations. Therefore, in general, the ideology of development of this level of equipment, when the equipment allows the strengthening of creative structures of a person's thinking and their creative plans, helps them solve these plans, not just at the level of any possible measures as such, but simultaneously, when a kind of help system is required at the level of the system of human thinking, then the prospects for the development of mankind as a species and in general for all living beings, they become absolutely sustainable, that is, it is clear that humanity can not be destroyed simply because equipment helps to do the optimization of thinking, the optimization of the development of consciousness. That is, equipment can not oppose a person in the field of making decisions, because it helps him.

And this is an important concept in the world order of the future, because now, as it is known, computers with the speed of calculation that occurs by solving a number of tasks, they greatly exceed, for example, the calculating capabilities of humans, and the possibility of modeling in computer technology is often greater, that's why people need to use alternative equipment that allows to control the ever increasing power of technical systems. And if you consider that the technology will continue to evolve indefinitely, the technical elements will be improving, for the humanity as a species to live eternally, and for every single person to live eternally, it is necessary, of course, to have such helpers as the device for the development of the concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U, which, in a certain way, could teach us how to think in the right perspective, help to think, and in the future, like any knowledge, such a characteristic of a thought that is obtained with the help of the device, it remains with a person as knowledge, that makes this type of interaction with such equipment, for example, with the device PRK-1U, absolutely invaluable. I just do not know of any similar devices, but I'm generalizing a bit by saying that it is desirable to develop this kind of equipment.

For example, in the medical modification, the three-mode device for the development of concentrations PRK-1U is used to ensure eternal life for all, the structure is precisely the location of the person near the device and it is further strengthened by external optical systems and then it allows to realize the principle of eternal life even for those who can not use concentrations in the beginning due to, for example, their state of health. For example, a person in a serious condition is admitted to the hospital, and then once the device is turned on, it works automatically determining the damage structure and generating the matter of eternal life into that area.

This medical modification, it also has a lens system that allow to dramatically intensify the work with this device, if a person starts to concentrate on the lenses, but in this case, the three-mode device for the development of eternal life concentrations PRK-1U, presented by me today, is used as a home device, that is, it is not of a medical nature in this case, although for example it has health-improving effects when you set the task of a health-improving nature in the goal of control.

And if we follow the world's task to ensure eternal life in combination with elements of light, then in the technology of ensuring eternal life the ideology of peace for all, where in this world all are eternal and the ideology of using the light of consciousness, the light of soul, light of spirit, and light, which is radiated by the human body, this ideology, it is extremely important, and why I believe that the global subject of the conference on piece and light is very accurately posed in the realities of modern times, because precisely by light, through the correct perception of light, correct use of light in control, thinking, because it is clear that when a person thinks, he often sees some light images, perceives their thought as light. For example, if you ask: where is the thought, when a person thinks, then a person begins to look for it in the form of signs of light first and it turns out that the location of thought as light is an important characteristic in general in the structures of the future.

For example, in my patent "Information Carrying System", it was established that the radiation of thought, which can be characterized as light of different intensity depending on the type of thought, allows information to be transmitted, often in unlimited volumes. That is, in the patent itself there are two devices: one receiver and there is a transmitting device, in this case in the device PRK-1U, this is reflected in the fact that from the upper lenses the signal enters the internal optical system, which is amplified by electromagnetic systems.

And it turns out that in this perspective of control, if we extend this to the control systems of the whole world, the ability to work in such a way that the collective consciousness through which the future systems of the world are organized, that it be precisely sustainable in ensuring eternal life for all, and if you look at it in a remote perspective, it's an absolute reality, it's like a law, that is, anyways, such a phase of collective consciousness will be organized that provides eternal life to everyone, then this type of equipment, like PRK-1U, allows not only to train consciousness, spirit, and develop the human soul in this direction to ensure eternal life for all, but at the same time, in fact in some ways participates in the construction of certain information frame of the future universe, where all live forever, with no exceptions. And moreover, so that no external events can change this reality. That is, nothing can end the eternal life of any individual, or even of any single living organism. And this is the principle of the whole universe. The eternity of the whole world must be reflected in the structure of universal control and action.

And such technology, which in the beginning can be used to a greater extent as training, as I said, the development of the structure of thinking, the development of the structure of control, it can also be used as a system that generates a signal similar to a biological signal, and then it can be used as an environmentally safe technology to create new systems, including computer ones, where the increase of power, the increase of the number of processed operations per second does not lead to a structure about counteraction, kind of, to a living organism. So it is important to use this type of technology as a measure to ensure global security in the infinite future.

Because as I said, it is adapted on the principle of similarity to a human. It is the qualitative principle of similarity, of course. And in this case, we can, proceeding from the fact that a person is similar to God, prolong this line of divine primordial action, when the creation of a human has to lead to the creation of similar technical systems in the future. Not similar in form, but in the principle of the realization of the eternal life of a human. After all, God is the creator of everything, he realizes eternal life for himself and for all. Therefore, a person who builds equipment, they must exercise absolute control over this equipment, which only realizes eternity, but in no way can it affect a person from the point of view of choosing his free will.

So, it is equipment that does not affect your thought, the choice of freedom of your decisions, but only contributes to eternal life, and in eternal life the choice is infinite, hence such equipment under no circumstances violates the freedom of will, the freedom of thinking of a person and this is also an important characteristic of the technology of the future, because each person's soul is unique, and a human is created in the likeness of God, supposed to be absolutely free, nothing is supposed to infringe on their rights and therefore, based on this, the creation of such equipment that is adapted to this task is quite noble, quite an important task, which now together with me is being solved at this time already (and their number is already increasing) by about 480 sublicensees, also there are already a lot, about 30, envoys, who implement the structure with precisely defined principles that are set out in my training program.

The same three-mode device for the development of concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U, it comes with a flash card, which contains almost 10 GB of information with the materials of my teaching, where exactly the educational principles of implementation of eternal life for all are realized. And I believe that the use in educational systems, which is obviously of primary importance, and in technical systems that help introduce this education to everyone, well, a simple example that a person who received the device, they read on the back panel, that it is called exactly that, it is written on the back panel of the device that it is a three-mode device for the development of concentrations of eternal life of the PRK-1U, so the person immediately understands at the level of equipment that one can develop the concentration of eternal life, they can go work with other people, they can look up on the website to be convinced of self-efficacy, and this simplifies the introduction of eternal life, the introduction of creation technologies, in general, the universal tasks of creation, which now exist as tasks of the whole world and each individual.

Therefore, I consider that the participants of the conference can also take an active part in using and implementing this device for the development of the concentrations of eternal life, the three-mode PRK1-U, and my training program, of course, to implement all of your authorized systems that many have at the level of complete freedom of realization. The integration of different directions, of different author schools, which are aimed at solving the problems of the World in the direction of ensuring eternal life for all, this is a very serious, and in fact a scientific task, which must also be solved at a spiritual, of course, religious, scientific, social level, and this task is not just set, but also the one that must simultaneously be solved together with the conditions of its setting, but it is also vital in the contemporary conception of the World, from the point of view of the real system of ensuring the life of every person and eternal life as well.

And in this regard, I call for active participation in the implementation of the directions I have developed, of course I will be glad to have cooperation, which can be realized in terms of, first of all, the ideological level of the concept of ensuring eternal life for all throughout the World. I am ready to submit materials that relate to educational and technical areas, give some explanation to my patents for inventions. To give more information or that is required regarding the devices used to ensure eternal life for all.

So I invite to cooperation, if you need more specific data, they are on the grigori-grabovoi.world website and it is possible cooperate in any directions. I have registered trademarks GRABOVOI and GRIGORI GRABOVOI, and, in the 12th class of the trademarks, there is such a subclass as the creation of spacecraft. Now, the outer space must be controlled through technical systems as well. After the university, I worked a lot in the field of general engineering and now I am also working in the aerospace field, and among all on the creation of the systems that provide safety for some cosmic spaces.

That is why I also invite scientists, engineers, and specialists who can participate in the implementation of technical directions that ensure peace throughout the World, due to the technical systems as well and the systems that develop together with the development of man, which make it possible to respond to tasks of man quickly, correctly and thereby ensure eternal life for everyone and all.

This concludes my today's presentation, thank you very much for your attention and I would like to answer some questions that have already been addressed in relation to a number of actions that are being taken in the area of education, instrumentation, and which would seem to be interesting at the same time now within the framework of today's conference.

The question is: How is it possible to integrate instrumentation systems into education so that education becomes more intense.

I answer this question as follows: the device for the development of the concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U makes it possible to modulate more quickly, to create the spheres of information transfer in the area of thinking, the teacher does not only transmit, as I said, the material directly as a text or video or audio recording, but at the same time mentally transfers this material to the sphere, the device intensifies this action and when it is transferred to the listener, the listener, with the help of the device, receives this sphere faster, as if at an implicit level of transmission of information. This is the way how this device or equipment can be used.

The next question is this: in the long term, a technique that is more developed can influence people in different ways, can it be defended and create such systems that allow any unexpected development of technology or some external extraterrestrial system to be protected based on the level of development of technical systems that are now.

And I am just answering that it is possible, because this very device for the development of the concentrations of the eternal life PRK-1U makes it possible, in such a way, to develop the speed of thinking (and the speed of action of the one who controls through consciousness, for example) in order to solve the task of ensuring eternal life, that is, to solve timely. And if we are confronted with some kinds of unknown technical systems that are external perhaps, for example, of some origin from the outer space, then these systems makes it possible (precisely such type as PRK-1U) to intensify the educational structure so that to be able in time to master those technologies, which will protect mankind, each person, and all living things in general.

And therefore I consider that it is very important to implement such systems as the systems, which do not only help but are a working tool for ensuring eternal life for all, and they naturally need to be improved so that we can make such equipment in large quantity, and that our Consciousness, the Spirit, and the Soul could develop freely, in such a way that nothing could affect the infinite development of man, his freedom of choice and his specific eternal life and the eternal life of all the living.

Once again, thank you very much for your attention, I wish you all a harmonious eternal life and all the best!

Grigori Grabovoi's lecture for the "Myths and Reality" association forum.

The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God. Getting forecast-oriented to eternal life information for the creation of technologies of eternal life

October 7, 2018

Hello.

I, Grigori Grabovoi, welcome the participants of the forum of the association "Myths and Reality" and present, for the forum, my lecture on the topic: "My Teaching about God. Getting forecast-oriented to eternal life information for the creation of technologies of eternal life".

In this topic, I, first of all, consider how God acts as the Creator of the whole world and being the Creator of the whole world, and in the creation of eternity - and the world is eternal - where He first determines the field of information, which, figuratively speaking, is suitable for the creation of precisely eternal world, for eternity to be unshakable and ensured by some dynamic elements of development.

And here it is important to note that it is in the dynamics of development, when we are dealing with the technologies of interaction of dynamic systems with eternity, with infinitely remote events, there is the following question first: that when there is an interaction of any system in dynamics with another system, intermediate connections arise, well, for example for mechanisms, for tissue systems, that is, the force of friction, resistance, and so on. And the question arises how to overcome, so to speak, the wear and tear of materials, of their level of interaction in such a way that this interaction is eternal. And this answer for God: for Him it is clear that He is just eternal himself. And when we consider the question of prolonging the structure of the eternity of God on the elements of dynamic systems, then, in the levels of interaction, it is necessary to find infinite shades, infinite logical structures, mental, material and so on. And here it is important to consider the action of the soul when the soul as a system of eternity can in a certain way control this structure of interaction, well, as if at its discretion, with God's help, of course, and the impulse of the soul that carries the light of eternity penetrates between these, so to say, interacting systems rubbing against each other.

And if we consider a very distant future when, for example, technical systems develop so rapidly that their qualitative level, in terms of impact on some large-scale levels, large-scale events, increases, it is important that the action of God, which was primarily extended to human created in his likeness, and further to the whole universe and the whole world, we can see that when creating machines, some technical systems that are created by human, it is important that there is the same impulse of interaction, the contact between the machine and human to ensure that further consequential, so to speak, material systems in the form of mechanisms, equipment, computer systems and so on, were in the conversational mode.

After all, God, interacting with people, He hears their appeals to Him. And in this case, proceeding from this, either correction of further events, or some changes in the qualitative level that allow a person to live eternally and provide himself with everything necessary take place at a certain mental level. And here I would just like to consider that to ensure that there is such information that is forecast-oriented, that is, the phase of the forecast should be where the different systems develop mutually.

After all, the further the machines develop, the more is the concentration of certain machine structures in the forecast phase. And here I would just like to talk about my device for the development of concentrations of eternal life, the three-mode PRK-1U, which has the level of self-setting when it is turned on. Together with the linked account, it becomes the individual system of control that helps a person, just in the forecast-oriented phase as well, due to the generation of the matter of eternal life, which is generated in the device, to build those events that have this aspect of eternity and in fact and in essence provide eternal life.

As I said, the impulse of the soul, the light of the soul, creates the structure of eternity between dynamic systems even for some material systems, which then can become and become eternal according to the law of eternity for the infinite world. And the world is infinite. And it turns out that we can see quite really with the use of those systems, such as PRK-1U, that help prolong thinking in the structure of future events. And in this case, if we consider a version of the operation of this system, for example, when I, on the basis of patents “Method of Prevention of Catastrophes and Device for its Realization” and the “Information Carrying System”, as well as related patenting, dealt with the creation of the device for the development of concentrations of eternal life, the three-mode PRK-1U, some questions have arisen that are not only of the functional plan for a specific time, but since the device works for the development of the concentration of eternal life, and for the controlling forecasting, they relate respectively, to the aspects of future development and establishing the basis of events that ensures eternal life.

And here a quite specific area of control has arisen that is associated with the field of understanding of further events and consists in the fact that this device, like a machine, and being a machine, allows to obtain a more dynamic response from the future from machine systems. And those systems that are in the future, the most diverse machines, they possess, at the informative level, often a qualitatively different way of the distribution of information in the area of collective consciousness. That is, same way as any machine has its own spectral characteristics, its own elements, which may be similar to the human consciousness in terms of the reaction of this machine to the surrounding reality, then this very device, if we speak at some comparative level, can transmit more information, for example, as a machine to a machine, because when a machine acts as a receiver of information, for example, PRK-1U, it is the transmission intensity, the informative layer from another machine, from its environment is more active in the future than the transmission of information that is carried out, for example, from the machine to a person in the future.

It turns out that because of the difference in tissue nature the wave synchronization processes are different, and more time is spent in this case. Well, in this case, perhaps, time is spent more just at the level of milliseconds, but for the infinite future this is very significant. Therefore, this device also realizes exactly the correct alignment of information in the distant future, which takes into account the development of machine systems and computer systems, and at the same time, it possesses, for example, such a function that is in the human organism, since the device has only two switches, but the third self-switching mode for the development of the dynamic phase of reality also operates there, well, that is described in my formula of general reality in the doctoral dissertation.

And just like the thought of human functions without adding the organism tissue. Therefore, similarity occurs here, so to say, according to the level of the model plan, when we consider the principle of the functioning of a system without the addition of an external material environment. It turns out that it can be perceived by human also like a living organism when it is removed to the space of the future at the level of thinking, and on the part of the machine it is perceived as an ordinary machine that operates in the focus of collective consciousness precisely as a machine.

That is, it turns out to be a kind of transmission link, and in the pulsed mode this device, in the pulsed periodic mode, where it is self-switched on, the third mode is switched on only on the two switches, it turns out that this differentiation occurs between the impulses, it means the waves of information between the impulses. It is a machine wave coming from the future, which can be recognized and taken under control, or it is often a wave from some non-material systems. And when the wave of light is exactly the impulse of light, then this is the action of life extended to eternity.

And, considering that impulseness is after all, in fact, the principle of coexistence of different systems. Biological life does not intersect in this case, with another system if we consider light as an element of life, offering an effect into infinity, because the impulse, that is, the moment when the light turns off, it is a different material medium for the entire space, that is the absence of photons of light. And it turns out that when it is turned on, when the life is initiated, the photons emerge, if it is turned off, they do not emerge. And it turns out that photons still emerge in the same environment that exists, that is, the maximum infinite environment in the outer space.

And here it turns out that exactly the principle of inducing, that is, the beginning of action, always belongs to life. That is, life is initially infinite and eternal, it covers the whole world (it is clearly visible in this case: the whole space) and it is a priority in the development of the world, civilization of any order, including the places where machines are developed. And therefore life in principle, by and large does not have a conflict nature in infinity, that is, it can develop eternally. This is why God, who created life, is eternally alive, He is also in many ways eternal, because He knows how to overcome the various contradictions that arise in any mechanical systems, including biological ones. And He knows absolutely what to do both at the level of creating these systems and at the level infinitely removed by the phase of their future events. Because He has not just the forecast-oriented information in the usual order to ensure the future, but He simultaneously builds this forecast, He is the builder of everything.

And so proceeding from this, it is also necessary to build the forecast in the forecast-oriented information to ensure eternity, the information of the forecast itself, in such way that the development of this information would lead to eternity for all, to eternal life for all.

And in this case, if we consider directly the work of the device for the development of the concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U, which is now on the screen, then you can see, for example, in the lower corner the flashing that occurs in the pulse-periodic mode, at the same time it is possible to use the digits which are near the lenses. And, using the work of the lens along with the flashing color, you can practically make it so that there is a connection of the impulse with the light that you left in the lens structure.

That is, when you look at the lenses, you have a sensation that is visual and emerges from the lenses, from the comparability of this object, and you can also perceive that when you look at the lens, you can leave some element of light inside the lens. And then, when you look at this pulse-periodic flashing, it is possible to build this future, so that the forecast-oriented phase is stable, thus: the light that is left in the lens that characterizes, and you can fill it with the meaning of the normal events of the future for all, of ensuring eternal life for all, the solution of your private issues under this global system of structuring the control. And in fact, it is like the Law of Reality, in fact, you just use this Law.

Then you should consider the impulse that is generated by the device, as the dynamics that is created by people in the consequential level, because people have created the machines, and the machines, which then give response and extend the action in the reverse order, it is quite possible to see, if we look from the future at the images of the machines of the future, and we see how they interact with this very technical impulse and then by connecting the light to the level of thinking that comes from the impulse inside the nature of the light impulse, inside the operating device, and then we see inside the structure of this device, so to speak of its natural-organization, how the impulse interacts with the inner space, with the internal optics.

Then we withdraw all these optical watched systems to the light left in the physical lens on the upper surface of the device, near the digits. And what's more, we can fix this light, for example, by the number eight or some numbers that you like, for example, by your birth year, by your birth date, a set of some figures that you have, or, for example, number series that I have in the textbooks on my Teachings. And this light in the lens becomes the controlling light, which interacts with the structure of the device itself, which generates eternal life, the matter of eternal life, that is, it operates quite functionally and directionally. The vector of this work is such that you can see its work in fact at the level of the infinite future, and while working in real current time.

And in term of the qualitative characteristics of this device, it is possible, by practice, to observe such a fact that this device, having been operating for more than two years and not having a single negative result, when many people interact at the level of collective consciousness with the level of development of this device in terms of the concentration of eternal life, which ensures eternal life, then comparing the facts that characterize namely the complex work, we can see that very remote events that are the events of eternity are reflected on the device system, and on human. Man perceives by his whole inner essence, by the whole physical body, connected with the Soul, with the Spirit, with Consciousness, with all the elements of his Personality, as a certain concentrate namely of all the forces of eternal life.

And eternal life, which comes from any systems overcoming the structure, this matter of this device, through lenses you get this knowledge. And this knowledge becomes accessible. Why, with the help of this device – (there is a very high level of statistics), thinking improves in terms of resolving various issues, which, sometimes, for example, were very difficult to solve. And at the same time in the control structure it is evident that control is being performed with the help of the device.

Naturally, since the task of any equipment is to teach consciousness the methods of eternal life, to work in a similar way, then it is a fact that from a certain level of development, when a person starts working with the device and reaches a higher level, when he again begins to work with the device, he starts developing further from this level. Here, a certain law of interaction of human and technical systems is developed. That is, human is in the form of a supporting structure, if he considers any equipment, he must develop further.

Then we, naturally, that is humanity, lead in the area of development of future processes. Therefore, it is possible to be trained namely correctly on this device, from the point of view of the fundamental laws of the World, to overcome some future tense events related to the development of technical systems. It is possible to control, in the current time, in the complicated situation with technical systems, when using the device, it is visible that it is possible to control more massive environments, which often fix in the collective consciousness at the level of some large-scale areas, because they work as if in single-functional systems.

Well, in this case, it can be explained so: if we consider a large city and consider such a function that there many drivers who are behind the steering wheels of cars, and they look at the road and basically follow the same rules. That is, it turns out that the collective consciousness in this case is determined by the fact that the car has this shape and has a steering wheel, and several specific actions of people are required because it moves along the road. And if we consider large factories, some global systems, such as watching TV, computers, the Internet, then quite large areas arise in the collective consciousness because a person acts under the conditions created by the machines for the machines to function.

And, on the one hand, a person pays special attention to this and has a certain algorithm of actions, and on the other hand it turns out there is a kind of dependence on machines in terms of the fact that the person follows certain rules, and this is necessary in this case, since the machine requires such attention to run it. So to avoid, in the infinite future, creating such a strong distraction of human consciousness for the control of super-complex machines, in this case, exactly the device for the development of concentrations of eternal life, the three-mode PRK-1U makes it possible in the setup phase, where there is a primary impulse; my discovery "The Creating Field of Information", which was registered long ago in the Chamber of Intellectual Novelty exactly describes that the creating area has a one-pulse nature.

For example, God, who created everything, created all reality simultaneously, including the element of self-creation of God Himself by Himself. And if we proceed from this, these boundary conditions that arise in the collective consciousness, certain rigid information structures, such as following the fact that the machine must be run, therefore, many people have to think the same. And such areas, certain fractals, occur in the collective consciousness, which have the same type of nature, for example, the driver looks at the road. This form of information begins to glow more and other forms of information that are related to the private life of people, with some hobbies, discoveries, education, they are formed (if we consider the entire mass of collective consciousness exactly as mass, the mass, which is produced practically, say, due to time and due to a certain mass that has even dimensions) due to the volume, for example, in different systems people think differently, they have some local thoughts that concern global systems of development, and when people run machines, they have the thought of the same type, and this mass starts glowing in the collective consciousness.

And here the device for the development of concentrations of eternal life, the three-mode PRK-1U, in the third mode, in the pulse-periodic mode, well, and in principle in the second mode of development of the stationary phase of reality as well, can practically level up this filling of the collective consciousness namely with those means, which, when necessary, form a certain conditional - to a certain extent - but control over human consciousness.

After all, consciousness of man should be absolutely free, regardless of the number of machines and regardless of what machines man runs. God, who created the whole World, is absolutely independent, and He is the Creator of this World, He controls everything. Accordingly, whatever complex machines are, they must be controlled by free consciousness.

And when we, for example, speak of a universal resurrection, when the collective consciousness must be very concentrated for this action, when ensuring eternal life also depends on the development of concentration namely on the idea and practice of eternal life for all, it is important to have independence of consciousness from any kind of robotic systems developing in the future, from any structures of the machine world.

And in this case, making those machines conversational, just like I said today in the lecture that, for example, a person, when addressing God, hears a response from Him, His Help, His Eternal Good, and at the same time he can know what God wants, and interact with Him at a level, for example, of a partnership, even, one can put it this way in some cases, although it is clear that God gives more than a partnership, He gives eternal life, self-sufficient, independent eternal life for all.

And it turns out that machines, having such elements as in the device for the development of concentrations of eternal life the three-mode PRK-1U, can also be in dialog systems. For example, in my patent "Information Carrying System" there is a transmission of a mental signal to any distance, and this principle is used in this device, because it is possible to turn on and work at any time, via a web-based account of video monitoring of the device working round the clock, and any distance to the physical device does not matter.

But when a person works, having a physical device near him, and the account for video monitoring of the duplicating device is attached to each physical device, the system of the duplicating devices includes the technology of ensuring eternal life where a better multiple redundancy of any system should be. And then the effect is intensified further. And it turns out that by supplying these systems through Internet monitoring, through presence near the person, and when the device is present near the person, then in a radius of three meters in connection with the generation of the field or, so to speak, the matter of eternal life, it also has the effect of action, even if a person does not look at the lenses. So, but to work through the Internet, you have to look at the lenses, then the effect of the action arises.

And in this case, combining, so to say, well, what has been said now into that process meaning that it is necessary to be able to interact with other machines in the interactive version, this is just the dialog system. It, on the one hand, controls external sources of global information, such as the Internet, in terms of the fact that this information is already a substructure of our control, and the uncontrolled one, that is, the account on the Internet through which you control the events is a mechanism of control. And it takes under control the network system of the Internet space, and it becomes safe. That is, further you can do anything and more efficiently in the Internet environment, but at the same time you control through the account.

At the same time, at the physical level, the device is the element of control of the generation of matter of eternal life for living organisms, and at the same time your personal physical control also increases. That is, the “device - web-account” system covers now all known control structures related to both living organism and currently known information complex, such as the Internet environment.

And proceeding from this, if we consider the reality of eternal life as a structure that exists now - and many of the followers of my Teachings, I consider that they can already provide eternal life for themselves - the reality here is that if we can, at the level of the control structure, go into controllability not only of the external environment, but also in the controllability of the space created by us, the information space, such as the Internet, for example, where there are specific laws of development, co-development, then it turns out that man for the whole infinite future is absolutely protected from any problematic systems that could deteriorate his eternal development in some way. Well, for example, there appears some third system, which, for example, is similar to the Internet, but has the characteristics of direct access from consciousness - and here, setting out a quality principle of the control, built on the dialog mode, when the creator controls the created thing, we can be quite confident that in this case, time no longer matters for development.

That is, it is possible to develop eternally, and every next level of development will be practically identical to the fact that with the primary impulse of creating reality God already knew everything about the eternity of the development of any living organism. And the similarity after all is not only that, for example, a person has a form similar to the physical body of God, but that the living organism, the Living God, creates life everywhere. Any life is eternal. I consider the element of life as a structure of the development of eternity at a given moment or at some time period. In order to bring out life, the light of life of all living beings who have ever begun to live, existed, to develop increasingly into the area of construction of that collective consciousness where all are eternally alive, where that space and events are created where all living beings are eternally alive, it is important in this case to involve in this control special technical systems that make it possible to develop human consciousness, and each person separately, at first those who, for example, follow this technology of my Teachings, do control according to the ideas of eternal life, which may be in other copyright technologies, and which already exist, and there are a lot of them now in the world, and they, of course, support these author's technologies, exactly the light of the Teachings of eternal life, precisely the structure of eternal life.

And thus, uniting the actions into quite different levels, when we can together, everyone who follows the author's technologies, who personally develops into the area of eternal life, build that beautiful, so to speak, future which is already now effective in many ways for many who realize eternal life in their concrete actions, and here the use of the devices can be extremely necessary in those cases when a very powerful intensification of action in the collective consciousness is needed.

And as I said that, for example, the way of compensation from the action of machines in the future can be a machine, for example, this very three-mode PRK-1U, or there can be a system that is built on this principle. For example, the device for the development of concentrations, the three-mode PRK-1U is being implemented now in the field of modifications in the medical sphere - this is a separate device. And in this case, it is now being developed in the structure, which is now connected with the medical subject. But in the work of this modified specific device, in such a situation that when a person, for example, goes to a polyclinic, into some kind of medical structure, and he cannot concentrate, for example, the device should work independently. That is, to develop a structure that is analogous to the structure of consciousness and, thus to equalize in the collective consciousness, that is, to normalize the structure of the person.

That is, at some moments such devices are extremely necessary to strengthen the universal construction of that eternal life where every element of life that has ever begun will live, develop, and exist eternally. And even if the environment of life changes, for example:

life has been created, but the external environment has changed, - such structures are needed, which, at that time, will compensate for the absence of the environment, and the life that has begun has to continue developing in the natural level and exist eternally.

Therefore, it is clear that rather powerful equipment is also necessary for this direction that, working for some time, will make it possible due to the development on an increasingly large scale of, for example, the controlling clairvoyance, of the controlling forecasting in people, and it will enable us to understand more how this equipment works, and then human, due to his consciousness, will perform the same functions that, for example, such a technical system performed, and the technical system can be developed further accordingly. In this way, the development of the technical systems will take place in a special direction, that is, to a greater extent as systems that simultaneously develop the person himself, that is, human consciousness, his spirit, enabling the human soul to open up more and to act more broadly, more comprehensively and simultaneously into infinity. That is, this is the equipment that essentially develops all the structures of the personality.

And that is why, when we talk about, getting that forecast-oriented information for eternity that provides eternal life, it is necessary of course, to take into account various technical systems in the future that as I have told you now, in today's lecture, can, accordingly, work for the future not only as if by the functions of the current time, but also create eternal future for everyone to ensure eternal life of all. At the same time, this future should be provided with eternity in a systemic way, and this must be done now, starting from this moment. In this case, naturally, as everyone understands, the equipment that works round the clock always helps, but in this case, it just helps at the level of another principle of the development of equipment, the equipment, which develops humanity into eternity, and creates the systems of training human into eternity, and when human has already enabled himself to live eternally, and it will be helping him in the future.

And if, for example, you want to use the technologies of my Teachings, including the device for the development of concentrations of eternal life the three-mode PRK-1U, you can see various practical results at the grigori-grabovoi.world website, as well as the methods of use of this device, how this device is used and in what control systems.

And it is possible, I am always ready for cooperation, to develop jointly this direction, which helps and implements the eternal life of man and all people, and of equipment, as well as, of course, the Teachings technologies themselves in the form of teaching materials, because my training program in different languages is attached to this device for development of the concentrations of eternal life, the tree-mode PRK-1U. And the work with the device enables you to accelerate learning to ensure eternal life for all.

Naturally, having, therefore, precisely this kind of theoretical material, practical material, which is intensified by the work of the device, we can ensure eternal life for all, and this can be done fairly, well, relatively quickly.

This concludes my today's lecture. Thank you all for your attention. I wish everyone a harmonious eternal life.

The answers of Grigori Grabovoi to questions asked by the participants of the film forum “Myths and Reality”

Hello. I will now answer the questions asked by the participants of the cinema forum “Myths and Reality”.

The first question - More than two thousand years ago, Jesus already spoke about eternal life. We have the impression that the public consciousness is still far from this understanding of reality. What is your opinion?

Answer - In my opinion, the public consciousness has advanced in the understanding of this opinion, because the current civilization has a lot of means and methods for realizing eternal life from the point of view of technologies of control due to the development of Consciousness, Spirit, Soul; through the interaction of the body with the Consciousness and the Soul, and the Spirit; the systems of development of control over these processes, which are controllable by the human Consciousness, and at the same time the development of scientific and technical means which contribute precisely to the realization of eternal life.

And I think that in this connection, to a greater extent, it is a certain structure that should be increased in adapting to the process of eternal life, this structure can be more clearly identified in the form of precisely explanatory events among the population, among the training systems. In this, of course, there is still little information. For example, in textbooks of secondary schools, and, perhaps, they are only in some indirect versions. There is little information in the programs of higher educational institutions.

In this case, as soon as the educational resource is increased, the opinion of Christ about eternal life, about the necessity for its realization, of course, will be distributed everywhere and technologically secured.

And in this case, I can say one thing: the technologies to ensure eternal life, which are practically based on the maximum number of known structures substantiated by the scientific methods, and the methods of development of Consciousness, Soul, Spirit are being implemented under my trademarks GRABOVOI® and GRIGORI GRABOVOI®,

And in this regard, we can say that, for example, yes, if you consider my patents, such as “Method of prevention of catastrophes and device for its realization” and “Information Carrying System”, they show quite concretely that due to a biosignal, due to the radiation of thought, that is spelled out directly by these words in these patents, it is possible to interact with the external environment, in principle, as it follows logically, and it is clear from the texts of the patents, as well as from the references to scientific publications, for example, in the journal “Electronic equipment”, that the scientific part of the process is researched quite well, it is described by the methods of orthodox mathematics according to my theory of wave synthesis, and if also to consider the formula of general reality, which I implemented in my dissertation. Therefore, it turns out that after all the use of scientific tools that objectify many processes in the universe, they make it possible to demonstrate in a systemic way the possibility and necessity of realizing eternal life for all.

In this regard, so to say, as a summary, we can say that for the current time the civilization has developed enough to ensure eternal life for all. The task is precisely in the universal introduction of the most promising means of implementing for all a common, as if a general, concept of control in this particular direction of ensuring eternal life for all. Therefore, it is quite possible to say that there are enough means currently to ensure that the realization of namely eternal life for all within some quite short, so to say, time has been implemented. And it is desirable in this direction, I believe, to support the opinion of all those who believe that the provision of eternal life for all is the direction that is necessary for humanity, and in general for any living being.

The next question - The scriptures of all religions, indicate a certain critical mass, which must be achieved in order for the Earth to be elevated. You go further. You are talking about eternal life, and your program is aimed at the universal salvation of mankind. Universal salvation, eternal life, what difference do you mean in these two terms?

Answer - My Teachings have a direction of salvation, including from a possible global catastrophe, and a direction of eternal harmonious development. And in this regard, I put a certain technological sense into these two terms, because in order to ensure eternal life for all, it is necessary, at least, to save from a possible global catastrophe, it is necessary to provide local eternal life for every living being.

Therefore, it turns out that the task of salvation is exactly as the primary task, and it is realized in those cases, if indeed we are talking about the need to use such a construction as a rescue. After all, there may be just universal harmonious and eternal development, the realization of the harmony of eternal life for all, but in the case of applying the structure of salvation, I imply nonetheless exactly the technology of rescue as a tool to ensure eternal life, protection of eternal life in case of some critical states, situations and the like.

The next question - What does it mean to be eternal for a human being living on our Earth?

Answer - I can say that in the usual sense, and as it was originally laid from the Creator, from God, eternity is understood exactly as it is understood. That is, there must be the eternal Soul, there must be the eternal body, there must be the eternal Spirit, and eternal Consciousness. And if in general to say in one word it is including all the structures corresponding to the person, and in general all the structures corresponding to the living being.

The next question. Is there freedom to travel to other worlds for a man who has become eternal on Earth?

Answer - The fact is that the answer here is obvious: when a person becomes eternal, then, accordingly, he can study for an unlimited time in any direction. And to travel to any worlds becomes an executable task knowingly. And it is clear that, in a very large amount of time, it is possible to learn everything. And as I said in the previous answer to the previous question, that when all personality structures become eternal, then, accordingly, it is possible to develop eternally and to develop each structure.

It is possible to develop more the interaction between these structures or, for example, to develop them eternally as well, which will happen in practice: the interaction between the physical body and Consciousness, the interaction between the Spirit, Consciousness and the physical body, the interaction between the Soul and the physical body.

All these processes, with detailed study, with long-term scientific study, with the basis on the religious context of science, can show such extensive results in the control of both one's physical body and the structures of external space, that for the time being we are only talking about some aspects of such possibilities. And now it is clear at the level of ordinary logic, that since there is a dual principle of matter, that is, it can be considered as a particle and wave environment, and Consciousness is a wave, that is, through Consciousness, it is possible to affect the wave structure and thereby strengthen the physical matter or make it eternal.

And generally speaking, in connection with this, some technical systems may also help, for example, the implemented now device for development of concentration of eternal life PRK-1U, which has three modes. And there, depending on the mode, there is a development of Consciousness by interacting with the structure of matter, which makes it possible to create eternal body at the level of spiritual action, of the life-giving Spirit, so to say, practically due to the external control.

And with a certain skill, with a certain practice, and systemic work, this control may be eternal, it only increases in the experience, increases in effectiveness. Therefore, it turns out that we are able not just to create such structures there for traveling to other worlds, but at the same time it is possible to configure external worlds in a certain way, to create them. And to spread the control in this vector, so to speak, namely of eternal development of the whole world, eternal without any conditions.

The next question - You have made the universal salvation of mankind your main subject. Do you think that the number of followers of your Teachings is large enough to start this process, that is, to avoid a possible catastrophe of all alive on Earth?

Answer - Well, the matter is that the universal salvation of mankind is precisely in the realization of eternal life for all mankind requires compulsory action on the part of mankind, that is, every member of mankind, and in the perspective of every living being. And it turns out that, of course, the followers of the Teachings do a lot now and really they can prevent catastrophes and realize the provision of eternal life in their own tasks of control. But this task to obtain these skills, these practical abilities applies to everyone. And depending on the time, on the possibility to master any material, each person should participate in this process, then the provision of eternal life to everyone in some short time will be guaranteed.

And therefore, we can say that even when the entire population will be basically covered by this particular task — everyone will be able to realize eternal life for himself and all — the task of educating new born people will be, in principle, comparable to the fact that explanation again is required, and a special educational level is required for those who will be born. And they, of course, will be born in a more prepared social environment, but at the same time the educational program of such an organization of society, when everyone realizes eternal life, this program will be constantly maintained due to the constant birth and of more and more people and all living beings with each time interval.

The next question - Is the energy level of a resurrected person and a living person the same?

Answer - Yes, precisely from the point of view of energy there is no difference. From the point of view of the action generally, with the universal resurrection, the event of interrupting life becomes irrelevant for the resurrected, so here we have also to take into account that exactly after the factor of the universal resurrection it turns out that the level is practically comparable in all aspects: both of the living, and the resurrected.

The next question - Can an artificial intelligence combined with a biological system use the technologies of eternal life or to steal them?

Answer - The artificial intelligence must be controlled by humanity. In this regard by the way, such systems as PRK-1U make it possible to develop the thought to such extent as to control technical systems. And here, given that there are, for example, such areas as the development of intelligent machines, artificial intelligence, the fact that artificial intelligence can use some elements concerning the technologies of eternal life, in fact there may be a positive direction, associated with the fact that special technologies to ensure eternal life can be developed, which make it possible, on the contrary, to help people ensure eternal life.

And in my device for the development of concentration of eternal life the three-mode PRK-1U, the third mode is turned on due to the electromagnetic circuit, it is not turned on by a separate switch forcibly, that is, there are two switches and three modes. And there is a certain logic of control there that relates to the work of artificial intelligence, which is implemented in an accessible scheme.

And it makes it possible to realize exactly the direction of eternal life in infinity, the one that will help people live eternally. Because the implementation of the elements of artificial intelligence in an accessible scheme is a new perspective in mechanical engineering, where it is required to lay the maximum number of actions in the scheme containing the maximum number of elements.

And then we receive exactly the aspect of eternity for machines, machines become not dangerous, and this ideology is incorporated in the device PRK-1U. So, artificial intelligence can be controlled by various means: by mathematical — I am a programmer by education as well, since there was a programming course at the Faculty of Applied Mathematics and Mechanics of the University. And it is possible to lay the structure of control by software means, when machines will not be able to use somehow, precisely in a negative sense, to hamper humanity and all living things develop and live forever.

The next question – What is your message to those who listen to you and those who work together with you for the sake of raising the level of Consciousness and universal salvation?

Answer - Well, the fact is that I always have a call to ensure eternal life for all and it is necessary to work for this. I am grateful to those who are now implementing this direction in many ways. And at the same time I can say that by joint efforts, naturally, we will strive for and achieve the provision of eternal life to all in a shorter time. And I urge all participants in this process to appeal actively to those who are not yet involved in this process, or is involved little.

And to try in explanatory conversations, through education, by persuasion with a foundation on scientific facts, on statistics, on the personal practice, to direct such people to personal individual and joint work to ensure eternal life for all. This work - it is clear that it is noble, it is creative, it can not have any restrictions in any country of the world, since the law protects creation. And in this regard, we are quite able to realize jointly eternal life for all in a short time.

And one more question regarding immortality. The question is as follows. In immortality, in the theory of eternity, how will the concepts of matrimony and relationships in society develop?

Answer - I think: everything is the same. Eternal life is actually this level: man just lives eternally. And social and personal relations remain the same. And the task is to ensure eternal life for all with complete freedom of choice of any person, with the usual institution of the family, with ordinary social conditions of life.

The next question - Do you know people on the Earth who have reached the state of eternity that you preach? What distinguishes these people from others and how can they be recognized?

Answer - Here I can say that yes, there are such people who have reached the state of eternity, and many followers of my Teachings have achieved this state.

The difference is that the internal generation of the state of eternity occurs, which interacts with the outside world, and the world is reflected as an eternal structure; this is a special, so to speak, system of control.

And here, for those who implement my Teachings, here we can say that it is the level of the forecast control, application and development of methods of controlling clairvoyance, controlling action of the Soul, Spirit, and Consciousness when we can control the processes of the world, it contributes to the fact that this state of eternal life is realized in such a way that external factors fully correspond to this, then the person lives eternally. And at the same time, in order to be able to create the sustainability of this process, so that this process is stable for eternal time, it is clear that it is necessary to develop the ability to bring eternal life to all.

And when everyone has eternal life, in general, and all living beings, then it is clear that for everyone who has mastered the methodology and practice of eternal life, we have an absolutely stable picture of the world, which shows and proves that the world is eternal, everyone who has been born lives eternally.

It is clear that this concept includes the resurrection of all those who have left. And therefore, from the point of view of God, the Creator of the whole world, it is clear that by creating Himself eternal, He could define the world only as eternal. And those “technical”, so to say - well, in quotes - structures that have occurred and which should be just correlated, returning back to the law of eternal life, they can be easily overcome due to the Consciousness of humanity, and in a short time.

This concludes the answers to the questions. Once again, I thank all the participants of the cinema forum “Myths and Reality”. I wish you all harmonious eternal life.

Additional information on the topics of the seminars:

« The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God.

The creation of Eternity».

Seminar from 02.04.2004

«The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God. Control in the field of Eternity». Seminar from 06.04.2004

(Belgrade, seminars on 22 devices. The Italian group)

28 February 2020

Today I would like to add somethings to the topic of my seminar: My Teachings of God. Creation of Eternity.

On this topic, I would like to consider the principle of creating Eternity in those local processes that directly surround a person and other living beings, as well as the interaction of these processes with the internal structure of a person, with his body, to ensure eternal life for everyone.

Considering the air near a person, one can see certain similarity in the functioning of the Soul, Spirit and Consciousness.

I mean, well, in the principles, in the general principles of the creation of Eternity, one can find similarities. Well, of course, to consider through Consciousness the action of the Spirit in a remote part of the space of perception, where the action of the Soul was in the previous period of time, and also exists in the future period of time, then, for the perception, at the level of thinking, this action is similar to the movement of air.

And when we talk about the creation of Eternity, for example, for the Soul, Spirit and Consciousness - this is, as it were, to a certain extent, the internal process of a person, and to transfer this process to the external environment, when the external environment provides eternal life, it is possible by focusing on your physical body.

That is, you can create Eternity by means of, various combinations in the actions of the Soul, Spirit and Consciousness - through various actions or combinations of combinations of these actions, as it were, of the Soul, Spirit and Consciousness, that is, in your perception, and then this structure of Eternity on level of the same type of perception of the action of Spirit and air to transfer to the external environment.

Technologically, it is necessary to imagine, therefore, the space of perception in which the work will be carried out, select in this space the sphere of action of the Soul, Spirit and Consciousness. In this case, for example, there can be three spheres of action, that is, one sphere of the Soul, the second - of the Spirit, the third - of Consciousness. And in order to create Eternity with the help of these areas of control, it is necessary to combine actions of controlling clairvoyance and controlling forecasting.

That is, when we talk about controlling clairvoyance, we primarily mean actions in, for example, the current or past time. And although controlling clairvoyance may affect some future sections of time, nevertheless there are separate special bases for controlling forecasting. Therefore, when we combine these two controls in one sphere, we go over to the structure of lack of time, that is, control over time is carried out within the sphere of Consciousness. That is, in fact, we now have 4 spheres in this control structure, where the fourth sphere is the combined control structure through control clairvoyance and control forecasting at the same time.

And the transition of these three control structures, namely the control of the Soul, Spirit and Consciousness, is carried out through this fourth sphere into the external reality, into physical reality. And in this way it is possible to have distinct elements of Eternity in the structure of the external environment, for example, air.

That is, on one hand, it looks like the normal air, but if you look closely with the control of clairvoyance, you can see these structures of Eternity that are in static or in small dynamics. And in this way, you can have absolutely clean air, not contaminated with some external adverse components, that is, you just need to select these three areas of control - Soul, Spirit, Consciousness - and transfer them through the sphere of controlling clairvoyance and forecasting into the external environment. And at the same time, as can be seen in this technology, we do not consider, in fact, the very creation of Eternity with the help of three components, for example, Soul, Spirit and Consciousness, but we believe that ...

It is clear that Eternity can be created with these components, this already follows from one simple fact that Soul is eternal, and the contact of Soul with Spirit is also an eternal action.

And, in fact, statics of Consciousness of any person is also eternal, that is, what connects Spirit and action of Soul, therefore precisely this element of Consciousness is eternal.

And the eternity of Spirit lies in the infinity of its every moment action.

Well, that is, if you look more closely at these three control systems, then, each of them, in fact, has elements of Eternity: if Soul is initially, as a whole complexly eternal, then the other two parameters, they are eternal in dynamics.

And thus, having singled out ... having learned to control on an external environment close to the physical body, for example, air - well, from the point of view of giving this environment (air), such qualities that are necessary to ensure eternal life, to ensure absence of diseases - you can see that the same method can be used to control not only on air, but also on any other environment: eg. liquid, some kind of solid elements - in any system of reality, external to the physical body.

But if, for example, you are considering a solid body, suppose from the surrounding world, then you just need to add sphere of Consciousness into the sphere that contains controlling clairvoyance and controlling forecasting. Then, if you are located somewhere near some kind of solid object, you enter it into the norm of ensuring eternal life.

This technology also can be used, for normalisation of the external environment, if for example, this environment consists some infectious, virological, or bacteriological components.

In this case, control can be used, for example, highlighting the sphere of controlling clairvoyance, controlling forecasting, and, for example, Consciousness, precisely for solid objects of the external environment.

Therefore, you can see that if, from your physical body you draw a ray of Consciousness between these spheres, then you can normalize the physical environment not only near your physical body, for example, with a radius up to 20 meters, but generally a very large distances, for example, capture from 1000 meters or more.

And at the same time, when you work, for example, with the rays of Consciousness from your physical body, these control waves themselves, basically work somewhere in the following version, for example: up to 20 meters, up to 1000 meters, then above 1000 meters.

A ray that is coming from a physical body or two rays are considered.

And they begin to separate sphere of control clairvoyance and control forecasting, to separate from each other, or - sphere of Consciousness and control forecasting. And so, when the ray passes between these spheres, the normalization of the external environment takes place. The following control periods should be considered: first impulse - up to 20 meters; the second is an amplified impulse with an effort of the will up to 1000 meters. And if you intensify the control or, say, use the PRK-1U device, simply increase personal concentration, then it is possible to capture over 1000 meters in space.

And, for example, if we are talking about some well-known elements, meaning if we need to protect ourselves from, for example, CORONAVIRUS found in China, here we can simply distinguish them locally by name and, as well, separate these three spheres, direct the rays to this element, so it does not exist where you are located, and in principle, in this way, it is possible to help at any distance.

Translator: Can these rays pass between all spheres, not only between the third and fourth?

G.P. Grabovoi: Between the sphere of control clairvoyance and control forecasting and between the sphere of control forecasting and Consciousness. For example, two rays coming from the physical body and in principle, with these 2 rays it is possible to be protected, for example, from the CORONAVIRUS.

Translator: However where is the ray going to: simply into the space?

G.P. Grabovoi: Yes, if simply into the space, then, yes, in a complex way, as if in a radius of 20, 1000 and above meters there is normalization. If you direct specifically, for example, to CORONAVIRUS, which was found in China, yes, then it will work as a protection, there will be a neutralization of the CORONAVIRUS then.

Translator: And how to specifically target the coronavirus?

G.P. Grabovoi: And for this it is necessary, within a radius of, for example, 20 meters, to highlight the information of the virus and direct these rays directly at it and that's all. That is, thus ensuring a certain safety pole, as it were, in motion, in the development of future events, it must be kept in mind that the norm should be generally universal.

Translator: what does “generally universal” mean? Meaning, everyone does for himself and therefore for all?

G.P. Grabovoi: Including necessarily not only the external environment, but also everything that is inside the body, the body itself. That is, in accordance with the technology of precisely ensuring eternal life, the body at every next moment in time, it must be healthy.

Therefore, with such creation of Eternity in the external environment, it is imperative to simultaneously conduct concentration to ensure Eternity inside the body, the organism itself.

And for such method of control, which I am now giving, it's enough to concentrate - when conducting a control on the the external environment - it's enough to simply concentrate on the levels of the lungs and the neck. The pulmonary respiratory system and neck, precisely the neck, so to speak, whole as a material structure.

And you can pay attention: here is unfolding a very ... new principle, which I did not give out before in control. It is precisely in the subject “Creation of Eternity”, when Eternity is created in any element of external reality, it is enough to concentrate on two or there elements inside the body - on organs or systems, and at this moment, the assurance of Eternity to the body itself, to the physical body.

And now I would like to add even more information to the topic of the seminar - My Doctrine about God - “Control in the field of Eternity”.

Here, simply from the point of view of dynamic control, I just would like to add an element connecting the spheres I have already designated - four spheres of control.

What the control consist of? Which means that these four elements, four spheres, that is ... and the combined sphere of controlling clairvoyance and controlling forecasting, can be used from the point of view of the control over the time and space.

The first element is about stretching the time in the past, to insure that there is more time in the past, to normalize the events. Well, for example, there was some kind of event in the past that needs to be improved or normalized, it takes time. For this event of the past, which needs to be improved, it seems to stretch out in time, and then in the current time you have more time to correct these events of the past. Because in this control, if we normalize the event in the past, that is, that means, then there will be no damage from it in the current time, and, accordingly, there will be no damage in the future time.

Here, in order to stretch time in the past, it is necessary to place the sphere of Consciousness behind the sphere of Soul, that is, in the negative axis, as it were to the left of the control axis. And since control takes place precisely in the field of Eternity, it is possible to distinguish from the generalized sphere of control clairvoyance and control forecasting precisely the action of control clairvoyance.

That is, it is necessary to highlight, since control takes place in the field of Eternity, then from the combined sphere of control clairvoyance and control forecasting, it is necessary to distinguish the action of control clairvoyance and just make the time in the past more rarefied, more extended, directing this action between the spheres of Consciousness and the Soul.

And the next control in the field of Eternity is the sphere of the Soul located in the infinite future, in the region of the infinite future, and the rays that go through this sphere, they increase through the sphere of Consciousness and fall on the physical body, thereby making the physical body eternal.

In principle, today I wanted to add the additional information on these two topics, so for today I added what I wanted.

Thank you very much for your attention and all the best, I wish you all harmonious Eternal life. Good Bye..

Methods of protection against infection with the 2019-nCoV coronavirus, methods of neutralizing the coronavirus in case of infection, and methods of curing the disease.

Speech by G.P. Grabovoi at the web conference on coronavirus
Italy

March 19, 2020

Greet the meeting participants on my behalf. Now I want to offer to master the technologies of protection and cure against coronavirus detected in China 2019-nCoV. And in accordance with my Teaching about God, I propose now to master, using one's own Consciousness, the methods of protection against this type of coronavirus infection, then the methods of neutralizing the coronavirus in case of infection, and the methods of curing diseases that can be caused by this coronavirus.

As the methods of protection against infection with coronavirus, you can use your Consciousness on the aspect that God created Consciousness that interacts actively with both external reality and, in fact, with the physical tissue of the organism.

Therefore, the first method in this case is to separate the structure of the external physical reality, where the coronavirus is present, from the structure, where Consciousness is directly connected to the physical body of human. And in this case, the technical action is the concentration of Consciousness, first on the right knee joint, then on the left knee joint. And then it is necessary to distribute Consciousness so that, as if from the knee joints, to look at your brain and clearly perceive your brain. And then, during breathing, try to perceive that breathing is involved in the saturation of the brain with oxygen. And in this method, with your physical breathing, you constantly turn off the structure of external reality, where the coronavirus is located. And this method can also be used to disinfect some external environmental objects from coronavirus. To do this, it is necessary to send two intersecting rays from the knees to the side of these objects.

The second method is that you need to use the brain function of your own brain, of the physical matter of the brain, for protection against coronavirus infection. Well, and, in principle, from any other type of virus. In this case, it is necessary to consider how information is transferred at the level of electromagnetic waves from one part of the brain to another.

Well, since the brain, in terms of the creation of human by God, has contact with all external reality, infinite contact. And moreover, this point is basically located, as it were, in the geometric center of the brain of this area. It is necessary to perceive by the effort of Consciousness or as if to look at your brain from above. And it is necessary to place, by an effort of will, the wave that goes from one point to another, from one area of the brain to another area, approximately to the geometric center of the brain. Well, in some cases it can be useful to bring it closer to the area of the pituitary gland of the brain. And to trace how this wave is rising infinitely high up in the level of contact of the brain with all external reality. And, on this infinitely remote area, as on a poster, on a kind of a flat projection, it is just necessary, by an effort of will, to single out the coronavirus information and delete it. So, if, for example, the first method has the property and, when working with it, has quite a long activity in the control, for example, a day, two and three, it is advisable to use the second method more often. Well, that is, the method where the biological activity of the brain with the interaction of Consciousness are used.

Further, the third method is the method of neutralizing the coronavirus in the case if the coronavirus infection has already occurred. Here, in the third method, it is necessary to use, in principle, a fairly general technology that applies for infection with any kind of virus in general. It is necessary to try to introduce the Light of your Consciousness at a very high speed, as if to bring it sharply into your body... and moreover between cells. And those places where, for example, the foci of infection exist can periodically manifest as a certain glow, usually of a yellowish tint. Specifically, when it comes to the 2019-nCoV coronavirus there are also pinkish shades in the intercellular space. And it is necessary, by an effort of will, to separate this glow, which causes namely light, the optical coronavirus sections, from the cells, bring them into the space near the physical body so that this space does not come into contact with human skin.

At the same time, as is clear, this control, in all methods, can be done both with yourself and to help other people as well. And in this space that is near you, it is necessary to select the information of this particular coronavirus so that it is on the inner surface of this space, for example, similar to a parallelepiped. And it is necessary by the effort of Consciousness to increase the pressure in this space so that the functions of the coronavirus are stopped, neutralized. For example, at pressures above 11 atmospheres, the functions of viruses are mostly stopped. Especially if this pressure is introduced specifically into the genetic structure of the virus. Further, staying by a local section of Consciousness inside this form that is similar to a parallelepiped, it is necessary to see, as it were, the close to the logical, kind of such a reasonable component of the action of the particular coronavirus that is located there and was isolated from the body.

That is, to try to understand what exactly is the program of this specific and material coronavirus regarding you, how it affects specifically your events, your structure of your body. Well, that is, what exactly does it want to influence on, since you have some plans, some future events, you should try here to see the branches of its influence on the structure of future events. Well, since this technology, in principle, applies to any, in general, system of viruses, to any type of virus, you can use information from the collective consciousness on the experience of overcoming a virological lesion where other people have overcome, even with other types of viruses. At the same time, it is necessary also to understand here that this form, similar to a parallelepiped, is always somewhere in front of you, but does not come in contact with your physical skin in terms of control.

When you will try to understand the logic of the action, the program logic of the virus, here begins ... an impulse of abrupt leave of this information from the diagnostic structure will begin. You should try to highlight some areas in the space that were as if in front of the trajectory of the future movement of the virus, and try to introduce a fraction of your Consciousness into these areas. Well, so that the virus, as it were, could not downplay the possibilities of diagnosing its action. And fix its dynamics at a distance from the body.

In this case I have now told about those viruses that, after you increased the pressure inside this parallelepiped-like shape, the majority of viruses is neutralized, but some can still move, and I described the second additional method in relation to them, that is, of stabilization and neutralization. And this means that the virus neutralized inside this kind of parallelepiped starts to fall away from the walls and tend to the center of this parallelepiped, decreasing in size all the time, these areas of it are combined.

And here you should try to understand how God the Creator of the whole world created the world in such a way that, if, for example, the question would arise in relation to God: how should He neutralize some negative matter or information that is somewhere near Him, that is where He would put this matter, this information? Well, the most logical and, in general, from the point of view of a spiritually simple action, it would be to make this neutralized from the negative ... kind of neutralized, such a piece of information that is no longer dangerous, to make it just the beginning of some other action.

And here you can just by an effort of will make it so that the data that were about the virus starting to concentrate, are shrinking while moving to the center, so that there isn't just a virus in the center of this parallelepiped, so that it as if scattered on the way to the center. And thus, it turns out that you get a level of space cleaned of the virus in front of you. And since it is removed from the organism, it is no longer dangerous for you, that is, the body is cleared of the virus. Quite often, the organism can be cleaned very quickly, literally in one control, to clean from the virus.

And further, I want to offer the fourth method for training, when it is necessary to normalize the body if there are diseases that can be caused by this virus. This method, in principle, as a whole consists in the fact that you should just perceive the norm of your entire physical body. And in this case, even then you can get rid of some local consequences that can be left inside the physical body. To do this, it is necessary to consider the distant effect of the virus, and to pay attention to the fact that there is no factor of infinity of action in the information of the virus, which is important. By the way, in this way the virus, at the level of such instinctive reactions is quickly recognized.

Next, the area where the infinite phase, in general, is missing in development, should be considered in terms of how it touches, for example, your physical body, if it touches, or generally speaking, how it spreads. And here we should understand that not every virus infection causes any consequences in human tissue. And in that part where a contact with the tissue is possible, it is necessary to replace the information where there is no interaction factor with the infinity of the virus, replace it with an infinite fraction.

Due to the fact that the virus has significant external dynamics, it is necessary to apply some kind of specific action, that is approaching this area where it is necessary to make the replacement, and then make a quick replacement. And you can, for example, use symbols such as bringing Consciousness in the form of a symbol of the number “8” to this point, and then very quickly turning to the right side place the figure eight in a horizontal position, that is, make the infinity symbol. And here it will be just ... well, I want to finish here the presentation of the methods.

Thank you very much for your attention and active participation, as I see, in cognition, in obtaining methods of using Consciousness. Try to apply as actively as possible to yourself, to others, you can transfer these methods, they are quite simple for any person.

And I would like to add that, some time ago, in April 2002 I gave a forecast for the virological danger in Eurasia. I would just like to report just one component concerning what was written there, it was about the second wave that might be more dangerous virologically. Therefore, it is necessary to apply these very methods that I have just reported, and to apply the other ones from my Teachings, so that, firstly, not to allow, the coronavirus to mutate, not to give the opportunity to return, in principle, back in the form of the second wave.

Well, I would like to say that now I, working in partnership with my foundation, the company GRIGORI GRABOVOI DOO, we are now engaged in the creation of technologies based on the operation of devices and some medicines. The action of devices and medicines can be studied due to Consciousness, then, by concentration of Consciousness, the same can be done. It is possible not just to do the same, if you are in the initial period of studying this mechanism, it is still possible to strengthen the action of instrument systems, and medicines. And then the learning of the process will be faster, as it happens in the organism, in order to strengthen again the action just of Consciousness.

Therefore, I invite everyone to take part as actively as possible temporarily in the areas the fund is engaged in, the company GRIGORI GRABOVOI DOO and similar companies which, in general, are now engaged in the fight against coronavirus, or generally with any type of virus, any bacterial systems which are dangerous to the organism. Since the realization exactly of eternal life for everyone, to ensure that there are no diseases and so that there is eternal harmonious development, both personal and by mutual assistance of each one in complex processes.

Well, this is where I finish my part. Thank you very much again for your attention, for participating in the overall process. I wish you all harmonious eternal life. And as for the questions - most likely, this is necessary if there are any questions ... If only I will answer some three or four short questions.

Translator: Given that the systematic work of the groups has already begun and will continue in the same rhythm: twice a day, and the groups are quite large, following the technology. At what approximately timelines it will be possible to notice that a downward trend will already have begun? For Italy.

G.P. Grabovoi: The fact is that it is necessary to take into account here the already established practice, such as in China - It is already curtailed there. Therefore, I believe that with active work it is necessary to set control to achieve a significant result every two weeks, firstly. That is, to set control not “when”, but to set in such a way as “two weeks”, and it is necessary to achieve result during these two weeks. And then the main activity, I believe, should be curtailed for a month. Well, this applies to Italy, that a qualitative change should happen, that is, a decline in infection. In other countries of the world, I believe, there may even be a faster decline in infection. I believe that it is also necessary to work in other countries of the world carrying out the control.

Translator: Why is it faster there?

G.P. Grabovoi: Well, because, firstly, there are fewer infected people. Well, that is, this is the task in the control, which, in general, is superimposed on the forecast phase, and in addition, it is still necessary to do the following.

Translator: And it is still necessary to do the following?

G.P. Grabovoi: Yes. First and foremost, the first control vector should be directed to ensure that there are no severe consequences for the organism from the virus. And, with the second vector, it is possible to introduce precisely the decrease in the spreadability. Such a coordination for the control.

You can ask another question, one or two more.

Translator: To interpret correctly the current situation on such a global scale as the conditions under which humanity is called upon and able to show maximum mobilization for the breakthrough in the spiritual development of Consciousness, do good changes await us as a result of all this? That is, will the living conditions change, even, perhaps, radically? Well, that's kind of a prophecy there. They are talking about completely new conditions for the development of civilization.

G. P. Grabovoi: Well, in this case, I think, first of all, each person should think about himself and about the whole society at the same time in this situation. Of course, it is not very desirable having problems and overcoming them, generally speaking. The best way is when there is simply harmonious normal development without any stressful, problematic, and especially those situations that threaten health and life. This is the main task. Well, that is, I think, is the main task of control, which must be followed constantly, that is, it is necessary that the norm always exists.

But since we have already encountered in practice, let's say, such a situation, we naturally have to develop sometimes some radical measures, radical actions from the point of view of internal or external actions. This is the situation that needs to be dealt with and most quickly, by the most active methods. And somehow, well, actually, adding some other context to this situation may not even be necessary. The main thing is that just quickly and efficiently everything returns to norm.

Although, of course, there is such a general global meaning in that, to overcome, it is necessary to use those levers that would, for example, be most effective, they can really be very special in this situation. Well, in principle, in that very forecast, in April 2002, I recommended how, what the agreements between the states should be in order to counteract possible global viruses, infections. Therefore, it is often easier just to carry out the recommended predictive-driven the phase, the information and prevent any problems. But since we've already encountered it, then we will have to solve it this way, since the task of my Teachings is that in any case, people should survive and live eternally.

I think that this is where I finish the answers to the questions. Once again, thank you all for your attention. I wish you harmonious, eternal life, more success. All the best to all. Good bye. Thank you.

СОДЕРЖАНИЕ

The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God.	3
Instrumentation of eternal life. Methods of use of the device	3
of development of concentrations of Grigori Grabovoi PRK-1U.	3
The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God. The method of simultaneous control of events and usage of technical devices.	10
The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God. Interaction of Consciousness and Devices of Development of Concentrations to Ensure Eternal Life.	36
The Teaching of Grigori Grabovoi about God. Ensuring eternal life by spiritual development in two vectors.	89
The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God. Application of the optical reflections inside lenses for realization of	94
the controlling clairvoyance of eternal life	94
The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God. Method of using the device for the development of the concentration of eternal life PRK-1U using three lenses simultaneously	96
The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God. Method of using the device for the development of the concentration of eternal life PRK-1U through the use of remote areas of Consciousness	97
The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God. Method of using the device for the development of the concentrations of eternal life PRK-1U by combining the interaction of the Spirit and Consciousness	100
The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God. Method of using the device for the development of the concentration of eternal life PRK-1U by impulses on the matter of the Soul through the action of the Spirit	103
Grigori Grabovoi's report at the Fourth World Conference in the Dominican Republic on the Issue of Peace and Light Implementation of educational and instrumental technologies

for ensuring eternal life for all through the Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi	114
Grigori Grabovoi's lecture for the "Myths and Reality" association forum. The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God. Getting forecast-oriented to eternal life information for the creation of technologies of eternal life	127
The answers of Grigori Grabovoi to questions asked by the participants of the film forum “Myths and Reality”	140
Additional information on the topics of the seminars: « The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God. The creation of Eternity». Seminar from 02.04.2004 «The Teachings of Grigori Grabovoi about God. Control in the field of Eternity». Seminar from 06.04.2004	148
Methods of protection against infection with the 2019-nCoV coronavirus, methods of neutralizing the coronavirus in case of infection, and methods of curing the disease.	153

Grigorii Grabovoi
PR KONSALTING TECHNOLOGIES OF ETERNAL DEVELOPMENT

<https://pr.grigori-grabovoi.world/>